

IFC Presidency Sought By Hart, Moon, Ross

Twelve candidates for offices in the Interfraternity Council presented nomination speeches to council members during an IFC meeting last night.

The three candidates for the IFC presidency are James Hart, Acacia; Richard Moon, Beta Theta Pi, and Ronald Ross, Omega Psi Phi.

Greek Week Poster Contest Entries Due

Tomorrow is the deadline for submitting entries in the Greek Week poster contest to the HUB desk.

Belva Syryca and Alan Rubens, co-chairmen of the contest, said that posters should be turned in no later than 5 p.m.

Theme Announced
"Greeks Everywhere" is the theme of the contest. This year's posters are limited to two-dimensional designs, using three straight lines. One of the lines must be placed perpendicular to the other two.

Milton S. Osborne, professor of architecture, and two other judges will rate the posters. A trophy will be presented to the sorority and fraternity with the best entry.

Display in HUB
Entries will be on display in the HUB and in downtown stores from March 21 to April 5. Any groups that wish to have their posters after that date may pick them up at the HUB on April 10 and 11.

Posters will be judged on neatness, originality, relation to theme, and simplicity of design.

ICG Will Meet in Willard
The University chapter of the Intercollegiate Conference on Government will meet at 7 tonight in 104 Willard.

Lion to Vote Despite Rain

The Nittany Lion was seen standing in the rain this morning outside the HUB waiting for the polls to open for the All-University elections.

The Lion is suspected of wanting to insure his election as All-University president by slightly questionable methods. Although nothing has been proved, it has been reported that the Lion has spoken to various people, hinting at physical violence if his political plunge is not successful.

A few persons are already looking into the situation, with an eye toward censure for the Lion.

The forecast for today calls for rain, tapering off in the afternoon and followed by cloudy and cool weather. High should be between 40 and 45 degrees.

MI Council Will Elect New Officers Tonight

The Mineral Industries Student Council will elect officers at 7 tonight in 216 Hertz Union.

Six junior members of the council are eligible for the office of president. Junior and sophomore council members are eligible for the office of vice president and sophomores are eligible for the office of secretary-treasurer.

Plans Announced By Nittany Council For Spring Dance

Nittany Council has approved plans for its annual dance, the "Spring Ball," to be held Friday in the Hertz Union ballroom.

Music for the dance will be provided by the Association of Independent Men band. A jitterbug contest will be held, the winners receiving free dinners and tickets to the IFC-Panhel Ball.

There will also be two "spot dances." Five-dollar gift certificates will be awarded to the winners.

The council has elected James Macinko, freshman in electrical engineering from Allentown, council treasurer. He will replace Stanley Rudzinski, freshman in electrical engineering from Mount Pleasant, who resigned.

Androcles to Plan For Dinner-Dance

Androcles, junior men's hat society, will meet at 10 tonight at Beta Sigma Rho fraternity to discuss plans for a joint dinner-dance.

The dinner-dance, to be held Friday night at the Eutaw House and Beta Sigma Rho, will be attended by members of Androcles, Blue Key and Druids, all junior men's societies.

Androcles will also set up a tentative tapping schedule.
