

Dulles, Shepilov Split Over Suez

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Oct. 9 (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Soviet Foreign Minister Dmitri T. Shepilov split sharply today over Dulles' call for a Suez settlement based on the principle of insulating the canal from national policies.

The disagreement of the United States and the Soviet Union thus was thrust into the spotlight as the UN Security Council ended public debate and began secret talks in a desperate search for a Suez solution.

"The heart of the problem," Dulles said in a 26-minute speech to the Council, "is acceptance of the principle there should be a system to insure that the canal cannot be used by any country as an instrument of its distinctly national policy."

Talking to newsmen in the Council lounge after Dulles spoke, Shepilov rejected this principle as a cover for internationalizing the canal. He said any international group created to run the canal would, in the state of the world today, be influenced by the politics of the countries on the board. Furthermore, he said, the Soviet Union rejects international operation of the canal.

Dulles expressed some conditional interest in a suggestion by Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi of Egypt for a group of reasonable size to attempt to negotiate a settlement. Dulles rejected, on the other hand, a proposal by Shepilov that a group of six or eight members, picked on the basis of proper balance, attempt such negotiations.

Dulles criticized Shepilov. Speaking with sudden heat, Dulles charged that Shepilov, by thus disregarding the users of the canal, wants to establish a committee "so constituted that we can know in advance that it can never agree."

"It is not without precedent that a government feels that it can gain by perpetuating controversy," Dulles said, waving his hands in a gesture. "We have a proverb about 'fishing in troubled waters.' But it is considered respectable to veil such purpose. Rarely has a scheme to perpetuate differences been so candidly revealed."

Helicopters Being Used
PITTSBURGH, Oct. 9 (AP)—Regular helicopter service was inaugurated today between the Greater Pittsburgh Airport and Pittsburgh's North Side by the Miller Air Lines.

Six flights are scheduled daily from the heliport located on West Robinson St. The flight to the airport takes 10 minutes.

Poland Official Falls From Power
VIENNA, Austria, Oct. 9 (AP)—Poland's Deputy Premier Hilary Minc fell from power today as dismissals stemming from the Poznan bread-and-freedom riots reached into high government levels.

Radio Warsaw announced Minc resigned both his deputy premier post and his membership in the Communist party Politburo "because of bad health." Until recently Minc was regarded as Poland's top economist, responsible for the country's first six-year plan.

Earlier, the Warsaw radio said four undersecretaries of state in the Polish Ministry for Machine Industry had been dismissed. The dismissals brought to nearly a score the number of Polish government officials losing their posts since the Poznan riots in June.

The Warsaw broadcast said Minc wrote a resignation letter to the Polish Council of Ministers and to the Politburo citing bad health. Both accepted the resignation, the radio added.

Plane Sets Speed Record Before Crash In Flight
SPOKANE, Wash., Oct. 9 (AP)—The X2 experimental rocket plane was reported today to have set a speed record just before it crashed in a test flight Sept. 27.

Secretary of the Air Force Donald Quarles, noting that the pilot, Capt. Milburn G. Apt, was killed in the flight, said that "instrument records that were preserved" showed that Apt, "shortly before his death, was flying faster than any other human being has been known to fly."

Electric Portable Typewriter
NEW YORK, Oct. 9 (AP)—Smith-Corona Inc. today demonstrated what it said was the first electrified portable typewriter ever produced.

8 Brinks Robbers Get 'Life' Terms
BOSTON, Oct. 9 (AP)—Eight men were sentenced to life in prison today for the $1,219,000 robbery of the Brink's Inc. money transfer firm nearly seven years ago.

The prisoners—all from Greater Boston—heard Judge Felix Forté meter out the sentences in Superior Court without a trace of emotion.

Led out under heavy guard to begin their terms in the new Massachusetts Correctional Institution at Walpole were: Anthony Pino, Adolf "Jazz" Maffie, Michael V. Geagan, Thomas F. Richardson, James I. Faberty, Henry D. Baker, Vincent J. Costa, and Joseph F. McGinnis.

Sentence to 8-10 Years
All but McGinnis were given the same sentences. In addition to the life terms, they were ordered to serve 8 to 10 years for breaking and entering and 2 years at hard labor.

Normally, life terms are eligible for parole consideration after 15 years. The additional sentences are to be served after the life terms.

