

Senate Committee, Cabinet, Give OK To Service Revue

Plans for an indoor music festival, in the form of an All-Service Revue to be presented the Thursday of Spring Week, became official yesterday with approval from two sources.

The plan, which would bring nationally-known entertainers in the armed forces to the campus, was approved yesterday by the Senate Committee on Student Affairs and

Israel Denies Ike Appeal For Speedy Withdrawal

JERUSALEM, Israeeli Sector, Feb. 21 (AP)—Israel refused tonight to bow to President Dwight D. Eisenhower's appeal to withdraw immediately behind the armistice lines. But Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion insisted the door is still open for negotiations.

Addressing Parliament after a critical Cabinet meeting,

Ben-Gurion declared anew that Israel must have guarantees of freedom of navigation in the Gulf of Aqaba plus security against raids from the Gaza Strip.

"No matter what may happen, Israel will not submit to restoration of the status quo in the strip," he said. Before last October's invasion Egypt controlled the strip, formerly a part of Palestine, under the 1949 armistice terms.

Further Negotiations

Ben-Gurion said Israel is seeking further negotiations to reach an understanding with the United Nations and with the United States.

Ambassador Abba Eban, returning tomorrow to Washington, will convey the Israeli government's position. He had been summoned home to give a first-hand report to Ben-Gurion and the Cabinet, which met again tonight after the last night by All-University Cabinet.

Cabinet's approval came after Robert Krakoff, Spring Week chairman, reported the Senate group's action and revealed details of the festival plans.

Set for May 2

Krakoff told Cabinet that the show would probably be presented from 8 to 11 p.m. May 2 in Recreation Hall. The proceeds from the festival will go to national charities and to the Penn State Student Scholarship Fund.

Krakoff said he hopes to get a nationally-known master-of-ceremonies on a charity basis to lead the entertainers, who will come from various branches of the armed forces. If such a master of ceremonies is not available, he said, the Army show will provide one.

Expenses About $1500

He described the show's expenses as limited to paying for the cast's lodgings Thursday night, tickets, and whatever lighting would be necessary for the festival. He estimated that these expenses should amount to about $1500, which would not necessitate a Cabinet loan.

Some of the entertainers would possibly be housed overnight in the Nittany and Pollock dormitories. Krakoff said Daniel Land, Interfraternity Council president, had suggested the possibility of housing some of them in fraternities.

Krakoff said he hoped the proceeds would be divided among several national charities, with equal shares going to each charity and the scholarship fund.

Replaces Axed Plan

The indoor musical event replaces a proposed outdoor festival which was approved by Cabinet but axed by the Senate committee. Committee members said they believed the outdoor plan was too much of an extravaganza.

In other business, Cabinet heard a progress report from Richard Davis, chairman of the Committee on Town Affairs.

The report cited an inspection of downtown student living facilities for fire hazards which has not as yet been completed.

It also dealt with downtown traffic situations and with proposals to air condition movie theaters.

prime minister addressed Parliament.

Night Cabinet Session

President Izhak Ben-Zvi, army chief, Major General Moshe Dayan and Eban also attended the night Cabinet session called to spell out Eban's instructions. Parliament will debate Ben-Gurion's statement tomorrow.

President Eisenhower last night called on Israel to meet UN demands that Israel withdraw from Gaza and from the Sharm el Sheikh area overlooking the mouth of the Gulf of Aqaba. He in effect held over Israel the threat of U.S. backing for punitive sanctions by the United Nations.

Today in Washington, Eisenhower appealed to American Jewish leaders to use their influence with

Lion Predicts Cold Weather

The warm sunlight which shone on the campus yesterday afternoon filled the Nittany Lion with the spirit of his lost youth.

The Lion had the urge to do something vigorous, something in the beautiful outdoors. He wanted to walk outside his den, and feel the cool breeze blow through his mane, and maybe climb a mountain or take a brisk hike through the woods.

The Lion went to the back of his den and lay down until the urge went away and he was himself again. Then, he closed his eyes and peacefully dozed off.

The spring-like weather is not likely to continue, according to the weather forecast. Today should be cloudy and colder, with a chance of light snow. High is predicted at between 28 and 30.

3 Minors Receive Pro For Purchasing Beer

The dean of men's office has approved Tribunal's recommendation of office probation Tuesday night for the three freshmen apprehended by a State College patrolman Feb. 13 with six quarts of beer purchased from a downtown establishment.

The office probation will extend until June and will include letters to each of the three students' parents as well as periodic visits to the dean of men's office.

The students were apprehended at approximately 9:45 p.m., Feb. 13 when a State College patrolman observed them at the rear of Rea and Derick's drug store acting in a suspicious manner.

Caught With Bottles

Upon investigation, he discovered that each student was carrying a bag containing two quarts of beer which they admitted was purchased at the bottle room of a State College establishment.

Patrick Dowling, freshman in electrical engineering from Kingston, admitted purchasing the other two waited outside.

No Identification Required

Dowling also admitted being a minor and said that no identification was requested by the agent. He also added that he had no identification with him to claim he was 21 had it been requested.

The borough fined Dowling the minimum of $25 and $9 costs for purchasing the beer as a minor.

The patrolman asked for special consideration for Dowling because of his cooperation and courtesy throughout the investigation and hearing.

Live in Nittany Dorm

All three freshmen live in the Nittany area and were planning to take the beer back to their residence halls even though they knew drinking was not permitted in the units. The students said they had never before done any drinking in their residence halls or any State College establishments.
