

EIWA 'Heavies' In Open Race

(This is the last of a series previewing the Eastern Intercollegiate Wrestling Association's tournament at Recreation Hall tomorrow and Saturday).

There's a wide-open race on for supremacy in the three upperweight divisions of the EIWA tournament this year. None of the men who won an upperweight title at Lehigh in 1956 is back this year.

Gone through graduation are Pittsburgh's Sam Huff, the 167-pound winner, and Ed Dewitt, the 177-pound king, and Penn State's unlimited champ Bill Oberly.

But four men who reached last year's semi-finals plus the 1956 157-pound champion are among the entries for this year's event.

Syracuse's Bill White was runner-up to Huff last year at 167 and Neal Leshar of Rutgers was third. Ron Flemming of Franklin and Marshall finished third at 177 and Pitt's Ron Schrif held the identical spot in the heavyweight bracket. However, White will move into the 177-pound competition this year.

Pitt's Dave Johnson was the top man in the East at 157 last year but the Panther junior is entered in the 167-pound division this season.

Johnson, Leshar, Harvard's Bob Foster, Cornell's Steve Friedman, Yale's Jack Kohr, and F. & M's John Hannan should be among the favorites in the 167-pound class. Foster is unbeaten but twice tied in ten matches while Friedman has not been licked in seven meets.

Johnson lost to Michigan's Jack Marchello in the season opener but has won eight straight since then. Kohr has a 7-1-2 record and Hannan owns a 4-1-1 mark.

Colgate's Fred Schult, Brown's Lou Winner, and Springfield's Burt Burger—who last week won the 167-pound New England title—rank behind the front runners on the basis of their records. Schult is 9-3, Winner, 5-2-1, and Burger, 6-3-1.

Penn State's Bruce Gilmore, 2-7-1; Navy's Pete Friedman, 3-4; Syracuse's Bill Murphy, 1-1; Temple's Ray Norton, 0-10; Lehigh's Bill Gustafson, 4-7-1; Army's Tex Lenart, 3-5; Penn's Jay Goldenberg, 3-4; Princeton's Dave Callard, 2-6; and Columbia's Dale Baxter, 2-4, complete the field.

Flemming, Rutgers' Dick Garretson, and Navy's Doug Volgneau are unbeaten in 177-pound competition this season. Flemming has a 10-0 mark, Garretson an 8-0 record, and Volgneau a 3-0 ledger. Navy could substitute Art Wright, a senior with a 4-0 mark, in place of Volgneau.
