

Brink's Jury Studies Models

BOSTON (AP)—Jurors trying the eight Brink's robbery defendants craned forward intently today as an FBI agent explained two large scale models of the North Terminal Garage and the Brink's Inc., office where a masked band stole $1,219,000 on Jan. 17, 1950.

Special Agent Leo J. Gauthier of Washington, D.C., testified he supervised construction of the two three-dimensional models. He said such work was his FBI specialty.

One model, an exterior of the garage on Terminal street in the garage end of Boston was built to a scale of one-eighth of an inch equals one foot, Gauthier said.

The other, built to a scale of one-half inch to the foot, represented the second floor of the garage occupied by Brink's as it existed the night of the robbery.

The table top models were wheeled into the center of the courtroom space in front of the jury box, and as Gauthier pointed out various features, jurors leaned forward, and those in the rear row stood up to peer at the exhibits.

The unusual Saturday session began promptly at 10 a.m. with Boston Police Detective John T. Hommel on the stand under cross-examination by Paul T. Smith, chief defense counsel.

Smith questioned Hommel about what he did after he found some strands of ropes on the Brink's floor around 8 or 8:30 on the night of the robbery.

Hommel said he kept the rope in his possession and that he did not lay it out on the floor.

Smith then moved to strike the rope as an exhibit, explaining that a police photographer who testified earlier, said he took a picture of the rope on the floor shortly before midnight.

Judge Felix Forte denied the motion saying he would leave the point up to the jury.

Hommel had testified concerning a visored cap, strips of adhesive tape and strands of rope he said he saw in the Brink's vault room when he answered the robbery alarm.

Russia Blocks Adenauer Bid

BONN, Germany (AP)—Soviet Russia has promptly stepped on West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's new bid for secret diplomatic negotiations for German reunification through free elections.

In notes to Washington, London, Paris and Moscow, the Adenauer government yesterday asked Russia to open new negotiations through diplomatic channels with the Western powers on German unification.

The proposal offered to link Soviet ideas on a European security system and a disarmament agreement with German unification in an effort to break the 11-year deadlock on the partition of Germany.

It also mentioned British Prime Minister Eden's plan for a demilitarized buffer zone along the Oder-Neisse line, East Germany's present eastern frontier, in an effort to convince the Soviet Union it would have no need to fear aggression from a united Germany.

Kidnapped Baby Buried; Killer Sought

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Tiny Cynthia Ruotolo was buried today, but her grief-stricken parents saw only part of the brief, simple ceremony at the grave.

Eleanor Ruotolo, mother of the 6-week-old child, collapsed at the grave before the casket, encased in a plain pine box, was lowered.

The baby's father, 33-year-old Stephen, caught his wife as she started to fall just three minutes after the cortege of three automobiles arrived at St. Barnard's Cemetery, about seven miles from the big Hamden department store where Cynthia was taken from her baby carriage just a week ago today.

Mrs. Ruotolo sobbed quietly as she and her husband, accompanied by a state policewoman, arrived at the grave. She gave a small cry as she stood to the left of a praying priest, the Rev. Gerald Mullins.

Then she crumbled. Her husband, an $80-a-week salesman, picked up his wife and carried her to an automobile and left the cemetery.

Three minutes later—just six minutes after the cortege had arrived at the grave—the casket was lowered.

There had been some question as to whether Ruotolo would attend the baby's funeral. Coroner James J. Corrigan had said that Ruotolo had refused to believe that the body recovered from Lake Whitney Thursday was that of his baby.

Junior in Accounting To Get $500 Award

An award, designed to give recognition to outstanding juniors in accounting, has been established at the University by the Haskins and Sells Foundation, Inc.

The $500 award will be made, beginning this semester, to a junior in accounting who will be chosen from the five juniors with the highest grade averages in all accounting courses in the College of Business Administration.

Leader Called 'Irresponsible'

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Republican State Committee today adopted a "declaration of principles" pledging the party to encourage the expansion of employment opportunities in the state.

Kicking off the GOP presidential and state campaigns, the 113-member committee condemned as "reckless and irresponsible" the record of Gov. George M. Leader and the Democratic Party during the 20 months of his administration.

Sen. James H. Duff, seeking his second term in the U.S. Senate, lauded President Dwight D. Eisenhower "the most beloved president in our lifetime." He said that
