

Campus Party Elects Class Clique Officers

Campus party class clique officers, who will compose the party steering committee along with committee chairmen, were elected by some 400 members at a clique meeting Sunday night.

10 Positions Filled by Lion Party

Lion party partially completed its internal party structure last night with the announcement of 10 appointments and the nomination of three students for class clique offices.

More than 150 students attended the first general party meeting. Complete nominations for party clique and freshman and sophomore class officers are slated for the general meeting tentatively scheduled for Sunday night.

Nominated for sophomore class clique chairman was Chester Zimolzak, while Joan Bransdorf and Dorothy Newman were placed in nomination for freshman class clique secretary.

George E. Goldstein, former vice chairman of the platform committee, was named financial chairman for the fall elections. Others named were Walter Rohman, publicity chairman; Florence Kushner, freshman women publicity chairman; Barbara Hill and Mary Nash, sorority coordinators.

Also Edward Levine, project chairman in charge of windows; Patricia Reno, sophomore women publicity chairman; Joseph Bartetta, town campaign chairman; Nancy Hankins, women's campaign chairman; George Vlacks, fraternity publicity chairman.

WH Council Establishes New League

A coeducational bowling league, completely independent of the intramural leagues, has been setup by West Halls Council. The league will be composed of four-member teams consisting of two men and two women.

Matches will be played Sunday evenings at 6:30 in Recreation Hall. Those interested can sign up individually or as teams at the Waring Hall information desk. There will also be sign-up sheets in all girls' dorms.

Teams that have been formed will be contacted before Sunday night, when they will meet to decide on fees.

Nominations of Council officers were held last night; more can be submitted during the week and at next week's meeting. Anyone wishing to nominate himself can do so by submitting a petition of at least 50 names.

At last night's meeting John Neifert was nominated for the vice presidential position, Louis Wonderly for secretary, and Wells Hunt, Jr. for treasurer.

A petition was submitted to see what could be done concerning early morning drilling in the West Hall vicinity. Council plans to send a notice to the various military branches on campus to remedy this.

Pi Mu Epsilon to Hold First Meeting Tonight

Phi Mu Epsilon, mathematics honorary society, will hold its first meeting of the year at 7:30 tonight in 215 Hetzel Union.

The meeting will include the invitation of those elected this year. A talk on the problem of map coloring will be given by Albert R. Erskin, mathematics instructor.

Brewer defeated Raymond Fireman, Francis Raine, and Wells Hunt. Hunt, who was runner-up, became vice clique chairman because there were no nominations for that office.

Phillips opposed John Dunn and William Johnston. Seul and Specter were unopposed.

Eight clique offices drew no nominations. Thomas Hollander, clique chairman, said that nominations and elections for these offices will be held at the meeting Sunday night.

Other class clique officers elected are:

Senior: David Hamrick, vice clique chairman; Robert Hornberger, treasurer.

Junior: Patrick Reilly, vice clique chairman; Marcia Cassler, recording secretary; Mary Ann Pell, treasurer.

Sophomore: Richard Muller, vice clique chairman; Alice Beebe, executive secretary. Muller opposed Burton Hollander and David Richie.

Freshman: Wells Hunt, vice clique chairman.

Hollander announced that matriculation cards must be shown in order to attend the next meeting. Party members, he said, are required to attend two out of the three official clique meetings.

TV to Air Play By Ex-Student

The Kraft Television Theatre will present the play, "Murder of a Sand Flea," by James Lee Barrett, a former University student, at 9 p.m. tomorrow over NBC-TV. Originally titled "The Pine Box," the play was presented in 1955 in the University's 5 O'Clock Experimental Theatre.

"Murder of a Sand Flea" is the story of a young Marine recruit who in civilian life was accustomed to getting his own way and constantly walked out of situations which displeased him. Adjustment to Marine life at Parris Island brings him face to face with iron discipline and rugged training.

The program will be carried locally in both black and white and compatible color by station WJAC-TV, channel 6, Johnstown.

