BASKETBALL—FOR THE LAST TIME:

The Lion basketball scorebook closed officially for the last time of the year Saturday night at Recreation Hall. However, before the season can be forgotten there are the usual loose odds and ends to be taken care of.

We hope to do that today and give Coach John Egli the well-deserved rest he's been looking for. It's been a long season for Egli and the team—it had its share of joys and disappointments, its big wins and big losses. But, except for a few written words, it's over.

ALL-OPPONENT TEAM:

Now that the season is over, the cagers picked their 1956-57 All-Opponent team—five starters and two subs. The selections made individually; the team that follows is therefore a consensus pick consisting of:

- Rod Hundley—forward, West Virginia
- Vinnie Cohen—forward, Syracuse
- John Richter—center, North Carolina State
- Guy Rodgers—guard, Temple
- Don Hennon—guard, Pittsburgh

Hal Danzig, Bucknell, and Alan Franks, Carnegie Tech, were the substitutes.

Voting was not restricted to a position basis—the cagers picked the five toughest men they faced during the season. That accounts for Cohen being listed as a forward.

As you might expect, Hundley and Rodgers were unanimous choices with Cohen being selected on all but one ballot—Tom Hancock named West Virginia's Lloyd Sharrar and Lafayette's Bob Mantz instead of Cohen and Richter.

The closest race was for the fifth position with Hennon and Danzig each receiving four starting votes. Hennon, however, was named as a substitute on two ballots to gain the nod.

INDIVIDUAL SCORING:

Junior Ron Rainey, the season-long leader, won the team scoring title with 376 points—23 more than last year's winner, Earl Fields. Rainey had 138 field goals and 101 fouls—33 of those coming consecutively—for a 15.0 average.

Sophomore Bob Edwards was second with 354 points on 124 field goals and 106 fouls—good for a 14.2 average. Edwards, who joined the starting unit during the Christmas Invitation Tournament at Richmond, led the team scoring in 11 games. Rainey topped the squad only six times, but was the more consistent scorer of the two.

Junior Steve Baidy scored 273 points—97 baskets and 79 fouls—to become the third Lion to average 10 or more points with—a 10.2 mark.

Note of consolation to the disheartened: All three will be back for another year of eligibility next season. They, plus sophomores Tom Hancock, Greg Schwendeman and Ted Kubista, should give the Lions one of the best teams in the East.

EGLI COMMENTS:

"I was more than satisfied with the team's performance this year," Egli said. "I really didn't think we'd do more than break even at the beginning of the year."

However, he said that after looking at the season in composite, he feels that the Lions could have won two or three more games than they did. Careless mistakes, such as loose ball-handling, were the turning points in several Lion losses—losses that could have been wins.

But, Egli realizes that mistakes are a natural part of the game. His team was comparatively green and mistakes were to be expected. The Lion mentor deserves credit for a job well-done, he brought the team a long way. He has seven veterans to turn to next year. It should be a dandy, both for the team and the likeable Egli.

CAGE SHORT:

The Lions can have the consolation of knowing they beat two teams entered in the post-season tourneys—Temple and Pitt. Temple yesterday accepted its bid to the NIT while Pitt, as was expected, went to the NCAA's.

Temple Named 10th NIT Team

NEW YORK, March 5 (AP)—Temple was named today as the tenth team in the National Invitation basketball tournament, leaving two teams to be chosen for the 12-team field.

The Owls from Philadelphia compiled an 18-7 won-lost season's record. They competed in the holiday festival tournament at Madison Square Garden earlier this season and finished fourth. This will mark Temple's second appearance in the NIT. The Owls won the first NIT in 1938 and Don Shields of Temple also was named the most valuable player of the tournament.

Last season Temple competed in the NCAA championships and finished third.

A Campus-to-Career Case History

"The future looks unlimited"

"I wanted a career that offered variety, opportunity and a chance to work with people," says Lewis William Post, C.E., Michigan State, 1950. "That's why I went to work for the telephone company."

"My initial training—two full years of it—probed every phase of company operations and acquainted me with all of the jobs in the Plant Department, where I was starting."

"Today, as Plant Engineer, I'm responsible for preventive maintenance of all field equipment, installation of new facilities for wire and cable, and I work with architects and builders on telephone needs in new buildings."

"Selling's part of my job, too. I sell ideas—like the wisdom of planning for telephone service when you're building. Recently I advised an architect and an owner on telephone wiring and outlets in a new $160,000 medical center. I enjoy getting in on the ground floor of such projects and making contributions both as a civil and a telephone engineer."

"In my area of Chicago there are 80,000 telephones, home and business. More are being added every day. There's expansion everywhere in the telephone business—all across the country. To me, the future looks unlimited."

Lew Post's career is with Illinois Bell Telephone Company. Many interesting career opportunities exist in other Bell Telephone Companies, Bell Telephone Laboratories, Western Electric and Sandia Corporation. Your placement officer can give you more information about them.
