

Town Police Nab Minor With Beer

A student was arrested by State College police at about 9 p.m. Wednesday for violation of the state liquor law on minors.

The student, Patrick W. Dowling, freshman in electrical engineering from Kingston, was arrested by police when he was seen carrying beer out of a State College establishment.

No Decision Made

He had a hearing at 3 p.m. yesterday before Justice of the Peace Guy G. Mills. No decision has been made on the case as yet.

Five students received $7 fines yesterday afternoon for traffic violations.

Mark W. Willensky, freshman in business administration from Scranton, was fined for parking too close to the intersection of Foster Ave. and S. Allen St.

Don A. Kinsey, junior in animal husbandry from Quakertown, was parked on the sidewalk in Legion Alley.

More Violators

Ronald G. Kinch, sophomore in civil engineering from Denver, was fined for parking against traffic at 200 S. Pugh St.

Alexander M. Milligan, senior in arts and letters from Pittsburgh, was fined for parking against traffic in front of 100 W. Beaver Ave.

Ronald A. Kolb, junior in the Division of Intermediate Registration from Philadelphia, was fined for a similar offense. He was parked against traffic at 200 Fairmount Ave.

797 Polio Shots Given Students

Seven hundred and ninety-seven Salk polio vaccine shots have been given to University students to date, according to Dr. Herbert R. Glenn, director of the Health Service.

Supplies of the vaccine will be available indefinitely at the Infirmary. Any undergraduate or graduate student in good health is eligible to receive the vaccine at $1 a shot.

Letters of parental permission, required for minors, must be sent directly to the Health Service and must be postmarked from the student's hometown. Dr. Glenn said that many students bring their permission slips directly to the Infirmary. These are invalid.

The Salk vaccination program has been in operation since Christmas.

Senate Committee Reviews Probation

The University Senate Subcommittee on Discipline this morning will consider recommendations of probation against 15 students for gambling in the residence halls.

The recommendations were handed down Tuesday night by the Association of Independent Men Judicial Board of Review.

The students were involved in three separate cases. Disciplinary probation was recommended for eight of the students, judicial probation for six others and office probation for another.

Grad Student's Condition Is Reported Improved

The condition of Ira Starer, graduate student in chemistry from Brooklyn, N.Y. is improved according to the University Hospital.

Starer was sent to the hospital Tuesday night with burns and possible respiratory poisoning after an explosion in Walker Laboratories where he was working.

Student Gets Clipped But Makes a Profit

By GEORGE HARRISON

Yul Brynner's bald head may be worth a million dollars to him, but Pollock Dorm 3 is giving them away for $10.

Last Friday night when Budd Goldberg, freshman in applied arts from Williamsport, got into a bull session about Yul Brynner he didn't dream he would come out with a bald head.

Goldberg made the statement "For $10 I would shave my head too," and his dorm buddies took him up on it.

"Before I knew what happened, the fellows in the dorm made me sign an affidavit to that effect. They all gathered in the lounge and collected the $10," he said.

With the money in his hand, five of Budd's friends began to work on him.

One used electric clippers for awhile, two more used electric razors and finally two more used safety razors and shaving cream. The finished product was one shiny bald head.

That very night, Goldberg went to see the motion picture "Anastasia." He wanted to see just what his famous counterpart looked like.

While he was at the movie, some coeds happened to notice "Yul Brynner" Goldberg and took a fancy to him.

As soon as Goldberg reached his dormitory, he had a phone call and a new girl friend.

For those men who have troubles "slaying" the coeds, Pollock Dorm 3 will be happy to make you irresistible.

Pro OK'd For SAM, Kappa Sig

The subcommittee on discipline of the Senate Committee on Student Affairs yesterday approved a recommendation to place Sigma Alpha Mu and Kappa Sigma fraternities on five weeks social probation for violating the freshman minor drinking ban.

The social probation, which goes into effect today, was recommended Tuesday by the Interfraternity Council Board of Control. The board also placed the fraternities on three weeks Board of Control probation immediately following the social probation.

Recommends Suspension

The subcommittee also approved a board recommendation that the rushing privileges of the two freshmen involved in the violation be suspended for a full year. Richard Shillinger, chairman of the board, said their case would be referred to the Association of Independent Men Judicial Board of Review.

According to Shillinger, IFC checkers found the freshmen drinking at a joint party at the Sigma Alpha Mu fraternity house.

Negligent Violation

During social probation, the fraternities hold no social functions whatsoever. The Board of Control probation involves a strict surveillance of the fraternities by members of the IFC board.

The drinking ban violation was one of negligence rather than a deliberate breaking of the code, Shillinger said, and for this reason the board did not recommend the full eight weeks social probation which was indicated as the likely penalty when the ban was approved by IFC last Sept. 18.

Chem-Phys Newsletter

The Chem-Phys Newsletter will be distributed in the chemistry and physics buildings, according to David Beebe, editor.

