Nominations for council positions in the Colleges of Engineering and Architecture, and Mineral Industries will remain open until 5 p.m. Monday. Council nominations for the Colleges of Chemistry and Physics, and Home Economics will close at noon Monday.

will visit the University as part of its presidentially approved tour of the North Central States. This is the only tour in which the band can participate this year.

Under the leadership of Capt. Albert Schoepper, the band is known to millions through its two weekly coast-to-coast radio broadcasts, its frequent television appearances and its concert series in the nation's capital.

Established in 1798 The Marine Band has, down through the years, come to be known unofficially as "the President's Own." President John Adams approved a bill for its establishment in 1798 and it continues today as the official White House Band.

In its nation-wide tours, conducted annually except in wartime, the band had visited every state in the union to play before audiences both young and old. It has also visited many expositions and world fairs, including the Chicago Columbian Exposition and the Omaha Trans-Mississippi Exposition.

Tours Began in 1891 The annual tours, which started under the direction of John Philip Sousa in 1891, have given Americans living outside the Washington area an opportunity to see and hear the world famous band, whose history goes back farther than that of the capital city itself.

The band has expressed musically the greeting of our nation to visiting royalty and foreign dignitaries. It has supplied the musical setting for every White House wedding, including those of Nellie Grant and Alice Roosevelt. It has played for all official functions and all important history-making events since its founding.

Among the foreign notables for whom the band has played are King George and Queen Elizabeth of England, Queen Elizabeth II of England, Queen Juliana of the Netherlands and the Crown Prince and Crown Princess of Sweden.

Poet Cites Immortality Of Poetry

Dr. Richard Eberhart, poet in residence at Dartmouth, said Thursday night that poetry is a form of knowledge and will always stay in the minds of men.

He spoke at the first Liberal Arts Lecture Series of the semester in Schwab Auditorium.

Comparing poetry to a mobile, which is suspended between a ceiling and a floor, Dr. Eberhart said that poetry is between heaven and earth, and contains a solidity and duration which may still change.

Emitted From Soul He said that though poetry is based on words, it should be emitted from the soul. A poem should be able to do something for the reader, he said.

"The Ground Hog" was the first poem Dr. Eberhart read. He said it was written from an experience of his in Pennsylvania and that it was his best-known poem.

'All Things Must Pass' On the surface the poem was about the death of a ground hog, but it really told about the impermanence of man and civilization, reaching the conclusion that all things must pass, he said.

Dr. Eberhart read poems about love, life, and amusing incidents. They included "The Fury of Aerial Bombardment," "Song of Remembrance," "The Horse Chestnut Tree," "Cousin Florence," and "Clocks."

Educators to View Closed Circuit TV

Fifty members of the Pennsylvania Association of Colleges and Universities will visit the closed circuit television experimental facilities in Sparks on Monday.

The annual meeting of the association will be held at the University tomorrow through Tuesday.

Christ-Janer to Speak Before AAUP Tuesday

The University chapter of the American Association of University Professors will meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Mineral Sciences auditorium.

Dr. Albert Christ-Janer, director of the School of the Arts, will speak on "America's New Painters."

Borough to Have New Yule Lights

State College will have new lighting for its Christmas display this year.

Fifty large illuminated candles, to be mounted on existing street light standards, will replace the usual strings of lights across College avenue and S. Allen street.

The project is expected to cost about $7,000. The cost will be shared by businessmen, professional people, and other residents. The University will purchase and erect the same kind of candles on the north side of College avenue.
