

5 Faculty Members To Show Art Work

The art work of new members of the departments of art and art education will be on view in the exhibition, "New Painters at Penn State" which will open Dec. 8 in the Hetzel Union Building.

The display, featuring oils, water color, and other media, will continue until Dec. 22.

Paintings will be exhibited by Dr. Albert Christ-Janer, professor of art and director of the School of Arts; Edwin W. Zoller, associate professor of art; Stuart H. Frost, instructor in art, and George Pappas, instructor in art education. Mrs. Mary Rubinstein, part-time instructor in art, will display sculpture.

Museum, Library Director

A graduate of St. Olaf College, with a master's degree from Yale University, Dr. Christ-Janer has a doctor of fine arts degree from Lake Erie College. He was head of the art department at Stephens College and at Michigan State University and also taught at Northwestern University.

He served as director of the museum and library at Cranbrook Academy of Art and as director of humanities at the University of Chicago.

Before coming to the University in 1955, Dr. Christ-Janer was director of the arts center development at New York University. He was a Guggenheim fellow in 1951 and received a Rockefeller award in 1955.

Dr. Christ-Janer has exhibited paintings in leading museums in the United States. He is the author of several books, including "Boardman Robinson," "Eliel Saarinen," "Art in Childlife," "George Caleb Bingham of Missouri" and "American Hymnbook."

With University Since 1927

Zoller, a graduate of the University, has been associated with the University since 1927, as a teacher and administrator at the centers.

He has been represented in many leading art exhibitions and has exhibited at well-known galleries.

Frost, while a University student, worked with Henry Varnum Poor on his famous Land-Grant frescos in Old Main. He also has worked with other artists on frescos in Washington and Alexandria, Va. At present he is engaged in a study of the fresco technique with a grant from the University's Council on Research.

Frost's main art studies were done at the Brooklyn Museum Art School. He also holds a master's degree from New York University.

Guest Prof To Address Soc Group

Dr. Samuel A. Stouffer, professor of sociology and director of the Laboratory of Social Relations at Harvard University will be the guest speaker at a dinner meeting of the Social Science Research Center on Dec. 14.

Dr. Stouffer will speak on "Social Science Research in Rapidly Changing Times." The time of the dinner is 6:15 p.m. in Dining Rooms A, B, and C of the Hetzel Union Building. All members of the faculty are welcome.

Tickets Available

Tickets for the dinner may be obtained from Dr. Lawrence E. Fouraker, 202 Moffat Cottage. Tickets will sell for $2.60 each.

Dr. Stouffer is among the foremost American scholars in the use of statistics and the application of quantitative methods in sociology, and is perhaps best known for his work as co-author of the five-volume, "The American Soldier: Measurement and Prediction."

Degrees Earned

Dr. Stouffer received his bachelor's degree from Morningside College, Sioux City, Iowa; his master's from Harvard, and the doctor of philosophy degree from the University of Chicago.

He served on the faculties of the Universities of Wisconsin and Chicago before going to Harvard in 1946. He also served for a time in Washington on the staff of the Central Statistics Board.

Traffic Warning Issued by Court

Traffic Court has issued a warning to students that parking in certain areas on campus at night is illegal.

Students are and will be held responsible for parking behind Old Main, on Pollock Road, in reserved spaces, and other places designated as "off limits."

The 15-minute parking zone on Shortridge Road is still applicable at night, the court said.

The court has also announced that registration stickers and parking permits are legal on windshields. The Pennsylvania State Police will allow these stickers to remain on student vehicles.

Students should inform their local vehicle inspectors that these stickers are legal, when they go to have their cars inspected, the court said.
