STATE COLLEGE, PA., TUESDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 23, 1956

FIVE CENTS

Happy Players, a Happy Coach

'Respectful' 2000 Welcome Gridders, Engle on Return

The some 2000 students who showed up Sunday morning at Recreation Hall to welcome back a hero team seemed quite different from the thousands who danced, sang, yelled Saturday afternoon after the game.

It was difficult for an observer to believe they were the same students, and most of them were. But, again it was not difficult to see that they were one in the same.

The school spirit was there just as much as it was Saturday after the game. The joy of the upset victory had turned into respect for Coach Rip Engle and his "team," the "spunkiest bunch of kids" Engle said he ever coached.

The students stood quiet as Engle, the silver fox of Mount Nittany, praised his team. "It was a team victory all the way," he said.

Without the aid of a public address system, Engle could still be heard far from where he was standing.

Engle, as well as the team.

was noticeably tired. The best they could manage was a grin. But that grin told the whole story.

And the team seemed equally as proud of the students who showed up as the students were proud of the team.

Part of Engle's solemnness undoubtedly came from what he and his "spunky kids" faced ahead. Such tough opponents as West Virginia, Syracuse, and Pittsburgh loomed ahead.

Penn State, Engle and his

"kids" knew, was now a much more prestige-building target for these teams. They would be out to upset the team which had upset the vaunted Buckeyes.

Engle had fine words for all members of his team, even the ones who saw no action. "He would have been there willing if we would have needed him," he said over and over again.

As soon as the crowd had assembled, Engle walked slowly to the middle of the Rec Hall steps. The crowd greeted him with cheers. He raised his hands to silence them—at least momentarily.

Looking over the crowd, he said, in a slow, deliberate tone, but with a big grin on his face: "We're a lot happier than we look. It's just that the boys are awfully tired and happy—and a little sore here and there."

"There are lots of bloody heads—unbowed, you might say. I hope you people are awfully proud of these boys."

Engle could not have had any doubts as to the answer to his last statement, for it was met with the morning's biggest ovation.—Ed Dubbs, Collegian City Editor.

Football Movies Will Be Shown

Movies of the Penn State-Ohio State football game will be shown at 7 tonight in 119 Osmond.

Because of an expected overflow crowd, the movies will be shown several times if necessary.

John Chaffetz, head football manager, will narrate the movies, which are sponsored by the Varsity S Club.

Khrushchev Seen Falling

WARSAW, Oct. 22 (AP)—Polish Communist sources reported today Warsaw's political upheaval threatens to topple Nikita S. Khrushchev from his Communist leadership in the Soviet Union. And more shakeups, hitting at Moscow domination, are in prospect here to bring the government in line with the party's new "independent" course.

Poland's parliament opens tomorrow and will remain in session until Nov. 20. The government shakeups—possibly including the removal of Konstantin Rokossovsky as defense minister—may be announced through the Parliament in a few days. Rokossovsky, Polish-born Soviet marshal, was installed by Stalin in the Warsaw post.

Moscow Reaction

Like the resounding shakeup in the Polish party which gave the reins to tough, anti-Stalinist Wladyslaw Gomulka, the government reshuffle will have echoes in Moscow. The Kremlin reaction may already be taking shape.

Informants within the United Workers Communist party here offered this analysis of the effects in Moscow of the Warsaw revolt:

"Three M's" Join

A triumvirate of the "three M's"—Deputy Premiers V. M. Molotov, A. I. Mikoyan and Georgi Malenkov—have joined in a move to eject Khrushchev as first secretary boss of the Soviet party. The three are said to regard him as bungling, over-impetuous and loose-tongued, and to fear such tendencies could bring disaster on the Soviet world position and the Communist cause.

The violence of Khrushchev's denunciation of Stalin at the 20th Soviet party congress in February is believed to have speeded up the movement toward independence from Moscow which erupted in Poland in the past week and which threatens now to break out in Hungary.

Strange Partnership

The sources acknowledged that the "three M's" would be strange bedfellows in any move regarding party leadership.

Former Foreign Minister Molotov is regarded as the least pliable of Soviet leaders in his thinking. Mikoyan is believed to be in sympathy with a "go easy" policy. Malenkov is generally located somewhere in between the two. Identified with the policy of more consumer goods for the public, Malenkov was ousted as premier in 1955.

Governor Sought for Career Day

Governor George M. Leader has been invited by the Business Administration Student Council to speak at its annual Career Day.

Council president Edmond Kramer said last night at a meeting that the invitation of Governor Leader has not been accepted as yet.

Career Day is scheduled to take place the second, third or fourth Tuesday of the spring semester.

Last year U.S. Secretary of Labor James R. Mitchell was the guest speaker.

Faculty Challenged Again

A challenge was extended to the faculty of the College of Business Administration by the council for a touch football game to be held soon.

The council hopes to "regain respect" through this game, Kramer said.

The faculty defeated the student council in a softball game, 16 to 11, on October 16.

Convocation Planned

Personnel of the Corning Glass Company will be speakers at a Management Convocation from 3 to 4 p.m. Nov. 8 in 121 Sparks, it was announced.

Six appointments made at the meeting. They are Mike Walker, chairman of the public relations committee; Judy Goodrich, member; Donald Woods, chairman, management convocation committee, and Janet Ours, Bill Nelson, Frank McFadden, members.
