

120 Asked to Attend Annual Encampment June 9

Ninety students and 30 faculty, administration, and town leaders have been invited to attend the fifth annual Encampment Sept. 5 to 8 at the Mont Alto School of Forestry, Encampment chairman Donald Reidenbaugh announced last night.

Of the 90 students selected, 70 were chosen by virtue of positions they hold in various campus activities and 20 were picked through interviews with members of the encampment committee.

122 Visitors Investigate TV Project

Some 122 educators and engineers were attracted to the University this year to study the closed circuit television project.

Most of the visitors represented colleges and universities which are planning a similar project, or others who are familiar with televised classes and are interested in seeing what progress the University has made.

In addition to the United States, individuals and delegations came from Iran, Puerto Rico, Formosa and India. Others represented American newspapers and magazines, and television and radio stations.

The project, which has completed one and one-half years of research, is financed by the Ford Foundation's Fund for the Advancement of Education.

Consultants for the Fund have termed the University's TV experiment a "pioneer" and have made the prediction that "the University will be ahead of all other schools if TV develops into an educational use."

During the year, nine of the Fund's consultants visited the University to investigate the work being done.

After studying the manner of presentation, control work, student-professor attitude, and future plans, they said that they were delighted with the comprehensive and extensive work being done.

This semester 36 hours of classes were televised. These included courses in chemistry, engineering, music, sociology, psychology, commerce, political science and air science.

Registration Dates Set for Summer

Registration for the summer inter-session will be held on the morning of June 11; main session, July 2; and post-session, the morning of August 13.

Inter-session will begin June 11 and last until June 29. Main session will be held July 3 until August 10 and post-session from August 13 until August 31.

Registration will be held in Recreation Hall on the days specified. Those who have not pre-registered may do so at that time.

WDFM Will Broadcast Band Concert Sunday

Campus radio station WDFM will broadcast the Blue Band concert, which will be held at 3 p.m. Sunday on the steps of Pattee Library.

The program will be handled by the special events department of WDFM, headed by Warren Carmichael. It will be the last in this year's series of special events.

BX to Receive Books

The Book Exchange will be receiving books from noon to 5 p.m. Monday to Saturday at the store in the Hetzel Union basement, instead of the regular hours.

The regular operations of the BX will continue at the same time.

Time is drawing near for approximately 2200 students who will receive degrees at the June 9th Commencement exercises.

President Milton S. Eisenhower will confer the degrees at 10:30 a.m. in Beaver Field, weather permitting.

John Jay Hopkins, chairman of the board and president of the General Dynamics Corporation will deliver the main address.

In case of inclement weather, the ceremonies will be divided in two sections at Recreation Hall, one at 10:30 a.m. for students in the Colleges of Agriculture, Chemistry and Physics, Engineering and Architecture, and Mineral Industries, and the other at 2 p.m. for students in the Colleges of Business Administration, Education, Home Economics, Liberal Arts, and Physical Education.

Memorial Day Service Planned

Memorial Day will be observed at the University with a brief ceremony conducted by student groups Wednesday morning.

All offices will be closed and no final examinations are scheduled for the holiday.

A detail from Pershing Rifles, which will be commanded by Charles Mertz, sophomore in mechanical engineering, will participate in the program.

At 10:15 a.m. a wreath will be placed at the plaque in Old Main where University graduates and students who died in World War I are listed.

Wreaths will also be placed at the grave of Dr. George W. Atherton, seventh president of the University, north of Schwab auditorium; at the plaque in Recreation hall which honors J. D. Bebout and L. L. Lamb, University athletes killed in World War I; and at a plaque in the Forestry building which honors students in forestry who died in World War II.

Flags on campus, to be flown at half-mast in the morning, will be raised to full-mast at 11:50 a.m.

Mrs. C. E. Govier, of Lemont, daughter of President Atherton, will participate in the program.

Collegian Business Staff Promotes 25 To Higher Boards

The Daily Collegian business staff has promoted 25 candidates to intermediate boards.

Those promoted on the circulation staff were: Alan Arossman, Trosby Brandt, Mary Griesmer, Josephine Hough, Carol Klamt, Miriam Latshaw, Virginia Lewis, James Meister, Linda Paynter, Phyllis Stein, and Myrna Stern. Promoted to classified staff were: Frances Crone, Mary Herbein, Marguerite Neilson, and Nancy Trout.

Promoted to business staff were: Noel Decalcalante, Franklin Gilmore, Nancy Jendricks, Morris Movsovich, George Shambough, and Theodore Wexler.

Promoted to promotion staff were: Arnold Harris, William Hibler, Nancy Hollingshead, and Patricia Miernicki.

Individual Presentation
The commencement exercises will mark the first time in about 25 years that diplomas will be given out individually at a June graduation.

The University experimented with the individual diploma presentation in January and the results were successful, Wilmer E. Kenworthy, director of student affairs, said. The dean of the student's college will make the presentations.

Commencement exercises will get underway with the traditional Baccalaureate Service at 10:55 a.m. Sunday in Schwab Auditorium.

Dr. Eisenhower will speak to the group on "The Lord Looketh in the Heart," at the service presided over by the Rev. Dr. Luther H. Harshbarger, University chaplain.

Class Day exercises during which the valedictorian and salutarian will present their addresses and senior honors will be awarded will be held 7:30 p.m. June 8, in Schwab auditorium. The Ralph Dorn Hetzel and Paul Smith Trophy Memorial Awards will also be made at class night ceremonies.

