

Panhel Straw Vote Favors Existing Rotation Plan

By LYNN WARD

Panhellenic Council voted 19-1 in a straw vote Tuesday night in favor of retaining the present rotation system for the election of the council's presidents.

If the amendments to the Panhel election system as presented to the council Tuesday night are finally passed, the major change in the system will provide for the election of

Ed Council Elects Junior To Office

Myrna Paynter, junior in education from West Chester, was elected president of the Education Student Council Tuesday night.

Ruth Johnson, sophomore in education from Mount Jewett, was elected vice president and Sandra Reimer, sophomore in education from New Cumberland, was elected secretary-treasurer.

The new officers will officially take office after other student councils have held their elections.

Joyce Fullerton, junior in education from Wayne, gave a report on her council-sponsored trip to the United Nations.

Miss Fullerton talked on the General Assembly sessions that she viewed and on the discussions concerning the Suez crisis and Hungary.

Miss Fullerton passed out material that she had obtained at the UN and said that the Russians were very friendly and also gave her material.

Miss Paynter announced that the council would hold a coffee hour from 4 to 5 p.m. tomorrow.

Janet Davidson, junior in education from Kennett Square, was named editor of Monitor, the education bulletin.

Council elections were held earlier than usual because Judith Hance, outgoing president, will be student-teaching next semester and Katherine Dickson, vice president, will not return to the University next semester.

Debaters to Attend Bucknell Tourney

Four members of the Men's Debate Team will attend the Bucknell Good Will Tournament this weekend to debate the national topic: Resolved: "That the United States should discontinue direct economic foreign aid."

Debating affirmatively will be Herbert Cohen, sophomore in psychology from Scranton, and Robert Neff, junior in zoology and entomology from Pottstown.

Keith Otterbein, junior in arts and letters from Warren, and Edward Fegert, senior in arts and letters from Milwaukee, Wis., will be on the negative side.

Group to Present Heywood Farce

"John, Tyb, and Sir John," a play by John Heywood, will be presented at 7:30 tonight in the Little Theatre in Old Main.

The pre-Shakespearean farce is being given by graduate students in theatre arts as a theme project for English Literature 480.

The students are George Cavey, from Springfield, director; Richard Higgins, Pebble Beach, Calif., set designer; and Delmer Hendricks, Reasnor, Iowa, costume designer.

Coeds to Be Rated On Cage Ability

Basketball ratings for all coeds who were not rated during intramural games the week of Dec. 17 and who want to be rated for the Women's Recreation Association's basketball team, will be given at 5 p.m. Thursday in the White Hall gym.

One team will be selected—based on the highest ratings—to represent Penn State on Sports Day on Saturday, March 2.

Physical Education women faculty members will judge and give the ratings.

the president by all sorority women instead of election just by the sorority in line for presidency.

Chose Sophomore
The present constitution calls for the sorority which is to be represented in the office of president by the rotation system to elect a girl at the end of her sophomore year to be vice president her junior year and president her senior year.

Under the proposed amendment, a number of coeds from that sorority will go before a screening board to apply for the office of vice president. The screening board will choose three coeds from the applicants to run in a general election of all panhellenic women.

Vice President First
The coed chosen in the general election will serve as vice president and eventually president. The second highest girl in the election totals will become assistant vice president her junior year. She will serve also as chairman of the Panhel elections committee and will be in line for the office of president if the vice president is unable to take her office her senior year.

Natalie Moskowitz, council member in charge of the election system revision, explained to the council that the present rotation system was not altered. The revisions committee worked under the assumption that Panhel members felt that every sorority has a girl qualified for the office of president. If this is not accepted, Miss Moskowitz said, the sorority system is defeated.

To Insert Clause
According to Barbara Nicholls, Panhel president, a clause will be inserted in the constitution enabling a sorority whose members feel they do not have a qualified girl for the office to pass up their opportunity for president. In this case, the presidency would go to the next sorority in the rotation system.

At present there is an understanding concerning this in Panhel Council, but the constitution contains no provision for it.

The election revisions also provide for a general election by all sorority women to fill the offices of recording secretary, corresponding secretary and treasurer. (Continued on page three)

Vassady to Speak At Chapel Today

Dr. Bela Vassady, distinguished theologian and guest lecturer in American theological Seminaries, will present a short meditation at the regular Thursday afternoon vesper service at 4:30 today in the Helen Eakin Eisenhower Meditation Chapel.

He will speak about the Christian revival and historic revival of faith witnesses in Hungary among students after World War II and the Communist occupation.

The Meditation Chapel Choir will offer the anthem. Hall McMannis and the Rev. Hal Leiper will conduct the service.

Scrolls Will Sell Cookies to Coeds

Scrolls, senior women's hat society, will sell cookies during the final examination period in all women's dormitories.

The sale will begin at 8:30 p.m. Monday in the dormitory recreation rooms. Cookies will be sold until 10:30 each night.

Three varieties of cookies at prices ranging from 30 to 50 cents a box will be sold.

The profit made from the sale will be added to the Mary Jane Wyland Scholarship Fund, sponsored by Scrolls.

Mark Cautions Campus Drivers

Capt. Phillip A. Mark of the Campus Patrol yesterday cautioned student drivers that University driving regulations forbidding operating students to operate cars on campus between 7:30 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. on class days will remain in effect until the semester ends, Jan. 22.

Mark also cautioned student drivers to keep parking stickers issued in the fall semester for the spring semester.

Parking tickets issued by the Campus Patrol in the fall semester will carry over to the spring semester, he said. A student getting two tickets in the fall and one in the spring will be liable to a $5 fine as would be the case if the student got all three fines the same semester, according to Mark.

The class of 1960 at the U. S. Naval Academy in Annapolis will include 273 enlisted men.

Workmen Complete Project On Electric Power Supply

Workmen have completed earlier in the fall a project to raise the power supplied to Sparks and Burrows buildings and Carnegie Hall from 225,000 to 300,000 watts. This was done by the installation of three 100,000 watt transformers in the power unit situated under the sidewalk east of Sparks.

The three transformers taken from Osmond Laboratory will replace three 50,000 and three 25,000 watt transformers which operated as a unit to supply power to the three buildings.

Five circuit breakers and a primary switch were also installed in the power unit. Robert W. Knouse, project engineer in the utilities division of the Department of Physical Plant, said the power step-up will eliminate power failures similar to those occurring in the three buildings

Three new 250,000 watt transformers have replaced the three transformers taken from Osmond. The transformers will also supply power for the Hall of the Americas Building under construction east of Osmond. An additional circuit breaker was also installed.

In other construction work, Charles A. Lamm, head of the division of building maintenance and operation of the Department of Physical Plant, said workmen have completed a metal roof on the coal bin for the Nittany Power Plant. The roof will prevent rain and snow from freezing on the coal.

Workmen are also busy in four buildings on campus. Rooms 211 Armsby Hall, 111 Electrical Engineering and 302 Old Main will be subdivided by partitions.
