

Collegian Gave
To Campus Chest,
Did You?

The Daily Collegian

FOR A BETTER PENN STATE

Marines Called In
See Page 4

VOL. 57, No. 45

STATE COLLEGE, PA., TUESDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 13, 1956

FIVE CENTS

Campus Political Parties Winding Up Campaigns

By JIM KOPP

With freshmen and sophomore class elections coming up tomorrow and Thursday, Lion and Campus parties are winding up their campaigns.

Campus party has campaigned almost entirely on its original platform, while Lion party has added the proposed plan to have All-University Cabinet members sit on the Supreme Court as its main campaign issue.

Dean Grants 2 Freshman Car Permits

The dean of men's office has granted two freshman permission to operate cars on campus following a recommendation by the Association of Independent Men's car screening board.

Temporary permission was approved for one student who is needed weekends at home to replace a farm hand. The student's father has a heart condition.

Others Get Permissions

The other case involves a student whose parents are deceased and who needs a car weekends to care for personal property.

A third case involving a student who needed a car to deliver sandwiches evenings was approved by the screening board but was not approved by the dean of men's office.

The student's mother is helping pay his tuition costs and became ill.

Frank J. Simes, dean of men, said the case was not approved because the office felt working evenings was not the solution to the problem.

Suggests Dorm Release

Simes said he suggested to the student that he apply for a release from his dormitory contract.

Since the beginning of the semester, the board has approved nine cases, seven of which were approved by the dean of men's office. One of the two cases not approved is pending a medical report.

Collegian 'First' Appears Today

A two-color advertisement, believed the first to appear in any college newspaper, appears on the advertisement was purchased by Campus Chest, which is now conducting its annual solicitations drive.

The Daily Collegian hopes this will be the first of many colored ads to appear in this publication. This service is available at extra cost to all advertisers.

The Collegian this semester has been proving that this publication is the best media for advertisers to reach the students by setting all-time advertising lineage records.

In addition to better serving advertisers, the increased amount of advertising has also meant more 12-page issues and more use of expensive photographic engravings for the readers.

Boston Football Movies Will Be Shown Tonight

Football films of the Boston University game Saturday will be shown at 7 tonight in Schwab Auditorium.

John Chaffetz, head football manager, will give a running account of the action.

Leadership Training

The Leadership Training Course will meet at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow in 119 Osmond, instead of 7 p.m. as originally scheduled.

Collegian Candidates to Meet

The Daily Collegian editorial candidates will meet at 7 tonight in 9 Carnegie.

Lion party has said it will petition for a referendum requiring the separation of the Supreme Court from the legislative branch of student government. It is opposing the amendment passed twice by All-University Cabinet which would put Cabinet's 24 members on the Supreme Court, which would have 31 members.

Other Issues

The other issues supported in the Lion party platform are a half holiday every football season, extension of hours women students may receive telephone calls in their dormitories, which is now limited to 10 p.m. during the week, and permission for freshman women to stay out until 1 a.m. on both Friday and Saturday nights.

The Campus party platform's issues are aimed mainly at freshman students. The platform calls for a mock registration for freshmen the night before regular registration in order to acquaint freshmen with the registration procedure.

Male Orientation

It also calls for the continuation of the orientation week program for freshman men throughout the year, in the same way as that for freshman women.

It also wants the flash card system. (Continued on page two)

Prof Travels In Atom Group

Dr. Warren W. Miller, associate professor of chemistry, has arrived in Santiago, Chile, on a two-month atoms-for-peace mission to six Latin-American countries.

Ten American scientists, concerned with various phases of atomic research and training, are participating in the mission which is sponsored by the Atomic Energy Commission and the U.S. Department of State.

Dr. Miller, who heads the academic phase of the Atomic Energy Commission's program at the University, will be concerned with the establishment of nuclear and engineering training and some phases of the use of research and training reactors.

Countries included on the itinerary are Chile, Peru, Ecuador, Colombia, Panama, and Costa Rica.

Nasser OK's UN Police Force Entry

LONDON, Nov. 12 (AP)—President Gamal Abdel Nasser consented today to the entry of a UN police force into Egypt. This cleared the way for the first UN army units to take up their peace duties in Middle East battle zones, perhaps as early as tomorrow.

Announcing Egypt's agreement in New York, UN Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold disclosed he would leave tomorrow for Cairo. Apparently he wants to see that there is no last-minute slip in the arrangements.