"Brains of Robbery"
McGinnis, described by the prosecution as "the brains" of the robbery, was given eight concurrent life terms for being an accessory before the fact of armed robbery. In addition he was sentenced to 8 to 10 years for being an accessory before breaking and entering and 2½ years to 3 years for receiving stolen goods.

Duff Slams Stevenson Atom Policy

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 9 (AP)—Sen. James H. Duff, Republican seeking re-election, said today a suggestion by Adlai Stevenson, Democratic presidential candidate, that the U.S. take the lead in halting the testing of nuclear weapons is "fantastic."

In a speech at the Pittsburgh Press Club, Duff said that to stop testing of atomic and hydrogen weapons would give the Russians an opportunity to forge ahead of the U.S. and "possibly open the way for an attack."

The former Pennsylvania governor also described as "wicked nonsense" what he said was a suggestion by Stevenson that Stalin's death was responsible for the end of the Korean War. He added:

"If Stevenson thinks that the Communists have gone soft since Stalin's death he is the only informed person I know who thinks so."

On the draft question, Duff said that a statement by Stevenson held out "false hopes" for the end of compulsory military service. Duff said President Eisenhower is "more qualified to direct the military defenses of this nation than one not equipped through experience."

'Are They Coming Or Going, Mother?'

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Mrs. John Fredericks has given up talking over Sunday School lessons with her daughter.

The little girl came home and said, "The teacher told us that when people are born they are dust and that they return to dust when they die. Is that true, Mommy?"

Mrs. Fredericks replied that if it was taught at Sunday School it was true. "Why do you ask, honey?"

"Well," the youngster drawled, "I just looked under my bed and someone is either coming or going."

Sunday Set Aside For Grandmother

With knitting needles upraised and complete snapshot records of two generations in hand, Pennsylvania's grandmothers are to have their day.

Gov. George M. Leader has designated Sunday as National Grandmother's Day for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in compliance with an official request submitted by the officers and members of the National Federation of Grandmother Clubs of America.

There has been no statement saying how the day should be observed.

'Undue Delegation of Duties' Lashed Out At by Stevenson

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 9 (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson said tonight that "the undue delegation" of presidential responsibilities by the President "is hazardous at any time, let alone times such as these."

He added that the present administration is "narrowly representative of a limited interest" and that the Democrats will insist that problems be met by "an executive who assumes the full responsibilities" of his office.

The Democratic presidential nominee said in a speech prepared for a political rally here tonight that the Republican administration "has not told the people the truth" about the "crucial facts of history."

Office 'Diminished'
"And I say whatever the reason that the undue delegation of responsibility and authority by the President is hazardous at any time, let alone times such as these, and diminishes the office of the presidency."

Stevenson flew to Seattle from earlier speeches at Great Falls, Mont., and Boise, Idaho, to pitch most of his talk on the problems raised by the explosive power of nuclear energy.

He said that his suggestion that the country start to find a way to stop the testing for huge hydrogen bombs had been set by the President and other Republicans "only with sneers and astonishing distortion of what I said, and with implications that even talking about this prejudices the nation's security."

He said that his proposal was made "without criticism" of the Eisenhower administration "policy of hydrogen weapon development which President Truman began."

'Completely Willing'
"It reflects a desire that I am sure is deep in the minds of all mankind," Stevenson said. "I have indicated my complete willingness to accept any better proposal for accomplishing the same purpose but I can't accept the apparent administration position that we are powerless to do anything to stop this headlong race for extinction."

Miss Molly Justice

OF the parties we photographed this past Sat. nite, the formals held by the Tri Deltis and the Phi Gams were most worthy of comment, not to mention the lovely Misses Strauss and Quann.

CONCERNING the "Bermuda Trip." Customarily a Collegian staff member selects the winner from a box of names of the girls whose picture of or name appeared in our column. This year two copies of a girl's name will be placed in the box if her portrait is used in our column, thus doubling her chances of selection. Four copies of a girl's name will be placed in the box if she wins one of the "Queen" contests with a portrait taken at this studio. And of course, name mention in this column in itself makes a girl eligible. Points are cumulative as well.

A portrait for Christmas usually begets a portrait for Christmas.

THE best Christmas portraits are rarely taken in November or December.

ANYBODY looking for a couple anxious to chaperone their first party???

WE wonder the motive of the idea that moved the deadline of the Jr. Prom Queen pix from Oct. 24th to Oct. 16. We know of some really beautiful girls who will be out on a limb.
