

Bums Top Cards, 17-2; Newcombe Wins 25th

BROOKLYN, Sept. 19 (AP)—Don Newcombe became Brooklyn's first 25-game winner in 32 years as the Dodgers rolled up their highest run total of the year to overwhelm the St. Louis Cardinals 17-2 today and grasp a half-game lead over Milwaukee. The Braves met the Pirates in Pittsburgh tonight.

The big righthander, whose only defeat in his last 17 decisions since July 4 was a 1-0

Milwaukee To Go With 'Big Three'

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 19 (AP)—Bob Buhl, Lew Burdette and Warren Spahn will do the starting for the Milwaukee Braves the rest of the way in their stretch drive toward the National League pennant.

"I'll go with my regulars," said Manager Fred Haney today before the series finale with Pittsburgh. "Buhl, Burdette and Spahn but I'm not going to let any game get out of hand."

Conley in Bullpen

"Gene Conley will be in the bullpen. At times Gene has shown his good fast ball but his downfall has been lack of control on his breaking stuff."

"Burdette had good stuff last night, faster than he has been although his control was off. Buhl was as fast as any pitcher I ever saw the other day, but he has been wild too."

Spahn Big Saver

Spahn, of course, has been the big "saver" for the Braves in the last few days. He won his 200th at Philadelphia last week, earned Milwaukee a split by taking the second game of Monday's twinnight double and then stopped the Pirates in relief last night. The veteran lefty came in with two on and one out in the ninth to strike out Dale Long and get Dick Groat on a fly ball to Billy Bruton.

Looking back at last night's game, Haney said, "The strikeout of Long and Bobby Tohmson's perfect bunt were the big plays." Tohmson's sacrifice in the eighth set the stage for Johnny Logan's two-run single that overcame a 4-3 Pirate lead.

Soccer Managers

All sophomore candidates for soccer managers should report anytime this week to the Athletic Association Office in Recreation Hall. All candidates must have a 2.0 All-University average.

loss to Johnny Antonelli and the New York Giants, was a one-man gang as the Dodgers clubbed five Redbird hurlers for 17 hits, including four home runs and four doubles.

Newcombe hurled only seven innings before Manager Walter Alston wisely decided to rest his ace pitcher for the tough grind ahead. Before Don left, however, he not only had stifled the Cards with seven hits but he had taken charge at the plate as well, clouting a pair of home runs and a single to drive in three runs. In addition, he stole a base and executed a fine defensive play.

Home runs accounted for both Cardinal runs. Alvin Dark reached the left-field seats in the first inning and Stan Musial smashed his 25th of the year over the rightfield screen in the sixth.

Brooklyn scored in five of the first six innings, knocking out starter Tom Poholsky in the third, then shelling Lindy McDaniel and Willard Schmidt with an eight-run assault in the fifth that represented its largest scoring inning of the season.

Don Bessent finished up for Newcombe who became the first Dodger pitcher to win 25 games since Hall of Famer Dazzy Vance won 28 games in 1924. The only 25-game winners in the National League in the past 20 years besides Newcombe have been Robin Roberts of Philadelphia, 28 in 1952; Bucky Walters and Paul Derringer of Cincinnati, 27 and 25, respectively, in 1939; and Carl Hubbell of New York, 26 in 1936.

Duke Snider cracked four singles, drove in three runs and scored twice. Randy Jackson knocked in four runs with two doubles and a sacrifice fly.

Besides Newcombe's pair, Sandy Amoros and rookie Don Demeter hit homers for the Dodgers.

Dark made two errors in vital spots to make the Dodgers' task easier. He threw poorly on a double play ball in the first inning to let one run in and set up another. In the Dodgers' big fifth, only one of the eight runs was earned. With one run in on Amoros' homer, the bases loaded and two out, the Cardinal shortstop fumbled Pee Wee Reese's grounder, one run scoring. The Dodgers then cracked through for six more to clinch the game.

'Thumper' Still Needs 28 At Bats

CHICAGO, Sept. 19 (AP)—If the remarkable Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox is to edge New York's Mickey Mantle and win his fifth American League batting title this season, he will have to get to bat officially at least 28 times in Boston's eight remaining contests.

Next year, it could be different, with a move afoot to count all plate appearances, including walks, sacrifice hits, etc., in the at-bat total for championship ratings.

Rule to Be Followed

But League President Will Harridge ascertained today that the present scoring rule requiring 400 official AB's would be "strictly" observed in the current batting showdown between Williams and sagger Mantle of the Yankees.

At the moment, Williams with 132 hits in 372 official trips for a .355 average holds a five-point margin over Mantle, who has 181 hits in 517 AB's for .350. According to unofficial statistics, Williams has walked 90 times and been given 11 intentional walks through Sept. 9 against 106 strolls and 6 intentional passes for Mantle through Sept. 13.