Religion Courses Open At Jewish Foundation

Three religion classes sponsored by the Hillel Foundation will begin tonight at the foundation.

The non-credit courses are free. They are "Yiddish Language and Conversation" at 7 p.m.; "Intermediate Hebrew" at 7 p.m.; and "Beginner's Hebrew" at 8 p.m.

Voter Must Combine Traits Of Idealist, Realist—Miller

The voter must combine the analysis of the realist with the commitment of the idealist to create "A Responsible Approach to Politics," William Lee Miller said Saturday.

Speaking before the University Christian Association-sponsored Public Affairs Institute, Miller said this combination of conservatism and liberalism is one of three necessary factors for such a responsible approach.

The other two are to act to bring power that is "responsible to the purpose of justice," and to exercise what he calls a "critical partisanship"—maintaining one's commitments "while joining in the effort to seek a majority."

The institute, discussing the overall topic "This Election—And You," concluded Saturday night with a panel of four students moderated by Dr. Frank J. Sorauf, assistant professor of political science.

Miller said Christian motives go beyond standard issues and expected good, and relate "not just to individuals, but to social structures." Religion contributes to politics the motive to seek jus-ice and continual social reform, he said.

It also contributes a framework of understanding and criticism—a "means of thinking"—but the "building material" to fill in the framework must be provided by political thought itself, according to Miller.

There is "no candidate, party, or issue on which you can say, 'This is the Christian answer,'" he said, and folkways tend to keep religion out of politics.

But, while it is a Christian's duty to bring out a responsible approach to politics, the Church must condemn the use of itself for political purposes, and religion should not be a part of a candidate's public appeal for votes, Miller said.

Library Discloses Big Loss of Books

Several hundred books are reported missing from Pattee Library each year, according to Ralph W. McComb, University librarian.

Two primary factors are seen for the number of missing books. Each year the library staff tries to increase the number of books placed on open shelves. This is done for the convenience of the students in making it possible for them to glance through books and select those they wish to use.

As a result of this, books can be taken from the shelves at any time and the library staff has no way of checking to see that the books are returned to the shelves and not taken out of the library.

Students Give False Names
The other way McComb sees that books are lost is when a student gives a false name when signing for a book. Matriculation cards are required now when signing for a book. This measure was introduced to provide a check on students taking books from the library.

According to McComb, the percentage of books are taken illegally from the library to the number of books that are borrowed correctly is relatively small, but even this small percent causes a great deal of inconvenience to students. The reason for this is that most books which are taken without record from the library are books constantly used by the student body.

Students Take Books
McComb feels that most students taking books without signing for them are not doing it with intent to steal, but just don't want to be bothered to return them or pay a fine when the books are overdue.

Considering Pattee Library's circulation, which was 292,000 for the year 1955-56, McComb said the percentage of missing books is probably no worse than any other place.

Students who have a special need for using the stacks of the library, which are normally open to graduate students and faculty members only, may gain admission to the stacks by obtaining a written statement from their faculty advisor or professor explaining why the student should have use of the stacks.

Following the organizational meeting, the chorus will begin practice for a Christmas program.

The chorus will meet tonight and next Tuesday in Weaver, but beginning Oct. 23 will meet in the Hetzel Union assembly hall.

Class Board--

Student Referendum
Nurock suggested the board support a referendum to the student body in regards to the Supreme Court decision in the event Cabinet goes on record in favor of eliminating the Supreme Court.

Nurock based his suggestion on a clause in Cabinet's constitution which states that an amendment to the constitution, such as elimination of the court, would be given to the student body for a vote if a petition was submitted to Cabinet within two weeks after the amendment was proposed, requesting such a student vote.

Nurock said he would personally draw up such a petition if Cabinet proposed an amendment to remove the Supreme Court provision from the constitution.

The advisory board postponed further action on the referendum suggestion until immediately after All-University Cabinet has taken action on the Supreme Court issue.