The main feature will be a story on the new dean of the college, Dr. Ferdinand G. Brickwedde.

Medical Bills Exceed $10,000

'S' Club, Collegian Start Fund To Aid Badly Injured Athlete

By FRAN FANUCCI
Collegian Sports Editor

The Varsity "S" Club in cooperation with the Daily Collegian and University officials has begun a fund-raising drive for Dick Kadis, Geneva College football player who was seriously injured in a game Sept. 29 against Waynesburg.

Kadis has been virtually unconscious for over four months. He lies in a Cleveland Hospital unable to recognize members of his family and only able to open his eyes a few times a day.

Since Sept. 29 his medical bills have exceeded $10,000. Geneva has no insurance covering such accidents and has been able to raise only $1000 in an attempt to defray the expenses.

The Varsity "S" Club, in order to aid the stricken Kadis family, has obtained permission from the University to take charge of the skating rink next Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, with all profits going to the Kadis Fund.

Price of admission will be 50 cents, although a donation of over 50 cents is encouraged. Students, faculty, and townspeople are invited to any of these three dates.

Mrs. Marilyn Tammen, United States and California junior pair skating champion in 1947 and now an instructor at the rink, will put on a skating exhibition each night as an added attraction.

All money collected will be sent to the Kadis family. The 21-year-old student is suffering from a cerebral hemorrhage and is listed in "poor" condition. His father, a Cleveland restaurant owner, has

Senate Unit Axes Spring Festival

By TERRY LEACH

The Senate Committee on Student Affairs has thrown a snag in the Spring Week program suggested to All-University Cabinet by refusing to give its approval to the main event of the program, the music festival.

Robert Krakoff, Spring Week chairman, told Cabinet last night in his report that the Senate group felt the festival was too much of an extravaganza and was not a true educational endeavor.

The Senate group also felt that the risk involved would be too great, he said. They were afraid the entertainers would present the show to a small audience and Cabinet would lose money, Krakoff said.

Answers Questions

Krakoff answered questions on the music festival at a meeting of the Senate Group. Krakoff said he was complimented on his defense of reasons for having a music festival. It seemed to have little effect on the decision of Senate Group, he said after the Cabinet meeting.

The festival would have been the first of its kind to be held in central Pennsylvania. The tentative program drawn up by Krakoff called for the festival to include stage, radio and TV personalities.

Spring week contest winners would have received their trophies at the festival.

Life magazine was reported to have been interested in covering the festival, Krakoff said. The festival was scheduled to be held at Beaver Field Thursday, May 2, in Spring Week. An audience of approximately 30,000 was anticipated.

Alternate Plan Sought

Krakoff said the Senate Group did not oppose some sort of alternate program for Thursday night. He suggested the following:

1. Tone down the festival somewhat and bring it indoors to Recreation Hall.
2. Drop the idea and bring in a jazz package. It would include small groups representing different types of jazz.
3. Have another Fred Waring show. Waring is reported to be interested in presenting another show at the University.
4. Present the Spring Week contestants with their trophies indoors without other entertainment.

Richard Schriger, president of Liberal Arts Student Council, suggested that Cabinet sponsor the Harlem Globetrotters.

UN Defeats Red Demand For Debate

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Feb. 14 (AP)—The UN Steering Committee beat down today a Soviet demand for immediate Assembly debate on the Eisenhower doctrine and other alleged aggressive acts by the United States.

The committee voted 8-6 against the Russian move after U.S. Chief Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. denounced the complaint as "stupidly false" and a "gigantic cock and bull story."

Lodge, however, conformed to the standing U.S. policy in favor of airing all charges against the United States. He voted with the Soviet delegation for a debate. Others voting for debate were Czechoslovakia, Egypt, India and Britain.

Countries voting against were Nationalist China, Denmark, Dominican Republic, El Salvador, France, Italy, Peru and Turkey. Pakistan abstained and the 16th committee member, Prince Wan Waihayakon of Thailand, Assembly president, did not take part in the voting.

Lodge said the United States did not object to inscription of the proposed item on the Assembly agenda "in the belief that membership in the United Nations gives every member government the right to make a fool of himself if he wants to, and that is a right of which the Soviet Union in this case has taken complete advantage."

The final decision is up to the 80-nation Assembly. Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vassily V. Kuznetsov is expected to renew his demand when the Assembly takes up the report of the steering committee.

Snow to Keep Lion in Hiding

With a forecast of more snow flurries beginning late this afternoon or this evening, it is doubtful whether the missing Nittany Lion will attempt the long trip down from the mountains within the next few days.

This presents the Lion's friends with the prospect of a weekend without a den party, which could seriously dent the morale of the Centre County small game population.

A few members of the group yesterday visited some of the better-known Bellefonte night spots, but were told that the Lion has not been seen since he tore the front door off the County Courthouse last Saturday night.

Today's snow flurries should be accompanied by a drop in temperature. The low tonight is predicted between 15 and 17 degrees. The high today should be around 30.
