Support Of High Court Increases

The Engineering and Architecture Student and the Liberal Arts Student Councils both approved motions to go on record of favoring retention of the Supreme Court.

Robert Nurock, junior in arts and letters from Elkins Park, presented to the Liberal Arts Student Council an encampment report listing three reasons for the abolishment of the Supreme Court.

He refuted all three reasons. Encampment's claim that the Supreme Court lacks purpose, and that its powers should be transferred to members of the Cabinet, was contradicted "because this would lead to a dictatorial system of student government," Nurock said.

Secondly, encampment stated that Cabinet was the supreme governing body on campus and should not be overruled by a lesser body. Nurock said that Supreme Court should not be considered a lesser body. It serves as a check to authority as does the United States Supreme Court.

The third reason given by encampment for abolishing Supreme Court was that members of the organization are often uninformed of the matters on which they must make a decision, Nurock said.

Nurock recommended that members of the Supreme Court should be required to attend all Cabinet meetings to better qualify themselves for making decisions.

The Engineering and Architecture Student Council's discussion also centered around the necessity of the Supreme Court. It was pointed out that the court should have an opportunity to prove itself.

The opinion was expressed that the organization should be improved upon rather than discarded.

Robert Stroup, junior in industrial engineering from Muncy, led the discussion for the abolition of the Supreme Court.

Local State Parks To Be Improved

Black Moshannon Lake, Greenwood Furnace, Whipples Dam, Poe Valley, and Halfway are five of the fifteen state parks which will be improved by the Department of Forests and Waters.

Improvements will be made in the bathing and fishing facilities by the department in cooperation with the fish commission.

Buoy lines and beach guards are to be installed after the lakes are graded and drop offs eliminated. Under water hazards will also be removed.

Ultimately the department hopes to limit the depth of the bathing areas to a maximum of five feet.

Cabinet Cancels Meeting

All-University Cabinet will meet tomorrow night, Robert Bahrenburg, All-University president, has announced.

It was a tense battle all the way between Labine's sharp breaking sinker and Turley's smoking fast ball until Robinson finally came through with the blow that assured Dodgers fans of a seventh game at Ebbets Field tomorrow.

Robinson fouled one, took a ball and then lashed a line drive into left field. Slaughter raced for the ball which sailed over his head and rolled away as fleet Junior Gilliam scooted home.

When Robinson reached the Dodger dugout, the entire squad gave him a leaping welcome that almost matched the Yanks' greeting for Don Larson after yesterday's perfect pitching job.

Not a single base runner reached third base in this exciting contest until Gilliam touched the bag on his scoring dash.

Gilliam had walked on four pitches after Labine popped out to open the home 10th. Pee Wee Reese dumped a surprise sacrifice bunt and barely was thrown out by Turley.

Manager Casey Stengel's strategy again called for an intentional walk to the dangerous Duke Snider. Turley's eighth pass. Then Robinson came through with the bell-ringer.

Just as they were a year ago, these two teams now are tied at three games each and the seventh game tomorrow will mean the entire season.

Don Newcombe, (27-7) the huge right-hander who started the second game, is Manager Walter Alston's choice for the crucial spot. Johnny Kucks, (18-9) another of his young right-handers, was Stengel's pick.

Brooklyn had only four hits off Turley, who had carried the string of shutout pitching to 18 (2-3) consecutive innings before he finally gave up a run. One of the hits was a short fly that Slaughter lost in the sun on Gilliam in the third. Another was a double by Labine in the (Continued on page seven)

President Charges Democrats With 'Political Irresponsibility'

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 9 (AP)—President Eisenhower tonight charged the Democrats with "political irresponsibility at its worst" and said they stand for "loose handling of the dollar—therefore, inflation."

Addressing a wildly cheering campaign rally, the President hit hard again at his Democratic rival, Adlai Stevenson, and credited his own Republican administration with a record of "clear accomplishments" toward lasting peace and prosperity.

Eisenhower spoke before an overflow crowd in the 8,000-seat flag-bedecked Hunt Armory. His speech was carried nationwide on television and radio.

Traffic Commission to Hear Students on Parking Ban

Student representatives next Thursday will take their case for abolition of the 2 to 6 a.m. parking ban to the Borough Traffic Commission, which may then recommend action to Borough Council.

This was the course of action recommended last night at an informal meeting of five prominent townsmen, three of them members of the council, and four students, including Daniel Land, Interfraternity Council president, and Lash Howes, Association of Independent PLEDGES, with bulldozer and all, work on the parking lot being built at Alpha Epsilon Pi fraternity. An early morning street parking ban is to go into effect Nov. 1 in State College.

Bonfire Will Highlight Rally

A bonfire will highlight the pep rally for Saturday's homecoming football game with Holy Cross.

