Lions 14-Point Underdogs In Ohio State Struggle; 84,000 Expected for Tilt

By FRAN FANUCCI
Collegian Sports Editor

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Oct. 20—The Nittany Lion football team, sporting a 2-1 record, meets what is undoubtedly the most highly-rated team on its schedule here today when it takes the field against Ohio State before an estimated 84,000 people—the largest crowd ever to see a Lion team in a regular

Open Houses To Climax IFC Rushing

Open houses from 2 to 5 p.m. tomorrow at the 54 fraternities at the University will climax the Interfraternity Council's freshmen rushing program this week.

Hugh Moore, IFC rushing chairman, has urged all freshmen and new students to visit as many houses during the afternoon as they possibly can.

Gives Wider Selection
Visiting more houses will give them a broader background and a wider selection of fraternities to choose from, he said.

A similar open house program will be conducted from 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 11, with all houses participating.

Moore said he expects an exceptionally large number of freshmen to visit the fraternities tomorrow, judging from the "tremendous turnout" of new students for other events in the rushing program earlier this week.

Program Began Tuesday
The program began Tuesday with the showing of the film, "A Toast to Our Brother," and the distribution of the IFC rushing magazine, Penn State Fraternities.

Moore said most of the freshmen—many more than were expected—attended the meetings. They filled out rushing registration cards at the conclusion of the talks.

Freshmen and new students who did not attend the meetings have been requested to fill out cards at the Hetzel Union desk by Monday.

Alumni Re-elect Fund Chairman

George S. Rose of New York City, secretary of the American Iron and Steel Institute, has been re-elected to his second term as general chairman of the University Alumni Fund.

Assisting Rose with the 1957 fund will be Robert W. Ostermayer, of Clairton, president and general manager of the Pennsylvania Industrial Chemical Corporation, who has been named vice chairman. Ostermayer had been serving since 1953 as chairman for the College of Chemistry and Physics. New college chairman named for the 1957 fund include Senator Jo Hays, of State College, education, replacing Mrs. Marguerite Washabaugh, New Castle; Fred W. Mowrey, New Kensington, chemistry and physics, replacing Ostermayer; and Aileen H. Konhauser, Boalsburg, home economics, succeeding Mrs. Helen Rishel Swank, Palmyra.

Officers for the Alumni Fund are elected by the Executive Board of the Alumni Association.

Players Tickets on Sale

Tickets for Players' production "My 3 Angels" are on sale at the Hetzel Union desk.

The play will be presented at 8 tonight at Center Stage. Price is $1.

Tricksters Spoil Safety Record; Prank 'Kills' 40

Did you know there were 40 traffic deaths in the borough of State College in the last week?

That is, there were 40 deaths according to the traffic record sign in front of the State College Post Office.

In reality the borough is very proud of its record of no traffic fatalities in eight years.

The sign, put up to encourage good driving, had originally read traffic accidents 120, injuries 43, and deaths 0. Then in the last week a major change came about and the sign read: traffic accidents 20, injuries 31, deaths 40.

The police department said yesterday that the work of the prankster will definitely be corrected.

Committee Ok's Continued Use Of Vote-Docks

All-University Elections Committee last night approved continued use of the same procedures for vote docking and party platform approval that it used last year.

The committee felt that vote docking was justifiable because a candidate could have obtained a portion of his votes by using a plank which had been turned down by the committee as unfeasible and which could never be put into operation.

Fining Idea Rejected
The idea of fining a candidate who campaigned on a platform that had been turned down by the committee was rejected as it was felt that a small fine would not be a sufficient penalty and that a large fine would be uncollectable.

The procedure for party platform approval was felt to exercise some control over political parties, and for this reason it was felt that the policy should be maintained.

Party Platform Reviewed
The committee also reviewed the Campus party platform, but no action was taken. The Lion party platform was not submitted in time for the meeting.

