MR. GRID, MR. IRON PAY A VISIT

I sort of expected someone to knock on my office door, especially following the football team's win over Penn Saturday, but I was surprised when it wasn't my old friend Wally the sports fan. Instead it was two of his friends—Mr. Grid and Mr. Iron.

"Are you the sports editor," they inquired. After I gave a positive reply Mr. Grid explained that Wally had to leave college for a year and so they would take up where he left off. I didn't want to appear rude and tell them I was busy so into the office they came, facts and all.

"You have a nice place here," Mr. Grid said, "but it could use some new typewriters and a smaller desk." "I know but I can't complain about the service and I'm sure that we'll have some new equipment shortly," I answered.

"I saw you at the game Saturday," Mr. Iron said, "and you seemed pleased with the action." "I was, and what did you think?"

"We looked great," Mr. Grid interjected. Why everyone was complaining about us lacking a break-a-way runner, but did you see Alberigi (Ray) and Kane (Billy) run? They're not so fast as Lenny Moore, but who is?"

Before I was able to answer, Mr. Iron put his two cents in. "And don't think Plum didn't look great. Why his ball handling was excellent and his passing was almost perfect, especially the one to Alberigi for the touchdown."

Mr. Grid interrupted and I knew I was in the middle of a discussion, where I would have to sit on the sideline. "You forgot something brother," Mr. Grid accusingly said, "what about Caprara's faking and blocking. Why every time he went up the middle three guys hit him whether he had the ball or not."

"I know," Mr. Iron said, "but if we're going to discuss everybody then let's talk about the line. They were the real heroes of the game. Why Sam Valentine looked so good that the writers in the press box named him the top lineman of the day."

Pick Lions Over Army!

"Let's not throw our weight around," Mr. Grid said. "Plum was picked top back of the game, so let's give him some credit."

"Okay, Okay," Mr. Iron said, "then let's give credit to all the linemen." Dick DeLuca, Dan Radakovich, Jack Calderone, and all the ends looked good and if you want to know something the second team was right up there, too, see?"

"Go ahead and brag," Mr. Grid said angrily, "but to me the best time to brag will be after the Army game. Penn was green and young and we looked awfully good, which together is poison, so hold your tongue until this weekend."

"I don't give a hoot what you think, Mr. Iron said, "We're not going to Army with the same boys as last year. This year's team has the most spirit and cooperation that I have ever seen up here. And believe me they remember last year's game all too well. In fact I'm picking them to win. What do you think?"

"I think you're right," Mr. Grid surprisingly said, "but all I said was not to brag too soon."

"Oh," Mr. Iron said, "so you heard about Gene Mikelonis (Army halfback) tearing his knee ligaments, too?"

"Do you think I would brag so hard if I didn't know," Mr. Grid said. But let's not go overboard on this. He might be out for the year but Earl Blaik always has some "green" reserve (so he calls them) that takes over where the other guy left off."

"That man (Blaik) has scorophobia," Mr. Iron laughed. Why he keeps his first string in the game until they ask to be taken out and then he refuses. Why can't he be like old Rip. He played 36 guys Saturday, which drew a round of comments from the pressbox personnel."

"Okay boys," I interrupted, "it's time to be going. I hate to do this but I have to write two stories and then study. You know how it is. "And like two angels Mr. Grid and Mr. Iron left.

Alpha Chi Sigma, Stiff's Boys, Raiders, Phi Gam IM Victors

A beautiful display of team work highlighted Alpha Chi Sigma's 12-0 victory over Alpha Phi Delta in Intramural football action last night.

In other games, the Raiders from Watts beat the Zips from Hamilton Hall, 1-0; Stiff's Boys, another Hamilton Hall team, beat Jordan 1 in an overtime, 1-0; and Phi Gamma Delta edged Theta Kappa Phi, 1-0, in another overtime.

Alpha Chi Sigma's Joe Nock sparkled with a fine aerial attack that continually pushed Alpha Phi Delta back.

Nock's main receiver was Fred Miller—also a fine running back. However, it took the Alpha Chi Sigs the first half to get rolling. Nock's interception of a pass from Ben Amato on Alpha Phi Delta's 40 started the scoring. A long pass put the winners on the defenders' 15. Nock scored on a run around left end.

AMATO RECEIVED the kick-off and attempted to pass. The alert Nock again intercepted and five plays later scored on a five-yard run to finish the scoring.

The Raiders nipped the Zips in a close 1-0 game. In the first half, the Raiders seemed to be the stronger club but were unable to score. John Lewis of the Raiders threw a long pass from his own 20 to Bill Larson who moved to the Zips' 45 for the only first down of the game.

ON THE FOLLOWING play, Steve Wojdak of the Zips intercepted a pass and returned to the Raider's five. The Zips ran into a brick wall, however, and were unable to score.

Stiff's Boys edged Jordan 1, 1-0, in overtime. In the first half, a long pass from Fred Wolfe to Chuck Palmer—a combination that was outstanding throughout the game—put the Boys on the Jordan six-yard line.

Two plays later a pass from Palmer to Marty Scherr moved the ball down to the half-yard line. The Jordan men were able to hold and robbed the winners of a touchdown.

THE GAME moved back and forth with neither team gaining too much ground. In the second half, Stiff's Boys were forced to punt from their own 15, traveling only to its 33.

The Jordan players took advantage of the situation with a pass from Jim Thompson to Bob Brickman, putting them on the victor's 12-yard line to give them the tying first down.

In the overtime the Wolfe-Palmer combination payed off. A short pass to Palmer put the ball about 2 yards over the midfield stripe and Jordan was unable to push it back.

THE FINAL game also went into overtime. Phi Gamma Delta sneaked by Theta Kappa Phi in another 1-0 game.

Both teams were tied at two downs apiece at the end of the regulation time. In the overtime the arm of Terry Hutton hit Bob Bookman and Jim Lessig with two passes for the necessary yardage to win.

During the game, Hutton's passes and fine running ability sparked the Phi Gam men. Hutton ran 20 yards for the first first-down and later passed to Lessig for the second. Theta Kappa Phi managed to tie it up, forcing the game into overtime.

Matmen, Managers Report Tomorrow

All candidates for the wrestling team and for assistant posts as wrestling managers should report at 4:30 p.m. tomorrow to the mat area in Recreation Hall.

The mat area is located to the right of the main floor as it is viewed from the front entrance. Varsity and freshmen heavyweights are especially needed. Only sophomores are eligible for an assistant managership.

The Brooklyn Dodgers used more baseballs in 1956—well over 12,000 than the entire National League used in 1876, its first year.