200 Await Take-Off

Marking time at Capodichino Airport, the UN staging base near Naples, Italy, were some 200 Danish, Norwegian and Colombian soldiers ready to take off for Egypt. Transported there by U.S. Air Force Globemasters, they expected to take off tomorrow in Swiss Air Co. DC-6B planes which already were on the scene.

Still unclear were the conditions if any which Egypt had at-

IFC Adds Strength To Checking Rules

By BOB FRANKLIN

The Interfraternity Council last night restored to IFC checkers the power to enforce the freshman minor drinking ban without having to wait at a fraternity's door for a house officer.

The action was taken only after Board of Control Chairman Richard Shillinger

TAKING a look at the Campus Chest clock are Robert Gellman, chairman of the drive, and Beau Barnes.

'Chest' Solicitations Campaign Embarks Upon Second Day

The Campus Chest annual solicitations campaign today entered its second day of a five-day drive.

Robert Gellman, chairman, said that no figures were available for the amount of money collected yesterday during the first day of the drive.

Tabulations will begin at 1 p.m. today at a booth opposite the Hetzel Union desk and will continue until 10 p.m.

Captains to Make Returns
Captains may make daily money returns at these hours until Friday, the final day of the drive.

In issuing a statement about first day solicitations, Gellman said:

"At this time, I am unable to predict if our Campus Chest goal of $12,000 will be reached. We have 450 solicitors covering every person living on the Penn State campus and surrounding areas."

Gellman Gives Statistics
He compared statistics received from the University of Minnesota in order to predict probable outcome of the drive.

At Minnesota, with a student enrollment of 20,000 totals from the Campus Chest drive conducted last year amounted to $53,000.

"At this point, the only measure of success of the drive has been the amount of work the entire Campus Chest executive committee has done," he continued.

Urges Student Donations

Gellman, in urging students to contribute to the drive, said that if this year's drive is not successful, he will recommend to All-University Cabinet that the Campus Chest drive for 1957-58 be discontinued.

He interpreted this move to mean, if passed, that each charity would hold its own separate drive, and students would be canvassed several times during the year rather than just once as is the case. (Continued on page four) moved for abolition of the ban because, he said, it could not be properly enforced.

The reversal of the council's position at its last meeting came after Louis Fryman, a board member, said the checkers were "in no position to stop freshman drinking forcibly" while the house officer restriction was in effect.

The ruling, approved Oct. 29, prohibited checkers from entering a fraternity without notifying a house officer. While it was in effect, checkers waited for as long as 30 minutes for house officers to come to the doors, Fryman said.

Amendment Passed 44-1

Under the council's new position, passed 44-1 as an amendment to the regulation, the checkers may be escorted to a fraternity's party room by the pledge on door duty, and there may see a house officer and begin checking.

Shillinger's proposal to abolish the drinking ban was buried under an avalanche of votes after Fryman told the council it must either abandon the code and allow the University to step in, or "try to put some teeth in the law we now have."

Unanimous Recommendation

Shillinger said he acted on the unanimous recommendation of the Board of Control and that he would rather have no law on the books than an unenforceable one.

The regulation restricting the checkers was originally proposed as a "courtesy" measure by Joseph Hartnett as a result of the house presidents' workshop.

Shillinger also discussed methods of standardizing drinking ban enforcement procedures as discussed by members of a committee appointed at the last IFC meeting. The committee was appointed to investigate enforcement.

The recommendations included: Tags for freshmen only in the (Continued on page two)

Strike Concluded; Dorm Construction To Resume Today

Construction of the new women's dormitories will resume today when all workers of the John McShain Company are to return to work.

Some of the workers had been on strike since Oct. 23.

Only floor-raising work was done this past week because the workers doing it belong to a different trade union which was not involved in the strike.

Most of the workers on strike were laborers, but they tied up the entire construction operation.

L. K. Polley, superintendent for the construction company, said an agreement with the striking workers was reached Sunday.

He said he would not know until spring how far behind schedule the strike put him, but that it would be hard to make up the three weeks of good working weather lost.

3000 Seats Go on Sale For Pittsburgh Game

Three thousand tickets for the 1956 gridiron finale at Pittsburgh Nov. 24, will go on sale at 8 a.m. tomorrow at the ticket window, 248 Recreation Hall.

Edward M. Czeka, ticket director, said each student will be eligible to purchase a maximum of six tickets for the annual rivalry.

Tickets for the last home game of the season against North Carolina State Saturday are still available at the ticket office.