

Lutheran Group to Hear Talk After Cost Supper

The Rev. Paul Bosch, Williamsport, will address Lutheran Student Association members and their guests at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow in the L.S.A. Center.

His talk entitled, "The Christian's Responsibility to His Fellow Man," will be preceded by a Cost Supper at 5:30 p.m.

AIM Approves New Procedure On Amendment

An amendment on amendments to the Association of Independent Men Constitution became official after a second reading Wednesday night at a meeting of the AIM Board of Governors.

Under the change in the constitution, future amendments will become law after a two-thirds vote of approval of the board after being read and discussed at the previous meeting.

Amendments formerly required three-fourths approval of the AIM councils, Nittany, Pollock, West Halls, and Town Independent Men, following majority approval by the board at a regular meeting.

The change eliminates the necessity of council approval.

In other business AIM approved a suggestion introduced by Arabel Wagner, Leonides representative, that AIM hold a mixer with Leonides, independent student women's organization.

Robert Seyler, projects committee chairman, was appointed to work with Leonides to set a time and place for the mixer.

Mil Ball Queen Entries Due

Entries for the Military Ball queen contest must be submitted next week to the Hetzel Union desk.

The contest is open to women who will attend the ball and who are sponsored by a Reserve Officer's Training Corps cadet.

The application must include a 5 by 7-inch photograph with the name, address, and telephone number of the contestant, and the name of the sponsor written on a separate piece of paper.

Five finalists will be selected by the 1959 class of the United States Air Force Academy, Denver, Colo. The queen will be chosen by the three professors of military science and tactics.

Skitch Henderson and his orchestra will play for the ball on Dec. 7.

Prof Contributes Chapters to Book

Dr. Paul F. Norton, associate professor of history of art and architecture, contributed two chapters to the book "Nassau Hall."

The book deals with the history of Princeton University's famed administration building and was published by the Princeton Press in commemoration of the building's 200th anniversary.

Dr. Norton's two chapters are devoted to the early history of Nassau Hall.

Pittsburgh Orchestra To Perform

The Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra, now in its 30th anniversary year, will present the second program of the State College Concert Series at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday in Schwab Auditorium.

The 90-piece orchestra, which made its fourth appearance in New York's Carnegie Hall this month, is directed by William Steinberg.

Established in 1896

Dating from 1896 when its conductor was Victor Herbert, the Pittsburgh Symphony has had a long and interesting history.

Victor Herbert, during his six years with the orchestra, not only composed many of his famed operettas, but also brought the Pittsburgh Symphony into an enviable position among the nation's orchestras.

Reorganized in 1927

At the time of World War I, the orchestra was disbanded and was not reorganized until 1927. Since then, under Antonio Modarelli, Otto Klemperer, Fritz Reiner, and now Steinberg, the orchestra has been constantly growing in quality and prestige.

In addition to the twenty pairs of subscription concerts given at Pittsburgh's Syria Mosque this season, the orchestra is presenting ten young people's concerts, a joint concert with the Pittsburgh Symphony, Jr., ten industry concerts at home and in neighboring communities, and more than 30 concerts during its longest tour in ten years.

Theologian to Give Address At Morning Chapel Service

Dr. John Dillenberger, associate professor of theology at Harvard Divinity School, will speak at the morning chapel service at 10:55 a.m. tomorrow in Schwab Auditorium.

His subject will be: "Freedom from and Freedom for . . ."

For the anthem, the Choir will sing Psalm 148, Holst. George E. Ceiga, University organist, will play as the prelude, Laudata Domini, Frysinger; and as the postlude, Chorale Improvisation on "Now Thank We All Our God," Karg-Elert.

Elmhurst Graduate

A graduate of Elmhurst College, Dr. Dillenberger received his B.D. degree from Union Theological Seminary and his Ph.D. degree from Columbia University.

Prior to accepting his present position two years ago, Dr. Dillenberger served for five years on the faculty of Columbia University. He was an instructor in religion at Princeton University and assistant in theology at Union Theological Seminary. He served from 1943 to 1946 as a chaplain in the U.S. Navy.

Served on Board

Dr. Dillenberger is a fellow in the National Council on Religion in Higher Education and a member of the Society for Theological Discussion. He served on the editorial board of Church History, Harvard Theological Review and Review of Religion.

Books written by Dr. Dillenberger include "God Hidden and Revealed," 1953; and with Claude Welch, "Protestant Christianity: Interpreted Through Its Development," 1954.

Music Fraternity To Give Concert

A concert by the members of Phi Mu Alpha, national musical fraternity, will be presented at 3 p.m. tomorrow in the Hetzel Union Building.

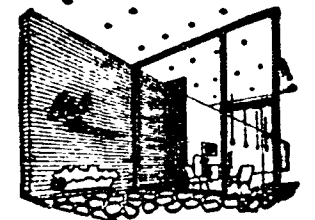

Included on the program are instrumental solos by John Eastman, flute; Thomas Mentzer, clarinet; and William Neal, cello.

Vocal solos will be presented by Frank Posleiszek, tenor; and Donald Fought, baritone.

The Sinfonian Chorus will present four numbers.

Through the Looking Glass

by Jan

Turkey dinners in the Dorm are all well and good, but . . . I still can't wait for Tuesday. It seems as if the place to meet people these days is the HUB Bulletin Board and the first thing said is, "Do you know of a ride to . . ."

If you are going home, or to Pittsburgh for the game . . . don't go empty handed. Bring a distinctive gift from Ethel's. Your host, hostess or mom will surely appreciate a token of your thoughtfulness.

We Gather Together

Ethel's has a complete selection of lovely Thanksgiving gifts. Pure Irish linen table cloths to cover the feast table are very lovely and moderately priced. They come in solid harvest colors, Thanksgiving patterns and stripes. These all have matching napkins.

Take a peek into Ethel's Linen Shop, besides the tablecloths, there are decorator pattern dish clothes, linen wall plaques, aprons, place mats and all sorts of feminine kitchen accessories.

From the Spice Islands . . .

One of the most unique, inexpensive gifts around today is sitting on the spice shelves Through the Looking Glass. It is a set of four different vinegars (sweet basil, tarragon, garlic and eschalot) in apothecary jars. The set is wrapped in red and white checked paper and sells for just $1.95.

If your mom or dad is a connoisseur or lover of fine tea, there is another perfect gift for your folks. It is a tea sampler. There are fifty different imported teas for just $1.95. What could be better?

P.S. Stop in this afternoon and browse . . .

Happy pumpkin pie to you all.