The Blue Band will parade through the campus and arrive at the site of the rally, behind the skating rink, at 7:30 p.m. Friday.

A cavalcade of cars, bearing hat society members and cheerleaders, will drive around the campus to the rally, which is sponsored by Blue Key, junior men's hat society, and Cwens, sophomore women's hat society.

Peter Fishburn, president of Blue Key, said yesterday he expects a good turnout at the rally.

Alumni and friends of the University are expected to arrive by the hundreds for the annual homecoming celebrations.

Townpeople and businessmen look forward to peak traffic and business conditions for the period. All hotels and motels in the borough were reported to be filled for the weekend, and rooms are still being requested.

Fraternities will construct lawn displays on the theme "The Fraternity System Serves the University" to add to the celebration. The displays will be judged Friday night and winners will be announced Saturday during the game.

Fifteen Seniors Named Distinguished Cadets

Fifteen senior Military Science cadets have been designated as Distinguished Military Students for the 1956-57 academic year.

They are Eugene Baker, William Barkley, Robert Bishop, John Bowanowski, Robert Grove, Carl Heister, George Kupsky, Albert Manning, Albert Messel, James Musser, Frederick Stiff, Robert Terry, Frank Ulrich, Richard Voelker, and John Young.

Men president. The ban, which would bar all overnight on-street parking in most residential areas, including the general fraternity section, is scheduled to go into effect Nov. 1.

Charles F. LeeDecker, president of the Borough Council, in urging the students to appear before the traffic commission, said "I don't think council would overrule" action the commission might recommend.

Both Land and Howes are members of the commission, whose chairman, Marlin C. Ma-teer, also attended last night's informal meeting.

Council Meeting Nov. 5 The first council meeting after next Thursday's commission meeting is scheduled for Nov. 5, five days after the ban is supposed to go into effect. Any decision concerning enforcement of the ban during this five-day period must be made by Burgess David R. Mackey, it was reported.

In an atmosphere of conciliation, both the students and townsmen agreed that enforcement of the ban would work a hardship on many fraternities and independent men.

Fraternities' Efforts Cited Councilmen George Smith and N. Casey Cummings reported their observations of efforts of fraternities attempting to create enough off-street parking to eliminate the problem. Cummings expressed the belief that "most fraternities have cooperated to the fullest extent" of their abilities to provide off-street parking.

Former council president Charles Schlow called for "a re-study of some of the streets in the area" with an eye toward permitting one-side parking. Smith said he believes some of the signs, which have already been erected in preparation for enforcement of the ban, "will have to come down."

Landis, McMeekin Present Land: William Landis, chairman of the IFC parking committee; and John McMeekin, senior in business administration from Philadelphia, described the situation fraternities would be in under the ban. They said many houses would not be able to create any additional off-street parking.

Howes said that while the present situation is satisfactory, many of the 3500 independent men living in town would be "at the mercy of the outside world" if they had to find other parking facilities.

Getty's Funeral Held Yesterday

Funeral services were held yesterday at Our Lady of Sorrows Catholic Church, Johnstown for Clarence Stephen Getty, a former student of the University.

Getty died of a fractured skull which resulted when a car in which he was a passenger crashed headon into a bridge one and one-half miles west of Tyrone early Sunday morning.

As a student of the University, Getty was enrolled in the College of Liberal Arts. His activities during his two-semester stay included Pollock Council vice president, AIM Social Chairman, AIM Board of Governors, member of Spring Week Committee, and Dorm Unit vice president.

At the end of the spring semester, 1955, he transferred to St. Francis College.

The President criticized the opposition on many fronts and launched a fresh attack on Stevenson proposals that H-bomb tests be halted and the military draft be ended, both under certain conditions.

Eisenhower got a howling welcome to Pittsburgh, a traditionally Democratic city, on his arrival by plane from Washington this afternoon. A crowd of many thousands roared a welcome along the 14-mile drive from the airport to a downtown hotel.

Big Crowd Drawn There was another big crowd on the streets tonight, shouting greetings as the President rode bare-headed and standing in an open car from the hotel to the armory. Wearing a light topcoat as protection against a chill wind, Eisenhower stretched both arms aloft in familiar campaign salute.

At the armory giant searchlights pinpointed a big balloon moored overhead, an "Ike" sign on one side and "Dick"—for Vice President Richard Nixon—on the other.

Eisenhower was introduced by Republican Sen. James H. Duff of Pennsylvania, running for re-election, who a few moments before touched off a round of boos in the audience by referring to former President Truman as "haphazard Harry."

Ike Plugs Duff Eisenhower plugged for re-election of Duff calling him one of the "stalwarts" of the administration. He also urged Pennsylvania voters to elect the state's other GOP candidates for Congress.