The Elections committee will meet with party clique chairmen to review platforms at 6 p.m. tomorrow in 9 Carnegie.

Hubzapoppin to Feature Todd-Torrence Quintet

The Todd-Torrence Quintet, a progressive jazz group, will hold the spotlight in tonight's Hubzapoppin' show, which will be broadcast from 8 to 8:30 in the Hetzel Union assembly room.

Featured in the combo are Bill McGovern, drums; Astin Wells, piano; Mel Black, bass; and Ken Todd and Chuck Torrence harmonizing on tenor sax.

Party Meetings Canceled

Campus and Lion parties will not meet tomorrow night. Their next meeting will be on Oct. 28.

season game. The Buckeyes—undefeated so far this year with wins over Nebraska, Stanford, and Illinois—are 14-point favorites to make the Lions their fourth straight victim.

This is the first game between the two teams since 1912. That year the Lions fielded their first unbeaten, untied eleven and trounced the Buckeyes, 37-0, in a game cut short by a fist fight.

No fist fights are scheduled today, but a high-scoring contest could emerge since both teams pack potent offenses. Lion Coach Rip Engle and Buckeye Coach Woody Hayes are students of the split-T attack, although Engle has been also using the straight-T in the last three games.

Radio Station WMAJ will carry the Lion-Buckeye game beginning at 3 p.m. (EDT), with Mickey Bergstein handling the play-by-play.

Hayes has one of the most awesome ground attacks in the country, good enough, in fact, to give his team fifth place in the Associated Press poll. The Buckeyes have thrown only 14 passes this year.

But Ohio State's "passless offense" ignores the pass to a certain extent and then fakes the opposition with a running attack and instead uses the pass for long yardage.

The only defense to stop this type attack, according to the Lion coaching staff, is alertness. The Nittany backs will have to be on guard every minute to stop the unorthodox playing of the Buckeyes.

But the rough schedule the Buckeyes have been playing is beginning to take its toll. Hayes indicated earlier this week that he may have to switch starting tackle and co-captain Bill Michael to end because his two "tiny" ends Fred Kriss and Leo Brown—187 pounds and 168 pounds respectively—are getting banged around and are suffering from head injuries.

WDFM Will Present 'Music With a Past'

"Music With a Past" will be presented by student radio station WDFM's "Musical Showcase" at 8 tonight.

The melodies of several recent popular songs have been adapted from the classics and great musical scores. These songs and their classical counterpart will be played.

Polish Titoism Brings Soviets Running

WARSAW, Poland, Oct. 19—Nikita S. Khrushchev and a trio of top-ranking Soviet army leaders arrived suddenly and unheralded in Warsaw today in utmost secrecy, apparently to apply brakes to Poland's headlong advance toward independent Communism.

There was no official announcement of the Soviet Communist party boss' arrival, but authoritative sources said he was driven in from a military airport just as the Polish Communist Central committee was restoring once-condemned and jailed Titoists to power.

The re-emergence of men like Wladislaw Gomulka, symbol of national communism in Poland, was a direct threat to Konstantin Rokossovsky, the Polish-born Soviet marshal installed by Stalin as Polish defense minister. Rokossovsky may be toppled from his post.

The arrival of Khrushchev is said to have angered Gomulka, who was described as viewing the Soviet visit at this moment—with the Polish party under great public pressure to show its independence—a highly tactless maneuver.

3 Accompany Khrushchev
Accompanying Khrushchev, authoritative reports said, were Marshal Georgi Zhukov, the Soviet defense minister and a close friend of Rokossovsky; Marshal Ivan S. Konev, supreme commander of the Warsaw Pact military

Cabinet's Decision Supports Johnson

All-University Cabinet in an executive session Thursday night approved the retention of William Johnson, chairman of the Elections Committee, after Lion party clique chairman Bryon LaVan asked his resignation.

