

Military Ball Finalists Chosen; Henderson Will Crown Queen

Jane Mahoney, Patricia Finley, Dorothy Lentz, Elizabeth Corman, and Barbara Kinnier have been selected as the five finalists for the Military Ball to be held from 9 to 1 Friday in Recreation Hall.

The queen will be crowned by Skitch Henderson, whose orchestra will play for the dance. The finalists were chosen from 20 entrants by the 1959 class of the United States

Air Force Academy, Denver, Colo.

The queen will be chosen at the ball by Lt. W. C. Haskell, Navy; Capt. J. J. Littlejohn, Army; Capt. Erwin F. Albrect, Army; and Capt. Dick Hickson, Air Force. Gilbert Freedman, chairman of the Mil Ball Committee and master of ceremonies will present each member of the court with a silver trophy and a bouquet of roses.

From Notre Dame

Miss Mahoney is a student at the Notre Dame Academy for Girls in Philadelphia and will enter nurses training at Jefferson Hospital in June. She was sponsored by Navy Midshipman Jesse Brewster.

Miss Finley, sponsored by Army Cadet William Liggett, is a freshman in medical technology from Pittsburgh.

Miss Corman, a freshman in physical education from State College, was sponsored by Navy Midshipman James Rossi.

Miss Kinnier, sponsored by Leonard Rosenbaum, Air Force Cadet, is a junior in elementary education from Dansboro. She is a member of Alpha Chi Omega.

Trophy for Queen

The finalists and their escorts will pass through a cordon composed of members of Pershing Rifles, national military honorary society, and an arch of sabers formed by the saber team of Scabbard and Blade, national military honorary group, leading to the bandstand. The queen will be crowned with a coronet of white roses and presented a silver trophy.

Heads and representatives of the different Reserve Officers Training Corp divisions will form a receiving line to greet guests before the dance, from 9 to 9:30 p.m.

Tickets for the Mil Ball, sponsored by Scabbard and Blade, Pershing Rifles, Arnold Air Society, national air force honorary society, and Quarterdeck, national naval honorary group, are available at the Hetzel Union desk. The price is $5.

On display in Waring Hall are the trophies, photos of the finalists, and background information on the sponsoring societies.

Pictures of the Queen Contest entries may be obtained at the Hetzel Union desk.

APhIO to Select Outstanding Prof

Students have been asked to aid in selecting the member of the faculty or administration who will receive the distinguished service award presented annually by Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity.

Names of students' candidates for the award may be submitted before 5 p.m. Friday at the Hetzel Union desk.

The winner will be chosen on the basis of service contributed to the University community. He will receive a gold key and an honorary membership in Alpha Phi Omega.

Foreign Student Group Names Regional Officer

What Santa Whispered in my ear

There I was worrying about how I was going to get my Christmas shopping done in one easy stop, and then Santa popped out of nowhere and whispered something in my ear. He said, "Listen gal, take a tip from a guy who knows, the best place to get that one-stop Christmas shopping done is at Griggs Pharmacy. Let's go on down and take a look around right now."

I caught the wiff of a mysterious fragrance as I entered the door. "It's Danger," Santa told me. He explained that "Danger" was one of the five popular fragrances by Ciro combined in a very pretty gift box at $5. I looked inside the box and sure enough there were five kinds of perfume. Each one had its own box too so that they could be used as a separate gift.

It wasn't long until I heard someone say "May I help you?" "Why, hello," Santa said, and introduced me to one of the friendly clerks at Griggs. "Here's a gal who knows her business inside out," he told me. "She's just the one to help you pick out a gift to please everyone on your list." (She was too.)

Nobody could be that good I thought so I put her to the supreme test. "How about a gift for the people on my list who have everything?" "Oh, that's easy," she said, "have you seen our Rytex personalized stationery?" She showed me some paper with tricky envelopes lined in a dotted swiss pattern in red and blue. It was so different, and so personal too because it is custom made with any name printed on it for that special touch. There were lots of other designs too. One that especially caught my eye was the one illustrated with Betty Betz characters. Perfect for my teen-age sister. Only $2, too.

Then she showed me the loveliest and most unusual gift of the year. It was called "Musical Mist" by Lenthier. When a bottle of Tweed Mist is lifted from the gorgeous musical base, Anniversary Waltz, Star Dust, or Let Me Call You Sweetheart softly charms the user. "This," she said, "is a gift that will be close to heart of any girl because it is so completely feminine."

"Did you get your Christmas cards yet?" Santa asked. "My writing is a little tough to read so I bought my cards at Griggs where I could have them personalized." "A good idea," I said. "With a selection like this I can't go wrong. There are so many kinds and price ranges from which to select."

"Time to get back to the dorm, Santa," I said. "If I don't get there in time for dinner, I won't get any, and I'm too fond of food to let a thing like that happen." I had time to pick out just one more thing—something for my little sis. I wasn't hard because the first thing the clerk showed me was "Cookies and Milk." This is just one of the many Little Lady Cosmetic sets designed with the pint-size population in mind. This one caught my eye because it had a cute little plastic milk bottle filled with bubble bath and five little cookies made of soap.

After the clerk wrapped it up, Santa told me that I'd better get back to the dorm fast so I could get in on the end of that dinner line. I thanked him for showing me the easy way to do my Christmas shopping in one stop and started up the hill to my "home away from home." I didn't miss dinner either!
