A freshman in business administration from the Nittany dormitory area told the Association of Independent Men Judicial Board of Review Tuesday night he acted on impulse when he took a bicycle he found lying in the grass on Ag Hill.

The dean of men's office yesterday approved office probation and

3 Students Cautioned By Tribunal

Three sophomores convicted on disorderly conduct charges before Justice of the Peace Guy C. Mills, State College, have been issued warnings by Tribunal.

The students are John Sideravage, electrical engineering major from Shenandoah; Edward Demasch, business administration major from Gibsonia; and Arthur Wilks, pre-veterinary major from Glassport.

Seen Removing Sign

The students were observed by police removing a parking sign they found on the sidewalk on E. College Ave. about 2 a.m. Nov. 11. They were fined $2 and $9 costs, the minimum penalty for the offense.

The Tribunal warning was accepted yesterday by the dean of men's office. The warning carries no further penalty and will not be noted on the students' records.

According to a report of the dean of men's office, the police observed no disorderliness other than the students' picking up the sign, which, it said, had apparently been placed on the sidewalk because of construction work.

Students Admit Drinking

The students admitted drinking at a fraternity house before the incident, but were not described by police as being influenced by alcoholic beverages, the report said.

It said the students had not carried the parking sign more than two or three steps before they were stopped by a borough fire-policeman in uniform.

Ski Instruction Being Offered

Skiing instructions are now being offered to students every Saturday afternoon up to Christmas vacation and between Christmas and finals.

Instructions will be held this week at 2 p.m. on the third floor of the water tower near Beaver Field. The cost of the course, approximately $3, will include instructional movies and books.

When it snows, instruction will be held at the club's ski trail.

A work party will be held Sunday at the ski cabin to put in a new stove. Supper will be served. The group will meet at 2 p.m. behind Old Main.

Raybeck to Speak To Grad Students

a letter home as recommended by the AIM board.

The incident occurred before Thanksgiving vacation. The student said he and several friends noticed the bicycle after leaving a class on Ag Hill. He said he suggested riding it back to his dormitory.

Tired of Walking

The student said at first he took the bicycle as a prank but later said he took it to save walking back. One other student rode back with him, he said.

After reaching the dormitory, the student said, he realized his mistake but rode the bicycle around campus anyhow because he felt possibly the owner might recognize it.

The student left the bicycle parked against a Nittany dormitory following his tour of campus. He said he thought at the time that it was the best way for the owner to find the bicycle.

Remained Parked

The bicycle remained parked until a student called it to the attention of a dormitory counselor.

The student told the counselor he had seen the student in question riding the bicycle. When questioned by the counselor about the incident the student admitted taking the bicycle.

In another case the dean of men's office approved office and judicial probation and a letter home for a freshman in mineral industries from the West Halls area as recommended by the AIM board.

Wanted to Scare Friend

The student said he threw a fire cracker behind a friend washing in a lavatory in an attempt to scare him. He admitted throwing the firecracker when questioned by a counselor.

The student said he got the firecracker at a party during Thanksgiving vacation. He said he did not intend to bring the firecracker back to the University.

The student said he found the firecracker in one of his pockets when he returned. He said he knew of the state law but was ignorant of University regulations on firecrackers.
