

View Reversed On Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON, May 18 (AP)

The House Foreign Affairs Committee reversed itself today and voted down a proposal that might have blocked United States aid to many foreign nations.

But the committee came "very close" to slashing about a billion dollars out of President Eisenhower's $4.9 billion aid bill. Then it decided to put off a final decision until next Tuesday.

Chairman James A. Richards (D-S.C.) announced the committee actions after the fourth straight day of closed sessions on Eisenhower's foreign aid request for the fiscal year starting next July 1.

Favors Administration

Temporarily, at least, today's decisions favored the administration. It had been expected to fight vigorously a proposal sponsored by Rep. Edna F. Kelly (D-N.Y.) and adopted by the committee late yesterday.

The Kelly proposal was to bar U.S. aid to any country shipping strategic goods to the Communist bloc which the United States itself does not allow to be exported to the Reds. Many countries, including Great Britain, have been more lenient than the United States in allowing shipments to the Iron Curtain.

Richards said the committee reversed yesterday's decision and voted to knock the Kelly amendment out of the bill.

Vote Count Kept Secret

He did not disclose the vote count. He indicated the committee's general idea was not to put such a sweeping restriction on the foreign aid program until a special commission to be appointed by Eisenhower has had a chance to make a basic restudy of the whole program.

Players Set Productions Schedule

The Penn State Players' program schedule has been announced by Robert D. Reifsnnyder, associate professor of theatre arts.

"Ruddigore," a satire on 19th century melodrama by Gilbert and Sullivan, will be the opening production in Schwab Auditorium. It will be the second combined production of the theatre arts and the music departments and will be directed by Walter H. Walters, assistant professor of theatre arts and Raymond H. Brown, assistant professor of music.

My Three Angels

The first production at Center Stage will be "My Three Angels" to be directed by Kelly Yeaton, associate professor of theatre arts.

Other plays on the program include "Idiots Delight," by Robert Sherwood to be directed by Warren S. Smith, associate professor of theatre arts; and "Tea House of the August Moon" by John Patrick, to be directed by Reifsnnyder. Both these productions will be presented in Schwab Auditorium.

George Bernard Shaw's "Heart-break House" and William Saroyan's "Jim Dandy" will also be presented at Center Stage.

An unusual feature of next year's Players' program will be a new production sponsored by the New Dramatists' Committee of New York. During rehearsal for this play, the author will live on campus and several important theatre people from New York will attend the performances. The committee is sponsored by such people as Oscar Hammerstein II, Howard Lindsay and Russell Crouse.

Hubzapoppin' Ends Tonight

The semester's last Hubzapoppin' show will be held from 7:30 to 8 tonight in the Hetzel Union Building assembly hall.

Rod Perry will be the featured vocalist. Music will be provided by the Jerry Miller Quartet, with Jerry Miller, piano; William McGovern, drums; Robert Waterstradt, bass; and Frank Teksea, saxophone.

Three counselors and three students will participate in the weekly Campus Quiz which will be conducted by Richard Christian, master of ceremonies.

The show, broadcast and sponsored by WDFM, campus radio station, is written and directed by Robert Zimmerman.

Doyle Elected President Of Men's Hat Society

Richard Doyle, sophomore in business administration from Pennel, has been elected president of Androcles, junior men's hat society.

Scott Olmes, sophomore in journalism from Clearfield, has been named vice president; and Robert Nurock, sophomore in arts and letters from Elkins Park, secretary-treasurer.

Anyone for Sunshine?

TYPICAL PENN STATE weather at work again. Last Saturday students flocked to Whipple's Dam to bask in the summer-like sun. However, sudden drop of the mercury has put all thoughts of this sort into the background lately.

PhysEd Group May Consider Honesty Code

A program of academic honesty has been suggested by members of the Physical Education and Athletics Student Council as a means of improving the College of Physical Education and Athletics.

Other suggestions were, increased promotion of the physical-education-recreation-education clubs and a schedule of workshops demonstrating new physical education equipment.

John D. Lawther, assistant dean in charge of resident instruction, has suggested that Elmer A. Gross, associate professor of physical education, or some other faculty member not associated with the council, be named adviser of Discobolis, the College student publication.

The council also discussed an orientation week coffee hour which will be held to acquaint freshmen in the College with their college and the faculty. It was suggested that the coffee hour be held on the roof of Recreation Hall.

The Physical Education Council has named Fred M. Coombs, professor of physical education, as one of the two new Council advisers. The other advisers will be chosen as soon as possible.

Meteorite Talk Planned

"Meteorites—Direct Samples from Outer Space," will be discussed by William Cassidy, graduate student in mineral industries from Roselle Park, N.J., at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in 205 Osmond.

NEVER MADE IT. Meredith Miller, Kappa Kappa Gamma, is about to be tagged out by Mary Cabeen, Delta Delta Delta. Calling the play is umpire Sally Jervis. Kappa won 12-2.

Jazz Concert—

applause Bud Freeman with the saxophone played "You Took Advantage of Me."

In "St. James Infirmary Blues" McPartland provided the vocal followed by Kiffe starting off on the drums playing "That Plenty," another traditional Dixieland piece.

Audience Sings Along

The audience clapped and sang along with McPartland when he rounded out the program with the traditional Dixieland favorite, "When the Saints Go Marchin' In."

The concert was sponsored by the Jazz Club which expects to bring Gene Krupa and Louis Armstrong to campus next year. It will be Armstrong's second show here.

Locker-Room Construction Plans OK'd

The University Board of Trustees has approved plans for a new locker-room to be built behind Nittany Dormitories where the soccer and lacrosse teams will practice next fall, Ernest B. McCoy, dean of the College of Physical Education and Athletics, said yesterday.

In addition to the locker-room, McCoy said the University will also construct eight tennis courts on the southeast corner of the golf course during the summer. McCoy said the contract for the locker-room building was due to be let any day, if it hadn't been done so already.

A University official refused to say yesterday whether the contract had been let.

The locker-room will be a permanent structure, McCoy said, and will be built so that it can be expanded in the future if the need arises.

It will house showers, toilets, a training room, and equipment rooms, he said.

Work on the tennis courts will be started at the end of the semester, McCoy added. The courts will be macadam based, similar to the ones beside Beaver Field.