LaVan accused Johnson of not performing the duties of Elections Committee, and this, he said, was detrimental to the Lion party. LaVan also charged Johnson with too much control of election technicalities.

Cabinet moved into an executive session after LaVan presented his proposal at the general meeting. The session, which is closed to observing students and the press, was called because, as a Cabinet member said, "an official's reputation may be at stake."

Vote of Confidence
After discussion on LaVan's charges, Cabinet gave Johnson a vote of confidence because, the group said the accusations were nebulous and were not supported with fact.

LaVan claimed that Lion party at Sunday night's meeting lost 150 people because Elections Committee was 15 minutes late in checking matriculation cards required for attendance.

It was noted by the Collegian reporter Sunday night that the Campus party meeting was nearly an hour late getting under way also due to congestion at the entrance.

Confusion 'for Years'
Robert Bahrenburg, All-University president, explained that confusion in setting up registration tables has been happening for years and this does not necessarily show prejudice on the part of Johnson.

Regarding smooth functioning, Bahrenburg said that even Cabinet members have trouble arriving at meetings on time.

Has Enforcement Authority
In reply to LaVan's charge of Elections Committee "dictatorship," Cabinet agreed that Johnson has the authority to enforce the Elections Code. This includes setting time and dates of elections and deadlines for the submission of the party constitution and campaign platform.

Bahrenburg said after the session that both Lion and Campus parties have the right to express complaints and they will be heard without bias by Elections Committee or Cabinet.

Among 25 members of Cabinet, he said, only seven had past political affiliation and this was immediately dropped when the office was taken.

BusAd Council Blanks Available to Freshmen

Self-nomination blanks for freshmen candidates for the Business Administration Student Council will be available until Friday in 106 Sparks.

A 2.2 all-university average is needed for second semester freshmen to become candidates.

5 Finalists For Queen Announced

Joan Kreider, Ann McKnight, Sally Lou Rolston, Karen Bixler, and Nancy Seaman have been selected as Junior Prom Queen finalists by a committee of ten juniors.

The Prom Queen will be chosen from the five finalists by a faculty board consisting of Dr. Albert Christ-Janer, director of the School of the Arts; Dr. Ruth Ayres, professor of clothing and textiles; and Edward R. Gilkey, instructor in speech.

To Be Crowned at Prom
The queen will be crowned at the beginning of the second half of the prom by Harry Martini, junior class president.

Miss Kreider, sponsored by Beta Theta Pi, is a fifth semester home economics major from Lancaster; Miss McKnight, sponsored by Phi Gamma Delta, is a fifth semester home economics major from Pittsburgh; Miss Rolston, sponsored by Kappa Kappa Gamma, is a fifth semester arts and letters major from Harrisburg.

Sponsored by AGR
Miss Bixler, sponsored by Alpha Gamma Rho, is a fifth semester home economics major from Huntingdon Valley; and Miss Seaman, sponsored by Alpha Epsilon Pi, is a fifth semester applied arts major from Ebensburg.

The Prom Queen candidates were judged on a point system on the basis of beauty, poise, posture, and personality. The five finalists were selected from approximately 45 candidates.

Skies to Stay Clear Today

With fair and mild conditions forecast for today, University Park should enjoy a pleasant Saturday.

Following predicted freezing temperatures for last night, the mercury is expected to climb to a high of near 58 degrees today. Clear and sunny conditions will prevail throughout the day.

The outlook for the remainder of the weekend is not so bright. Advance conditions show that showers are to be expected in the area tomorrow. Along with the rain will be slightly rising temperatures.

Yesterday's temperature readings showed a high of 60 degrees at 1 p.m. and a morning low of near 30 degrees.

Tonight the temperature should again drop to near the freezing point.

UBA to Return Books Beginning Next Week

The Used-Book Agency will return books and money from 3 to 5 p.m. Monday and Friday.

Books and money not claimed by next week, will be forfeited, according to Francis Tapresto, UBA manager.
