

Bolstered Lion Harriers Drill for IC4-A Meet

Bolstered in team strength by Captain Don Woodrow's rapid progress in the last two dual meets of the regular season, the Nittany Lion harriers now turn to their first post-season competition—the annual IC4-A meet to be run Monday at New York.

Woodrow's rise in the Lion cross-country picture is a big boost to harrier chances at New York because Coach Chick Werner can now count on four strong men to spearhead the victory bid, rather than only three.

Until the Manhattan meet, Ed Moran, Clem Schoenebeck, and Fred Kerr were the harriers' main threats. Woodrow started his rise against the Jaspers when he and the three sophomores finished in a four-way tie for first, and climaxed it with a first place against Pittsburgh last Friday—the first intercollegiate win of his career.

Post 4-1 Record

Despite having only three top runners, the Lions managed to win two of their first three meets, beating Cornell and Navy while losing to Michigan State. With Woodrow's improved performance, the team ran to easy victories over Manhattan and Pittsburgh.

In a meet such as the IC4-A's, it is a prime requisite that a team have several strong runners if it expects to have any hopes of coping the team title. Woodrow's rise should raise Lion stock almost 50 per cent.

Now the trick is for Werner to come up with an adequate number five man to add to the team depth. Werner has been stressing team balance all season; if he gets the fifth man he needs, the Lions' balance will put the team in the midst of the struggle for first place.

Seven to Enter Meet

Werner's fifth man will come from sophomores Bob Thompson or Jay Kirby, or senior Ron Lewis. None of the three has figured very strongly in any of the Lions' four wins. All seven will enter the meet, however.

As things stand now, Michigan State is definitely favored to run off with the honors. The Spartans are the defending intercollegiate champion, and have their first four men back in competition this season. With this in mind, Werner admitted that the Spartans should win the meet, barring a mishap to one of their top runners.

According to the Lion coach, St. John's, St. Joseph's, Pitt, Syracuse, and Manhattan are next in line, with the Lions fitting in anywhere from second to seventh. Despite a win over the Panthers, Werner put Pitt high on the

KDR Wins 1st, 8 Others Cop Cage Openers

Kappa Delta Rho boosted a 15-13 half time lead to go on to capture the victory. Theta Delta Chi's Bob Weirman led the game's scoring with 8 points.

Phi Gamma Delta enlarged a 21-4 halftime score to romp over Kappa Alpha Psi, 51-14. Phi Gam's Terry Hutton sank 18 points to top the night's scoring.

Phi Delta Theta, paced by Jim Schry's and Bill Wallis' 8 points each, took a 44-13 verdict over Delta Tau Delta.

Prato Ties For Lead In Grid Poll

The Daily Collegian's once-proud trio of football forecasters has failed miserably in its eighth weekly grid "bluebook."

Only Lou Prato could come up with better than seven right out of fifteen, so the prof has decided to grade on a curve. Vicious Vince Carocci keeps his "A" for the semester with an overall 76-44 (.633).

Lucky Lou tied Vicious for the lead with a .633 percentage. The second 7-8 card was turned in by Fearless Fran Fanucci, so he falls two behind Lucky Lou at .617. The coaches suffered a 6-9 week through the efforts of secretary Evelyn Visocky, and stand last at 70-50 (.583).

One answer quite rare to our 15-question multiple choice test (win, lose, or tie) popped up twice Saturday. No one had "tie" opposite Duke-Navy or Clemson-Maryland, so everyone suffered.

Two students, Fearless and Lucky, incorrectly marked down Minnesota. Fearless' other mistake was Washington. Vicious Vince and Evelyn slipped up on Rice while Vicious tried to sneak Notre Dame past the prof.

Evelyn forgot to put an "S" in front of "Cal," and suffered the consequences. One tiny extra point also made her answer of Vanderbilt wrong while a big red X was placed beside her SMU selection.

Perhaps we should refer to our exams rather as "pop quizzes," since no one can really cram for them. Perhaps Fearless Fran, who studied all kinds of "odds" problems, will agree that it is better to enter our exams "cold" from now on.

Ken Hosterman, youthful Penn State soccer coach, is one of four brothers who played the sport for the Nittany Lions.

Penn State's starting guards, captain Sam Valentine and Dick DeLuca, both are three-year veterans.

DTD, Phi Kappa Sigma, Delta Sig Advance in Intramural Swimming

Delta Tau Delta produced the first shutout of the intramural swimming season by crushing Alpha Chi Rho, 37-4, at Glennland Pool last night.

In other fraternity swimming meets Phi Kappa Sigma routed Phi Sigma Kappa, 26-11, and Delta Sigma Phi sunk Theta Chi, 29-12.

Bob Berry paced DTD with 10 points by taking the 60-yard freestyle in :38.4 and the 60-yard backstroke in :41.1. Bob Pulver accounted for nine more points by winning the 60-yard butterfly in :42.4 and placing second in the backstroke and diving.

Bill Abbey annexed the diving for DTD with 11.2 points. DTD's Abbey, Bill Fell, Paul Pritchard, and Ty Moyer completed the rout by winning the 120-yard freestyle relay in 1:12.0.

Delta Sigma Phi swept all first places by 29-12 over Theta Chi. Bob Grove gave Delta Sig an early lead by winning the freestyle in :35.5. George Hunter thrashed to victory in the backstroke with a :49.0 clocking.

Bill Kiser copped the breaststroke in :47.0 with teammate Ron Passmore winning the diving with :17.5 points. Delta Sig's Hunter, Ron Kolb, Kiser, and Grove flashed to victory in the relay with a 1:03.6 clocking.

Joel Gamble took Phi Sigma Kappa's only first place by edging out Phil Hodges, Phi Kappa Sigma, in the backstroke in :42. Hodges won the freestyle in :34.6.

Phil Bailey churned to victory in the breaststroke with a :45.8 clocking. Jack Javens took the diving with 18.5 points.

Phi Kappa Sig won the relay in 1:13.0.
