

Committee Accepts Office Rotation Plan

A permanent plan for alternating elected class and All-University officers was unanimously approved by All-University Elections Committee last night and will be recommended to Cabinet as an amendment to the Elections Code.

The argument concerning fraternity or independent affiliation of candidates has been a sore spot in student government for years. The new plan, stemming from student encampment, calls for the following rotation:

Freshman—officers to be all independent.

Junior—president, independent, and vice president, fraternity.

Senior—president, fraternity, and vice president, independent.

All-University officers will alternate—fraternity and independent—from year to year with the president and secretary-treasurer being of the same affiliation and the vice president of opposite affiliation.

Minimize Friction

The plan was created to minimize the potential friction between the affiliation. Last spring a new system was put into effect whereby a flip of a coin decides the affiliation of both candidates if the clique chairmen disagree. This caused uncertainties and was left largely to chance.

The Elections Committee also set Nov. 1 and 2 for freshman and sophomore class elections. Alternate dates, Nov. 15 and 16, were also planned in case there is difficulty in obtaining voting machines due to national elections.

Meetings to Begin

The first official clique meetings of both Campus and Lion parties will take place Oct. 6. Political campaigns will begin ten days prior to the first day of elections.

Lion party last Sunday elected Byron LaVan, junior in business administration from Philadelphia, clique chairman. Campus party will hold clique elections at 7 p.m. tomorrow in 121 Sparks.

Campus Clique To Be Elected

Campus party will elect All-University clique officers at 7 p.m. tomorrow in 121 Sparks.

The meeting will be open to all students, and those attending will receive a party membership card.

William Snyder, present clique chairman, will officially resign tomorrow night when the new clique chairman is elected.

Other posts to be filled will be vice clique chairman, executive secretary, recording secretary and treasurer.

Campus party will nominate candidates for freshman and sophomore classes at a later meeting. Freshman and sophomores will then elect their class officers during the October elections.

TV Rooms In Sparks Number 18

A new distribution system for television facilities in Sparks was installed during the summer, bringing the total of rooms with receiving sets to 18.

The seven rooms in use last semester had a seating capacity of approximately 600, and the 11 rooms added to the circuit will seat 350 persons.

At present all the rooms are not used for television classes, but, if the need would arise, nearly 1000 students could take a television course at the same time.

Third Type Tested

The new distribution system is an expansion of the equipment testing phase in the television experiment. The system is the third type to be tested in the experiment.

James Raleigh, a project engineer, listed the following advantages of the new system:

Standard Units Used

1. Standard television receivers can be used, instead of those which have to be modified and changed.

2. Two programs can now be sent at the same time. This would be necessary if two television courses were given at the same hour.

3. The picture and sound are broadcast simultaneously instead of separately, as in the old system.

Twelve new receivers were acquired in order to equip the rooms added to the circuit. They are 24-inch sets and the newest type available.

The new system gives a "very satisfactory picture," Raleigh said.

MacKenzie Named Special Assistant To Research Post

Dr. Ossian MacKenzie, dean of the College of Business Administration, yesterday was temporarily appointed special assistant to the future research coordinator of the University.

The appointment was announced by Dr. Eric A. Walker, president-elect of the University, after seeking the help of a faculty committee in choosing a research coordinator.

Dr. MacKenzie, continuing in his deanship capacity, will supervise operation of housing, food service, purchasing, physical plant, and personnel services.

Dr. Brice Harris, head of the English literature department, meanwhile was named chairman of a faculty committee which will recommend three or more candidates to Dr. Walker for the position of Coordinator of Research.

Dr. Walker, who will move into the presidency Oct. 1, has been performing both functions since last July.

Frosh Senator Blanks Available for Women

First semester women may obtain self-nomination blanks for Freshman Senator Monday through Saturday in the office of the dean of women.

Candidates must have no major judicial record.

2000 Laud Prexy At Final Serenade

More than 2000 students heard President Milton S. Eisenhower promise to return to the campus at least once a year at a surprise farewell serenade last night.

Dr. Eisenhower will leave the University Oct. 1 to assume his duties as president of Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore, Md.

Standing on the steps in front of Old Main, Dr. Eisenhower said "I'll always have a part of my heart here." He expressed great sorrow at having to leave the University, but said he did it for pressing personal reasons.

Paying a humble tribute to the students, President Eisenhower said, "The recognition and respect of students is worth more than any other honor I could ever hope to win—and I hope I have gained your respect."

