

Debaters Place 2d In Weekend Meets

The men's and women's debate teams, which entered tournaments in Pittsburgh and Buffalo last weekend, returned with a second place rating and a record of three wins and three losses.

The men's team won second place in the Buffalo University tournament, losing by one match to Cornell University.

The negative team was undefeated. Members were Joshua Lederberg, senior in arts and letters from Lindenhurst, N.Y., and Edward Fegert, senior in arts and letters from Milwaukee, Wis. Fegert replaced Jay Tolson, senior in business administration from Merion, who was originally scheduled to make the trip.

Although the team placed second, the total individual ratings of the speakers was 200 points higher than that of tournament-winning Cornell.

The record of the two women's teams was evenly split. The affirmative team lost three and won one, while the negative team won all three of its matches.

Mary Ann Gemmill, team manager, was one of two women named as outstanding speaker of the day. Miss Gemmill received 19 of 21 possible points for her performance in three matches.

The negative team defeated St. Vincent's College for Men, Kent State and Duquesne University. Members were Erika Mares, freshman in arts and letters from State College, and Miss Gemmill.

The affirmative team was defeated by Carnegie Institute of Technology, University of Pittsburgh and the University of West Virginia. Members were Shelia Stahl, sophomore in education from Sharon, and Anne Smith, sophomore in education from Quakertown.

Both the men's and women's teams debated the national debate topic, Resolved: That the United States should discontinue direct economic aid to foreign nations.
