

Feel Okay, Stud?

Carocci Retains Lead in Weekly Football Poll

Vicious Vince Carocci, like Arnie Sowell, will compete only to the point to which he is extended, or "pushed," as they say.

When Lucky Lou Prato came up with 11 correct predictions in the Daily Collegian's seventh football poll Vicious Vince needed 10 right to retain his slim lead. He got his 10 right and now leads Lucky Lou by a scant game.

Lucky Lou was the only one to forecast the Navy victory over the Irish, but was also the only one to fall with Pitt and Auburn. Everyone else lost out on the Purdue-Illinois tie and UCLA's win over Stanford.

Fearless Fran Fanucci posted an 11-4 to stay in third, one behind Lucky Lou. Jim O'Hora kept the coaches four games behind the leader, choosing 10 correctly. The standings are as follows: Vicious Vince, 69-36 (.657); Lucky Lou, 68-37 (.648); Fearless Fran, 67-38 (.638); and the coaches, 65-40 (.619).

In addition to the pair that everyone missed, Fearless Fran and Vicious Vince underrated Navy and Penn, while Vicious' fifth mistake was in choosing Baylor over Texas Christian. O'Hora lost out on Notre Dame and Baylor also, besides flubbing on Alabama, who lost.

Lucky Lou claims he is the rightful owner of the top spot in the poll and has sent for Pitt's movie version of the Minnesota game to use as his proof. However, Vicious and Fearless have sent for the Minnesota movies as a counter-move, and the standings will likely remain as stated.

Supporters, 38ers, DTD Swim Victors

The Nittany Supporters were the only team that managed to sweep all the first place spots, but the Nittany 38ers and Delta Tau Delta had enough second and third place points to join the Supporters in the march to the IM swimming semi-finals.

The Supporters romped the Stans, 27-13, the 38ers nipped Jordan Two, 22-17, and the Deltas got past Alpha Sigma Phi, 23-18.

The Supporters had all the firsts in their meet, with Bill Hadley finishing off three. He garnered honors in the 60-yard breaststroke and the diving event, while anchoring the relay team to the final win. Other winners were George Willock in the 60-yard freestyle and Don Dinsmore in the backstroke. Willock, Dinsmore and Dan Magle combined with Hadley for the relay triumph. Emery Gardosh was top man for the losers with seconds in the free style and breaststroke. Hayward Melville also picked up a pair of runner-ups.

The 38ers had a much tougher time of it with a rugged Jordan outfit. The meet was deadlocked going into the relay and the 38ers took it, by a hair. Joe Nicklo, Bob Passamore, Al Schroff and Al McLean did the job. Passamore sloshed to a first in the breaststroke, while Ed Collier arched to the first in the diving events for the winners. Fred Kochey and Dick McMahon, in the freestyle and breaststroke, captured firsts in a losing cause. Schroff and McLean added seconds for the 38ers.

Delta Tau Delta won its contest by knocking off wins in all of the individual events. Bob Berry was the sparkplug, taking (Continued on page eight)

Indies, 2 Dorms Win Cage Tilts

Leonides, Mac Hall, and Thompson II defeated Thompson I Co-op and Atherton when the Women's Recreation Association intramural basketball league opened Monday night.

Leonides beat Thompson II, 19-3, behind the 10 point scoring of Sue Stureman. Bonnie Baldwin scored the three freshman points.

Thompson II defeated Co-op, 21-16, with Cathy Fishel dunking 10 points for the winners. Phyllis Croop sunk nine and Carolyn Falck scored seven points for Co-op.

Mac Hall beat Atherton, 17-5. Phyllis Porterfield scored eight points for Mac Hall. Polly Hoffman and Jean Kassick scored the losers' tallies.

Gridders Set Sights On Boston Terriers

With the Syracuse game now a mere after-thought, the Lion gridders, still hopeful of a bowl bid, set their sights on Boston University this Saturday and their 18th consecutive winning season.

The last time a Nittany football team had a losing season was in 1937. If the Lions win Saturday it will also be the seventh straight winning season for Coach Rip Engle in as many years.

Assistant Coach Sever "Tor" Toretti, who scouted Boston U. said the Terriers "have better-than-average backs and good scoring potential."

The only weaknesses the Terriers appeared to have, Toretti said, were strictly defensive. "They simply haven't been able to stop the other fellow," he said.

"It's a better team than its record," Toretti added, "with practical and imaginative quarterbacking. Someday it's going to blow up in an opponent's face."

Boston has a 1-3-2 record; its only win was over Massachusetts in the season's opener, 19-6.

The Lions, on the other hand, have a 4-2 record, but have dropped out of the Associated Press' top twenty teams for the first time in three weeks.

After taking a day off from practice Monday, the Lions ran through defenses and mistakes made in the Orange encounter yesterday. Injuries were at a minimum this week with only captain Sam Valentine suffering anything serious. Valentine bruised his ribs Saturday, but will definitely be ready for the Boston U.

In the latest statistics released on the Lion football team, halfback Ray Alberigi regained the rushing lead with 365 yards on 83 carries for a 4.4 average. Alberigi's halfback partner, Billy Kane, is in second place with 333 yards for a 4.6 average.

Milt Plum continues as the total offensive leader with 422 yards, including 20 pass completions on 44 attempts, and leads in interceptions with six.

He also raised his punting average from 39.3 to an excellent 42.0, making him one of (Continued on page seven)