Termed 'Wonderful Person'

The man whom All-University President Robert Bahrenburg called "a wonderful person to work with and know" said the serenade reminded him of the welcome students accorded him when he came to the campus in 1950.

Now, as then, Dr. Eisenhower said, "I am completely overcome and my heart is full."

After he had entered to the strains of "Hail to The Chief," Bahrenburg introduced Dr. Eisenhower to the group saying "I can't find the words to express how I feel or what I want to say. I only know that I speak for myself, student leaders, and the student body when I say I'm very sorry to see him go."

Given Two Gifts

Following the serenade, Bahrenburg gave Eisenhower a color slide projector, and a projection screen. Noticing the going-away present was in four packages, Bahrenburg quipped "Don't worry, it's all there. That's the way it's supposed to come. It's one of these assembly jobs."

At the serenade, cheerleaders, aided by the University Blue Band, led the students in singing the entire repertoire of university songs and cheers. Dr. Eisenhower joined in the singing of each song.

Greets Cheerleaders

Noticeably touched, the President took time at the end to shake the hand of each cheerleader.

He will leave for Johns Hopkins University today where he will be honored at a reception, a University spokesman said. He will return to the University to complete arrangements, then go to the Maryland University permanently.

Warmer Weather With Fair Skies Predicted Today

Temperatures are predicted to rise this morning for a perfect beginning to a fair-and-warmer weekend.

Charles L. Hosler Jr., associate professor of meteorology, said yesterday the mercury should reach a high of 70 degrees today. Yesterday's high was 60, with a low of 32 last night.

The still air and cold weather brought the heaviest frost of the season in the area yesterday morning, with snow and sleet on Philipsburg mountain.

Increasingly cloudy weather is predicted for tomorrow, with possible thundershowers in the late afternoon.

State forecasts called for rain today ending in the morning, followed by partly cloudy weather with a high of 70-75 degrees in western Pennsylvania.

Daily Collegian to Hold Mixer for Candidates

The Daily Collegian will hold a Coke party from 1 to 3 p.m. today in the Collegian city room, in the basement of Carnegie Hall, for students interested in joining the editorial staff.

Students need not be journalism majors nor have previous experience to become editorial candidates.

STUDENTS CHEER and sing for Prexy.

University Coeds Not That Way

From all indications, Captain Phillip A. Mark of the Campus Patrol has high thoughts of University coeds.

When asked what he thought might be done to eliminate the campus traffic condition, he suggested that those students who could survive without their car on campus should send it home.

When then confronted with the attitude of some students who feel that a car is necessary for dating, he said: "That just isn't so . . . Penn State coeds just aren't that way."

Town Independent Men To Hold First Meeting

Town Independent Men will hold its first meeting at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in 203 Hetzel Union Building.

Town Independent men have been invited to attend. Anyone attending this meeting will automatically become a voting member.

Plans for the year will be discussed.

A SURPRISED man waves and shows a familiar family smile.

Suez Conference Ends In Agreement

LONDON, Sept. 21 (AP)—The 18-nation Suez conference ended tonight with majority agreement to form the Suez Canal Users' Assn. within 10 days. But France expressed such disappointment at the association's final form as to cast doubt on Western unity. French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau surprised the meeting by withholding immediate approval, apparently viewing the project as too favorable to Egypt.

Reservations Expressed Japan, Pakistan, Sweden, Iran and Ethiopia expressed reservations. All, however, were much warmer toward the final revised plan for the association than they were toward its original terms.

One of SCUA's first tasks will be to seek UN help by mid-October in reaching a final settlement of the Suez dispute.

Secretary of State Dulles went directly from the last conference session to London Airport and boarded a military plane for Washington.

Speaks to Reporters

Dulles, author of the association plan, told airport reporters: "It was a good conference. It fulfilled good work and there was a cooperative spirit. I think the results are solid as we move forward to the next stage."

With a smile and wave of his hat, he added:

"I am very satisfied with the outcome."

SCUA's governing body, composed of one delegate from each country joining it, will meet in London Oct. 1.

Its immediate tasks will be: To prepare a joint case for international control of the canal and by mid-October present it to the UN Security Council with a request for endorsement.

Cooperation Sought

To seek Egypt's cooperation for the "safe, orderly, efficient and economic transit" of the ships of its members through Suez.

To investigate ways of bypassing the canal should it ever be closed to them.

SCUA already is assured membership of 11 nations—the United States, Britain, Italy, Australia, New Zealand, Portugal, West Germany, the Netherlands, Turkey, Spain and Norway.
