Outing Club Projects Provide Members With 'Spice of Life'

By DENNY MALICK

If variety is the spice of life, certainly one of the "spiciest" organizations at Penn State is the Outing Club.

Diversification is the byword of this club which plans events for anything from a wild game banquet, to a thrilling winter trip in the wilds of Canada, to a spear-fishing expedition in Florida.

Rugged Canadian Trip

For the rugged outdoorsmen one of the key events is the annual trip to Canada. This year the trip was to the Brule Lake near Kerney, Ontario. The spot was so secluded that an old logging train was the only means of transportation.

A log cabin, walls of which were packed with mud, provided ideal backwoods atmosphere for the campers. Average winter temperature for the region is 40 degrees below zero and snow drifts often completely cover the cabins.

The hardy enthusiasts participated in tobogganing, ice skating, skiing, snowshoe hikes and fishing through ice. Wolves and moose were among common sights in the region. On the return trip, one of the members of the party was "drafted" for fireman duty on the logging train.

Sponsors Ski Trips

Another of the popular activities is the numerous ski trips sponsored by the winter division of the club. Among these is the annual Redhouse Trip, usually taken during the mid-semester vacation. In addition to skiing, cabin parties, folk dancing, woodland tobogganing, and fireside gatherings are held. The outing is co-educational as are all the club's activities.

Just before the Christmas holidays, the club get together for the annual Wild Game Banquet. Wild game bagged during recent hunting trips is served. The meal is usually topped by pumpkin pie. The banquet is held at the Forestry Cabin.

Spring Brings Canoeing

With the start of the spring thaws, Outing Club interests turn to canoe trips. The trips are of numerous duration. A recent trip was made down the Juniata and Susquehanna Rivers to Harrisburg. The group averages approximately seven miles a day, camping each night on the river bank.

While on the Juniata-Susquehanna trip, club members had a chance at shooting the rapids. Special expeditions to the Little Grand Canyon of Pennsylvania are made for those only interested in "shooting the rapids."

The University supplies sleeping bags and cooking utensils for all the club excursions.

New Ideas Initiated

With the recent rise in membership, newer ideas have been initiated. An experienced mountain climber has been taking groups out for instruction in use of climbing implements. These beginning mountain climbers are currently climbing 200-foot high cliffs between Huntingdon and Mount Union.

In the planning stage is a spear-fishing trip to Florida to be taken next spring. Other new activities are hunting fishing, bow and arrow hunting, chicken bar-b-ques, clam bakes, socials and turkey shoots.

Outing Club Movie Set for Jan. 18

The Outing Club will sponsor a 105-minute technicolor film, "Have Skis, Will Travel," personally narrated by Warren Miller, at 8:30 p.m. Jan. 18 in Schwab Auditorium.

Warren Miller is an internationally famous skiing photographer who has produced a new two hour film each year for the past six years.

His movie this year will include pictures taken at Ligonier last winter.

Tickets will be available only from Outing Club members for 90 cents. A pair of ski trousers will be given as a door prize.

Simes Report--

ily require far more lounge space than do the men's whereas the men's dormitories have been designed with extensive outside recreational areas, Simes told the board.

Thalimer Report

Thalimer, who is chairman of the committee, told the group that it would be cheaper to convert present men's dormitories into facilities suitable for women than to build either new men's or women's dormitories.

Simes told the board that plans are being drawn up for the construction of men's dormitories as soon as the women's dormitories are completed and these, too, could not easily be converted to accommodate women.

When asked if there was any possibility of women remaining in Thompson permanently and continue housing men in the Pollock area, Simes said:

'Pollock Doomed to Go'

"I think Pollock's doomed to go, thank goodness. Present plans indicated that Pollock will be torn down as soon as the women's dormitories are completed which should be sometime in June, 1958."

Simes said that final decision on the issue of community living must come from the University Board of Trustees.

The main problem in the plan, said Simes, is the difference in dining halls facilities for men and women.

If the community living plan were put into operation, women would probably demand waiter service at the evening meal. This would involve an increase in expenses for which the students would have to pay.
