9 Fighters Win Bouts By Forfeit

Last night's fraternity boxing action showed four unanimous decisions and nine forfeits. In the evening's most exciting bout, Lou Farese, Sigma Phi Epsilon, outboxed and outpunched Al Klimcke, Theta Chi; to get the nod from referee Don Watkins and both judges.

Craig Kauffman, Kappa Sigma, copped a decision from Ronald Davis, Theta Chi; Arnold Roane, Omega Psi Phi, downed Ed Patrick, Theta Kappa Phi; and John Yaag, Phi Kappa Tau, defeated Leonard Rosenbaum, Beta Sigma Rho.

In the forfeit column, W. G. McCann, Theta Chi, won from Wilson Reitz, Sigma Chi; Dennis Bowen, Kappa Delta Rho, gained the win over Jerry Marcello, Tau Kappa Epsilon; Falk Kanter, Phi Epsilon Pi, topped Bob Drexler, Lambda Chi Alpha; George Hawke, Theta Xi, won from Frank Clayton, Phi Kappa Psi; Jim Lysek, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, beat Mel Sweeney, Beaver House; Jim Cramer, Theta Delta Chi, grabbed a win from Barry Einsig, Chi Phi; Dan Lessig, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, got the nod over Joe Capuano, Sigma Phi Epsilon; John Frey, Beta Theta Pi, topped Gene Hilty, Lambda Chi Alpha; and Charles Dodd, Phi Sigma Kappa, won from Dick Pagle.

Fast-Punching Action
The Farese-Klimcke tilt, a 145-pound match, featured hard, fast punching by both boys. In the first round, Farese and Klimcke each landed several combinations to the head and body. Farese held the edge in the second, scoring solidly to his opponent's head. Klimcke forced the fight in the final round, but Farese's defensive ability proved too much for his rival, and he was landing hard shots to Klimcke's head as the bout ended.

A fast start in a 155-pound scrap gave Kauffman the win over Davis. He scored well early in the opening round, and continued to force the action in the second stanza, landing most of the heavy blows. Davis stepped up the pace in the third and forced the infighting, but Kauffman's early lead stood up on all three of the officials' cards.

Roane Wins Easily
Roane piled up a decided margin in every round to gain the verdict over Patrick in a 145-pound clash. Early in the initial stanza, he scored the best blow of the bout, a solid left hook to the jaw, and scored repeatedly with combinations to the head. In another 145-pound match, Yaag combined solid combination punching and defensive mastery to defeat Rosenbaum. Yaag landed the best punch of the first round, a hard left to the head. In the second, he kept Rosenbaum off balance and displayed fine defensive form as his opponent attempted to force the fight. Yaag closed out the action by scoring several combinations to the body in the final round.

Aggies Defeat Texas

AUSTIN, Tex., Nov. 29 (AP)—Rough and ready Texas A&M, piloted to perfection by quarterback Roddy Osborne, wrapped up the Southwest Conference championship today by dumping gritty Texas 34-21 for the first Aggie win in Memorial Stadium.

9 Cage Teams Cop IM Wins

Four fraternities and five independent basketball teams swept to victories in Wednesday night's action on the Recreation Hall floorboards.

Alpha Phi Delta provided the top action in the fraternity division when they won their second straight game of the year, defeating Delta Sigma Phi, 21-20. Jack Farls and Ben Amato led the winners with eight points each.

Phi Kappa Psi, led by Jack Barbri's 11 points, tripped Beaver House, 30-28, even though Cal Emery scored 14 markers for the losers.

By virtue of a strong second half, Phi Sigma Delta downed Chi

6 Lion Seniors Accept Bids To Post-Season Grid Games

Six senior members of the Lion football team have been chosen to play in three post-season games. Backs Milt Plum and Billy Kane and lineman Sam Valentine, Dan Radakovich, Walt Mazur, and Jack Calderone were the seniors chosen.

Plum and Valentine will play in the East-West game, which will have Rip Engle as one of its coaches; Kane and Calderone will play in the North-South contest, and Radakovich and Mazur were signed for the Blue-Gray game.

There is still a possibility that one more Lion player may be chosen for one of the post-season games, depending on whether Syracuse is accepted for the Cotton or Gater Bowls.

If the Orange are not accepted for a bowl game then its All-American halfback Jimmy Brown will go to the East-West game and Brown's halfback partner, Jim Ridlon, will undoubtedly receive a bid.

This is the third consecutive year that the Lions will have at least two players in the East-West game. In 1954 quarterback Don Bailey, who was voted the outstanding player on the field, and end Jim Garrity were chosen; and last year halfback Lenny Moore and center Frank Reich were the Lion participants.

Penn State expects its basketball to improve this season as the sophomores gain much-needed experience.