Guests Allowed
Graduating students will be allowed an unlimited number of guests and no tickets will be necessary if ceremonies are held in Beaver Field. Each student will be limited to three tickets if ceremonies are held indoors because of limited seating capacity, Kenworthy said.

Students will be informed by radio at 8 a.m. Commencement Day if the exercises will be held at Beaver Field or in Rec Hall. Graduates will assemble at 9:45 a.m. on graduation day for the academic procession that will begin at 10. The only recessional at the close of the ceremony will be for Dr. Eisenhower's party and faculty members.

Students receiving advanced degrees will graduate with the college in which they completed their work, Kenworthy said. Each student will receive three (Continued on page eight)

Dining Halls Set Hours For Finals

Opening and closing hours for the final examination period have been announced by University services.

Waring and Nittany dining halls will serve breakfast from 7 to 8:15 a.m.; lunch from 11:30 a.m. to 12:45 p.m.; and dinner from 5 to 6:15 p.m., according to Miss Mildred A. Baker, director of food service.

Breakfast Hours Given
In Atherton, McElwain, Simmons, and MacAllister dormitories, breakfast will be served from 7:20 to 7:50 a.m.; lunch from 12:15 to 12:45 p.m.; and dinner at 5:40 p.m. during examinations.

Graduating seniors will eat at McElwain beginning with dinner June 6 and ending with lunch June 9, according to Miss Baker.

Pattee Library will follow regular hours until June 5. During finals the library will be open from 7:50 a.m. to 10 p.m. weekdays, from 7:50 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday, and from 2 to 10 p.m. Sunday.

HUB Will Re Open
The Hetzel Union Building will also keep regular hours during exams, remaining open from 7 a.m. to 11 p.m. weekdays and from 7 to 12:30 p.m. on weekends.

The snack bar in Waring Hall will stop operating at 10:45 p.m. June 5, according to Miss Opal I. Hittle, manager of the snack bar.

During finals the regular hours will be kept, of 10 a.m. to 10:45 p.m. Monday through Thursday; 10 a.m. to 11:45 p.m. Friday and Saturday; and 2 p.m. to midnight on Sunday.

Junior Sentenced On Check Charges

Lorenzo Tancredi, junior in education from Philadelphia, was sentenced to a one-to-ten-month term in Centre County jail by Judge Ivan J. Walker Wednesday, after pleading guilty to passing worthless checks.

He was also ordered to make restitution and pay court costs.

Tancredi had previously been held in the jail in default of the $200 bail set by Justice of the Peace Guy G. Mills at a hearing May 15.

Wolcott Named Head Of Senior Hat Society

Samuel Wolcott, junior in arts and letters from Kingston, has been elected president of Skull and Bones, senior hat society.

Also elected were Thomas Lewis, junior in business administration from Montrose, vice president; and Donald Bostock, junior in industrial engineering from Bethesda, Md., secretary-treasurer.

Fair and Cool Forecast

Fair and continued cool weather is forecast for today with the high a chilly 60, according to the University weather station. The low tonight will be a frigid 35.

Copies of 'Headlight' Available

Copies of the May issue of "The Headlight on Books at Penn State," may be obtained at the Fred Lewis Pattee Library.

The magazine contains an account and bibliography of the writing career of the late Dr. Fred Lewis Pattee.

U.S. Chiefs May Visit Russia

WASHINGTON, May 24 (AP) —The United States dramatically, though indirectly, notified Russia today that the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff would probably accept an invitation to inspect the Soviet armed forces — if such an invitation is forthcoming.

The matter was handled in such a way as to leave no doubt that the Soviet government was being prodded to bid the American military high command to visit Moscow and tour the country.

Gordon Gray, assistant secretary of defense, went over the matter with Undersecretary of State Herbert Hoover Jr. at a State Department conference.

The White House's contribution was a remark by Murray Snyder, assistant press secretary, that he "wouldn't be surprised" if the Joint Chiefs of Staff would accept an invitation to visit the Soviet Union. He hastened to explain that they had no invitation.

Snyder, however, said that "there have been informal discussions about high officials of our government visiting Russia" ever since the Geneva conference last July.

The Pentagon became involved when a spokesman for the Joint Chiefs said no official approach for a visit by the whole group of military leaders had been received but that if an invitation did come in "it will be given serious consideration depending upon the conditions imposed."

Behind all this was a move by the Soviet government which appeared on the face of it to be of much more modest proportions than the United States government appeared ready to give it.

According to the office of Col. Philip Bachinsky, air attache at the Soviet Embassy, this is what happened:

Col. Bachinsky last Monday visited the office of Col. J. H. Lackey, chief of foreign liaison for the U.S. Air Force's intelligence branch. He said he wanted to see Gen. Nathan F. Twining, Air Force chief of staff, to extend an invitation from Marshal Vasily D. Sokolovsky, chief of the General Staff of the Soviet army — including air force.

Bachinsky advised Lackey, it was indicated, that Marshal Sokolovsky was inviting Gen. Twining to send a delegation of two or three high officers of the Air Force to a celebration of Aviation Day in the Soviet Union on June 24. Bachinsky said through an aide that he had not received a reply.

At the Pentagon this explanation was borne out by officials who said Gen. Twining had indeed received word that an invitation — meaning a formal one — to Moscow would be forthcoming.