

Class Board Probe Of 'Pay' Discarded

A recommendation originating at Student Encampment, which would turn the problem of compensations to the class advisory boards, was defeated by All-University Cabinet last night.

In its place a motion was approved to refer the problem to a special Cabinet committee to be appointed by the All-University president. The committee would work in conjunction with the Senate Committee on Student Affairs, Cabinet decided.

The Encampment report, "making student government more effective," also urged the establishment of a standing public relations committee to disseminate Cabinet information.

Larger Room Asked
Harry Martini, junior class president, asked to hold some Cabinet meetings in 121 Sparks so that they could be broadcast over station WDFM. The suggestion was favored by other Cabinet members.

The report also contained a recommendation to expand and revise the student handbook in order to include more student government information. A block diagram was suggested that could explain the organization of student government.

Editor Gives Views
Lawrence Jacobson, editor of the handbook, said that he agreed with the diagram but thought Cabinet shouldn't try to jam too much into the student government section.

"Even though the handbook is published by Cabinet," he said, "I don't think student government should dominate the extra-curricular activities write-up."

Referred to Committee
Other recommendations contained in the report will be referred to Cabinet-deemed responsible groups.

A re-evaluation of the nine college councils will be suggested to the Inter-College Council Board; direction of the leadership training program toward freshmen, Student Leadership Training Committee; request for Cabinet seat for Town Independent Men, Association of Independent Men.

Student representatives at State College town council meetings, Joint Committee on Town Affairs; self-promotion of the Cabinet Personnel Interviewing Committee, CPIC.

The elimination of final exams for eighth semester seniors will be investigated and is to be presented to Cabinet Nov. 1.

Social Life Stressed In TIM Talk

William B. Crafts, assistant to the dean of men, suggested to a record attendance of Town Independent Men Wednesday night that the men living in town develop more community relationship with the borough population.

Crafts, speaking before approximately 60 men assembled at an organization meeting, urged the TIM members to improve social and recreational relations with the people of State College.

Monthly Event Planned
James Tipton, AIM president, said plans have been laid for TIM to sponsor "one big event a month." Two activities—a push cart race and a dance—are scheduled for October.

Reports were also heard on TIM's part in the University's intramural program. At present TIM is participating in IM football and tennis. Richard Norton, the intramural chairman, is now seeking men for the IM bowling program. Entries are due Tuesday afternoon at the TIM office.

Appointments Made
Appointments were also made to chairmanships of committees. They are: projects, William Dragon and Charles Moose, co-chairmen; social, Warren Miller and Raymond David, co-chairmen; refreshment, Charles Mapoles; intramural, Richard Norton; publicity, Edward Leach; constitution, Benjamin Winslow and membership, Imerio Matos.

James Wambold was appointed temporary head of the Community Concert committee.

Representatives Selected
Nominations were made for TIM's eight representatives at large on AIM. Students selected include James Goodwin, Raymond David, Edward Leach, Benjamin Winslow, Charles Simpson, Donald Dennis, James Wambold, Imerio Matos, Robert Bray, Joseph Shea, and James Hipps. Other nominations will be made prior to the election at the next meeting, October 10.

Weather to Be Cloudy, Cool

Cloudy and cool weather with a chance of rain is the forecast for today.

Hurricane Flossy, although almost blown out, is still exerting influence over Pennsylvania weather. Since the eastern part of the state has had rain yesterday, there is a strong possibility that Centre Co., on the fringe of this area, will also receive rain. The high today is expected to rise to only 55-60, according to the University Weather Station.

Journ Group Elects Carroll President

Harry Carroll, graduate student in journalism from Centre Hall, has been elected president of the Graduate Society of Journalism.

Other officers are Ralph Goodwin, announcer for WMAJ, vice president; and Dr. Guido Stempel, instructor in journalism, secretary-treasurer.

Tentative plans were made at the meeting for a tour of the Curtis Publishing Company in Philadelphia during the fall semester.

Riesel Hits Labor Rackets

Victor Riesel, internationally-known labor columnist for Hall Syndicate, Wednesday night urged industry to take a stand against the racketeering elements which are gradually infiltrating labor unions.

Riesel, speaking before the Tri-State professional chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, national journalistic fraternity, banquet at Pittsburgh, said that it was not enough to let the growing problem of racketeering in labor to the union leaders.

"Unless action is taken, labor will be infiltrated by racketeers," he said.

Riesel said no one is immune to the threat of these racketeers. He said they are aiming for control of mass industry and already have begun to outmaneuver honest labor leaders.

Riesel said that he was not concerned with the honest people in labor. His point of issue, he said, was who is going to stop the interests that are creeping up from the bottom and later go into politics.

Several members of the University SDX chapter attended.