Objections Voiced

Harridge said the objections to the 400 AB requirement have been voiced on the ground the rule could be circumvented by a pitcher deliberately walking a batter, or a hitter—in the last day or two of the season—striking out on any kind of pitch to guarantee an official AB.

K.C. Wallops Bosox, 8-1

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 19 (AP)—Harry Simpson blasted an eighth-inning grand slam home run that broke up a pitching battle between Dave Sisler and Wally Burdette today as the Kansas City Athletics downed Boston, 8-1.

Hosterman Stresses Conditioning at Drills

Conditioning is still the by-word on the soccer practice turf adjacent to the golf course, where coach Ken Hosterman puts his 1956 soccermen through daily drills in preparation for the season inaugural against Bucknell University, September 29.

Hosterman, like many of his contemporaries, is a strong advocate of a rigorous training system. He believes that a team in the best physical condition can often defeat an opponent who is stronger-but-less-conditioned.

Intrasquad scrimmages have also been receiving quite a bit of attention at the practice sessions. It is from these scrimmages that Hosterman will have to base his starting selections upon.

Hosterman Impressed

The Lion mentor is quite impressed over the showings of two sophomores, Per Torgeson and Mike Stollmeyer during the scrimmages. Both men are potential starters. Torgeson is in contention for both the center halfback and center forward positions. Stollmeyer is battling for a front line seat.

Captain Steve Flamporis is the only sure starter. He will be in one of the halfback slots. Walt Krauser, Ward Hill, Herb Hertenner and Paul Bauer are also possible halfback nominees. Krauser and Hill are lettermen while the other two are sophomores.

Fullback Spot Open

Cal Emery and lettermen Ralph Brower, and Dave Davis are the three top fullback contenders. Emery, according to Hosterman, has shown the most improvement since practice opened, last Wednesday.

Other fullback possibilities include junior Warren Dutro and sophomore Don Meyer. Meyer could also break into the lineup as a halfback.

The front line positions are also wide open. Tom Nute Jim Hedberg, Tom Benford, Harold Walz, Dave Haas, Torgeson, and Stollmeyer are on the inside track for these spots. The first four won monograms in 1955 and Haas is an Armed Forces veteran.

Lawrence Holds Edge

Senior letterwinner John Lawrence holds the edge in the goalie department but Jerry Bruce and Don Dougald are pressing him. Bruce is a junior and Dougald a soph.

Among the other men capable of breaking into the starting lineup are Tony Tremonte, Jim Edmonds, Bob Wittmer, Otto Rosenberger, and Bruce Walsh.

Jim Litterio was being counted upon by Hosterman to take up the slack in the wing positions but he has not appeared for practice yet.

WRA Sports Program Opens

By LIL JUNAS

The Women's Recreation Association, an organization sponsoring intramural and intercollegiate sports for coeds, begins its activity program tonight when the swimming, badminton, and officials clubs meet.

The swimming club, which meets at 6:30 p.m. in the White Hall pool, will be conducted in two sections—one for beginners who want to learn the fundamentals of swimming, and another for the advanced who want to practice and develop their skills.

The swim club's main event of the year is its annual aquacade which it presents in April.

In March the more advanced mermaids compete with swimmers of other colleges on the annual winter sports day.

A senior life saving and an instructor's life saving class will be conducted as soon as the club is established.

The badminton club meets at 7 tonight in the White Hall gymnasium, and is open to coeds who want practice in both playing and refereeing badminton.

The officials club enables coeds to study officiating at athletic events, and to officiate at all intramural events. The club meets at 6:30 tonight in 2 White Hall.

Coeds planning to participate in IM competition are not required to join the corresponding club; however, membership and interest in the clubs are encouraged.

Five other clubs will meet next week, and are open to all coeds. Experience in the activity is optional.

The hockey club will meet at 4 p.m. Monday on Holmes field, next to White Hall. Field hockey is the major WRA fall sport and it also dominates the November sports day.

Other activities conducted by the hockey club are the Mid East and Central Pennsylvania Tournaments, and an Army and Navy or all-star games.

The bridge club will meet at 7 p.m. Monday in the White Hall playroom. Instruction in contract bridge will be offered.

The tennis club will meet at 4 p.m. Monday and Thursday on the tennis courts behind Sigma Chi fraternity. Instruction and practice in playing tennis are on the program.

The bowling club will meet at 6:30 Wednesday at the White Hall alleys. Members practice for local tournaments, and competition within the club, IM league, and National Intercollegiate Telegraphic American Ten Pin Tournament.

The dance club will meet at 7 p.m. Wednesday in the White Hall rhythm room. A major WRA event, the Modern Dance Concert, is presented by this group. Practice on dance fundamentals and free composition work will be stressed.

A rifle club will be started later in the semester and a lacrosse club will meet in the spring.
