

6 Lion Harriers Last Home Stand Leave Today For IC4-A Run

A six-man Penn State cross-country team will leave University Park at 2:45 this afternoon en route to New York City for the annual IC4-A harrier test on Monday.

Freshman Coach Norm Gordon will also enter a seven-man squad.

Captain Don Woodrow and sophomores Fred Kerr, Ed

Moran, and Clem Schoenebeck, the mainstays of Coach Chick Werner's harrier contingent all season, will again shoulder the bulk of the Lion burden against a top flight eastern field.

Sophomores Bob Thompson and Jay Kirby round out the Nittany traveling squad.

This is the first taste of post-season competition for the Lions. They are expected to enter the intercollegiate run Nov. 21 at Michigan State.

Kerr Most Consistent

Woodrow, Kerr, Moran and Schoenebeck are definitely the big guns as far as the Lions are concerned. Kerr has been the most consistent of the group with outstanding performances in each of the Lion meets, with the exception of the Michigan State encounter.

Moran and Schoenebeck ran impressive races against Navy and Manhattan, while Schoenebeck tied Kerr for second in the Nittany win over Cornell. Woodrow jumped suddenly into the cross-country spotlight two weeks ago when he finished in a four-way first place with the three sophomores against the Jaspers. He climaxed the season with a first place against Pittsburgh last week.

Thompson had been rated highly in Werner's pre-season plans, but has been unable to find himself yet. Kirby, after experiencing a fair freshman season last year, was hampered by a back injury during the middle of the season and has not figured prominently in the Lion wins.

Boast 4-1 Record

The Lions finished the regular season with a 4-1 record, beating Cornell, Navy, Manhattan, and Pitt while losing only to Michigan State.

Gordon's freshman squad consists of Dick Englebrink, Joe Thompson, Sam White, Dick Williams, Len Donahue, Ron Houghton, and George Jones.

The Lion yearlings finished the regular season with a 1-2 slate, defeating Pitt while losing to Cornell and Navy.

Last year, the frosh, headed by Kerr, Schoenebeck, and Thompson, grabbed a second place in the "IC's" behind St. Johns.

back to defeat DTD, 23-18. DTD's Bob Berry splashed to victory in the freestyle in :31.9, .5 of a second off the IM record and the fastest time of the season.

Bob Pulver won the butterfly in :39.7 and the backstroke in :41.7 for DTD's other two first places.

Phi Kappa Sig's Jack Javens, Mike Beattie, Jack LoBue, and Phil Hodges copped the relay in 1:04.3 with Hodges taking the diving with 16 points.

ATO dumped DU, 27-14, in spite of Steve Stevens' 13 points. DU's Stevens won the freestyle in :32.4, the butterfly in :37.8, .1 of a second short of the IM record, and took second in the dive.

ATO's Harry Sloat, Ed Schwar, Bob Weil, and Larry Baver annexed the relay in 1:01.9. Chuck Bartholomew thrashed to victory in the backstroke in :44.7 for ATO.

Delta Sigma Phi's Ron Kolb, George Hunter, Bill Kiser, and Bob Grove swept Delta Sig to a 22-19 win over defending champion Beta Theta Pi by taking the relay in 1:03.7.

Maxine was overjoyed with the judges' decision, but she remained in the same composure that dominates her smooth field hockey movements.

"It's rather unbelievable," she said, "being that I'm only a freshman. It's really a great honor."

Looking forward to more college hockey playing, Maxine said she hopes she can make the first team someday.

With three years of school ahead of her, Maxine has the potential to make a name for herself, and for Penn State in the field hockey sports world.

Out On a Limb

The Daily Collegian's wizards of the crystal ball are playing it close to the vest as the weekly football poll enters the home stretch.

With the exception of three games, the scribes and coach Frank Patrick are in total agreement. In fact, Patrick and Vicious Vince Carocci agree all the way, except Princeton-Yale.

So it all hinges on Yale-Princeton, Vanderbilt-Tulane, and Arkansas-Southern Methodist. Vicious and Lucky Lou Prato, tied for the lead, differ on one of these. Lucky Lou picks SMU.

Fearless Fran Fanucci, two behind the leaders, also likes SMU, but tests the limb with a Tulane over Vandy guess. Obviously Patrick, giving it another whirl, cannot threaten the leaders due to his total agreement with one of them. In his last try, Patrick got eight right.

The fact that everyone chose Syracuse over Colgate does not necessarily reflect the true wishes of the forecasters!
