

Nittany Harriers Meet Visiting Jaspers Today

By VINCE CAROCCI

The Penn State cross-country team will be out to regain its winning ways today when it meets Manhattan's strong harrier contingent on the University golf course.

Meet time is scheduled for 1:30 p.m. The Lions boast a 2-1 record going into today's run—the loss coming at the hands of Michigan State last week. Previously, the harriers had whipped Cornell and Navy.

Coach Chick Werner will again start the same men he has been using for the past three weeks. Ed Moran, Fred Kerr, and Clem Schoenebeck—all sophomores—are still rated the top entries on the squad.

Captain Don Woodrow, sophomores, Bob Thompson, and Jay Kirby, and junior Alan Jones back the top three with senior Ron Lewis also listed in the starting lineup. Werner may use or two other runners, but that will not be settled until meet time.

Schoenebeck and Kerr played a prominent part in the Lions' two wins this season by finishing in a tie for second against Cornell and for first, along with Moran, against Navy. Moran did not finish in the Cornell meet because of an unexpected stomach ailment.

Last week, all three could not keep up with the tremendous pace set by the Spartan squad, Kerr being the first Lion to cross the finish line for a sixth place.

The other Lion entries give the squad a fair amount of team balance, although none have finished higher than fifth thus far.

Manhattan figures to be another tough roadblock on the way to a successful season for the Lions. The Jaspers have won three meets, and a look at the records gives a fairly accurate idea that they have a very well-balanced squad to run against the "Wernermen."

Gerard Malloy seems to be the best harrier on the Jasper team with two first places in three meets to his credit. He won the Dartmouth race in 27:02 and followed that up with a 26:31 first against Seton Hall. The Jaspers won both encounters easily with identical 15-50 scores.

Last week, they beat Providence 25-36. Malloy fell to sixth, but Ed McAllister, Phil Rios, and Ed McLaughlin took up the slack to lead the Jaspers home.

Manhattan has recorded a phenomenal record in its three victories. It won the first seven places against Dartmouth, the first 11 places against Cornell, and 10 of the 13 against Providence. A team with this to back them up can not be taken too lightly.

Brooklyn Cops 6th Consecutive Tour Win, 14-0

OSAKA, Japan, Nov. 2 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers keep on winning, the Japanese critics keep right on harping and the attendance keeps climbing as the belittled National League champions continue to blast away against Japan's best professional baseball teams.

Eight home runs rocketed off Dodger bats today as Brooklyn crushed an all-star team 14-0. The victory was the sixth in succession for the Dodgers after they had been held to a split in the first four of the 20-game oriental tour.

Last October 19 after the Tokyo Yomiuri Giants' 5-4 victory over Brooklyn, the Dodgers' second loss in three days, Japanese baseball officials expressed their disappointment of the former world champions.

"Japanese players have nothing to learn from the Dodgers," said Masao Yuasa, former manager of a Japanese baseball team. "They are even weaker than rumored at bat against low outside pitches and we are very disappointed, to say the least."

Lions Tough on Orange

Penn State will be reaching for its fourth straight victory over Syracuse when the two elevens collide at Syracuse Saturday. Syracuse won five in a row, from 1931 through 1935, and the Lions returned the compliment by winning eight in a row, 1941 through 1949.

Sam Valentine, Penn State football captain and guard, played both in the backfield and on the line at DuBois (Pa.) High School.

Lyon Fires 586 Series In Fraternity Pin Action

Fraternity "C" bowling action last night featured a 586 effort by Ed Lyon of Beta Theta Pi, while Sigma Phi Epsilon's Ken Fasick rolled a 550 set in "D" competition.

Lyon put together games of 194, 192, and 200 to spark his quintet to a 4-0 victory over Acacia. Tom Green led the losers with a 178 single and 474 series.

Fasnick's fine series came in a losing cause, as Cal Emery's 205 game and 527 total paced Beaver House to a 4-0 win over SPE.

Other results: ("C")—Jim Boyles of Sigma Phi Alpha recorded a 208 high single, and felled 538 pins in the three-game set to lead his quintet to a 3-1 win over Sigma Nu.

Joe Slotnick and John Baillis combined to bowl Pi Kappa Alpha to a 3-1 conquest of Chi Phi. Both keggers turned in 223 games, and Baillis grabbed match laurels with a 528 series.

Alpha Gamma Rho scored a 4-0 decision over Zeta Beta Tau, with Martin Sedlak (179) and Girdon Buck (472 series) leading the way; Harland Stollar (177-486) paced Phi Kappa Sigma to a 3-1 victory over Delta Sigma Phi; and Art Moyer's 160 and 447 topped the Lambda Chi Alpha scoring column in a 3-1 beating of Theta Kappa Phi, although the losers' Bob Oleski took match honors with 199 and 486.

("D")—Sigma Tau Gamma won a 4-0 verdict from Sigma Alpha Epsilon, with Joe Wible (172-424) showing the way; Tommy Holmes (187-504) led the Pi Kappa Phi five to a 4-0 shutout of Phi Kappa

Defensively, the current Penn State football team is rated the most rugged in Rip Engle's seven years at the helm.

Tau; Beta Sigma Rho chalked up a 3-1 triumph over Alpha Phi Delta with Gerry Green (167-462) leading the winners and Phi Sigma Kappa's duo of Pete Oechslin (170) and Jim Schuyler (472) sparked it to a 4-0 whitewash win over Alpha Rho Chi. The losers' Monroe Frey turned in a 213 game.

22 Coeds Leave For Hockey Trials

Twenty-two coed field hockey players left this morning for Wilson College at Chambersburg to compete with five other teams and try out for berths on the Central Pennsylvania field hockey team.

Four college teams and two club teams will play on three Wilson fields. They are Gettysburg, Wilson, Lock Haven, Penn State, and the Lancaster and Harrisburg field hockey clubs. Games begin at 9:30 a.m.

The Nittany Lions took along two teams—all members of the field hockey club.

Two regular teams and a team of substitutes will be chosen. These three teams will try out Saturday at Harrisburg, for the Mid East field hockey team.

Engles Jinx Buckeyes

An Engle figured in each of Penn State's two football victories over Ohio State. L. F. "Dad" Engle, retired county farm agent, of Waynesburg, was a tackle on the 1912 team that licked the Bucks, 37-0, and his nephew, Charles A. "Rip" Engle, was at the helm in 1956 when the Lions upset the Bucks, 7-6.

Out On a Limb

Lucky Lou Prato makes his supreme bid this week to overtake Collegian Football Poll leader Vicious Vince Carocci.

Currently running two behind, Lucky Lou crawls way out to the brittle branches, picking Navy over Notre Dame, Pitt over Minnesota, and Auburn over Florida.

Neither Fearless Fran Fanucci nor the coaches, (represented this week by Jim O'Hora) can possibly gain the top spot this time, having chosen almost identically with Vicious Vince.

The only other 'Jonesme' pick was O'Hora's Alabama over Georgia. Lucky Lou and O'Hora like Purdue over Illinois and Penn over Harvard. Fearless Fran and Lucky Lou agree on TCU.

When asked why he chose Navy and Pitt, Lucky Lou remarked: "Any team that rolls up 54 points must be good! (Navy, 54-6, over Penn). And as for Pitt—ah, they're my boys!" Well, what more could you ask for??
