

Battle of Lines May Highlight Lion-Cadet Tilt

Two of the roughest lines in Eastern football face their stiffest test tomorrow when the Nittany Lion football team meets the powerful Army Cadets at West Point, N.Y.

In its opening day test the Lion forward wall held Pennsylvania to a mere 61 yards, while Army, always a top defensive team, boasts six of last year's starters on this year's line.

Lion scouts J. T. White and Earl Bruce said that the Cadets have plenty of speed and savvy. "The line," Bruce said,

"is the usual one—rough and rugged."

This could be the understatement of the year, since two of Army's linemen—guard Stan Slater and center Ed Szvetez—were on numerous pre-season All-America elevens.

Slater, a varsity performer since his sophomore year, is called "one of the finest guard prospects in Army football history" by Coach Earl Blaik. Only a junior, Slater is credited with having fulfilled 85 per cent of his blocking assignments last year and is rated one of the best trap-blockers in the country.

Szvetez is the Cadet's top line backer. He is a good blocker, difficult to knock off his feet, and utilizes his speed to stop end runs.

The only '55 performer missing from the line is All-American Ralph Chesnauskas. Otherwise Blaik is intact here with Slater, Szvetez, Art Johnson, Loren Reid, Dick Stephenson, and Flay Goodwin.

Stephenson, a tackle, is now at end replacing Chesnauskas, while Goodwin, a guard, was shifted to Stephenson's vacancy. Joe Bishop and Dick Fadel are the leading aspirants for the only vacant spot on the line—guard.

So, virtually the same two lines that faced each other in the '55 game, which Army won 35-6, will be at it again tomorrow.

But the Lions have one more year experience plus added confidence. The end positions are three deep, while the center of the line boasts hardened and experienced veterans.

The difference in tomorrow's tilt could be at the quarterback slot where the Lion's Milt Plum is firmly entrenched and Army, as usual, is below par. Blaik had to resort to Bob Kyasky, a speedy halfback, to take over the QB spot.

Bruce and White were impressed by Kyasky's running, but did not get one clue to his passing ability. "Army simply didn't have to pass against VML," Bruce said.

Handicap Race To Prep Harriers For Opening Run

By VINCE CAROCCI

With the opening meet against Cornell drawing nearer, cross-country coach Chick Werner has scheduled a three-mile handicap race for his harriers to run Saturday.

This will be the stiffest test the Lions have yet to run under the expert eyes of Werner, his assistant Norm Gordon, and the stopwatch.

Werner has arranged the race so that his top runners will start out last—Ed Moran being the final harrier to leave the starting line, some four minutes after the first man.

Fred Kerr and Clem Schoenebeck will leave approximately 30 seconds before Moran and will be preceded by Captain Don Woodrow and sophomore Bob Thompson.

Last Thursday, Werner ran a timed workout. However, the stress was placed on club balance rather than exceptional times. Saturday, the emphasis will take a complete turn-about.

Each runner will have to run his very best in order to make an impressive showing—those who leave first will have to struggle to stay in front, while those who leave last will have to use all their speed and stamina to catch up.

The Lion coach gave his club a bit of leeway in yesterday's and today's practice sessions. He is letting his runners work out as they please, each runner practicing with the idea of getting into top shape for Saturday's test. Werner said that obtaining a well-balanced team was still one of his main objectives and he believes that it is developing fairly says "Jockey brand underwear's the most!"

"Dissonance in the coda is great at Birdland," says Clare Nett, campus dance band virtuoso, "but harmony's what I want in the underwear section. I always wear Jockey briefs on the stand, so there'll be no fidgeting to upset the beat."

You don't have to dig the latest cerebral jazz to know that Clare has a good counter point about underwear. Better step up to your dealer's counter soon...buy a supply of Jockey briefs and T-shirts...and feel as good as you look!
