Slips Available For Ag Contest

Senior men and women in the College of Agriculture may submit applications to enter the Mr. Agriculture Contest until noon March 30.

Blanks may be obtained in 211 Armsby.

The contest is held to honor the most outstanding senior in the Agriculture College. Applicants are judged on the basis of their scholarship and participation in activities.

Activities are rated from one to ten; offices held and time spent are considered in scoring each activity.

An All-University average of 4.0 rates 40 points, a 3.0 30 points, 2.0 20 points and a 1.0 10 points.

A cup will be presented to the contest winner on April 26 at the Agriculture faculty meeting in 109 Armsby.

Hungarian Fund To Receive $100

Radio station WDFM and Alpha Phi Omega, national men's service fraternity, will donate $100 to the Hungarian Student Assistance Fund.

The contribution represents the profits made by the organizations through "Stompin' at State," a jazz concert held Sunday in Schwab Auditorium.

About 180 persons attended the concert, which featured 10 student music groups.

Players Calls for Crew

The advertising crew for "Jim Dany," a play by William Saroyan, is being chosen. Students may sign up in the Greenroom in Schwab or contact Roger Serota, AD 7-4933.

The crew will meet at 7:30 tonight in the Schwab loft.

One student, who is now on office probation, received extension of his probation for another semester and also board probation. Another student, who previously received a judicial warning, was placed on board probation for an indefinite period. The other four were placed on judicial probation for an indefinite period.

Parents to Get Letter

In another case, a second semester student in chemical engineering was placed on board probation for several instances of violating quiet hour rules in Hamilton Hall. A letter will be sent to the student's parents describing the action.

The six students involved in the gambling violation are Nittany Halls residents. Five were discovered playing solitaire and flipping coins for five and 10 cent bets and a sixth student voluntarily admitted being in the party which was discovered by the counselor.

Gambling For '1st Time'

The students said it was the first time they had gambled and they were "just killing time" waiting for an order of pizza pie to arrive. They said they began playing for cokes.

The counselor told the AIM board that the situation was open and seemed incidental as the door to the student's room was standing open. He said that it appeared unplanned and not of "malicious intent."

One student is now on office probation for being involved in an incident last semester when he and another student were found possessing and using alcoholic beverages in the residence hall. A second student, also involved in the gambling case, received judicial warning for being an "observer" in the incident last semester.

NSA Confab To Be Held On Campus

The National Student Association, the controversial organization vetoed out of existence by All-University President Robert Bahrenburg, has not yet drawn its last breath.

The NSA spring regional conference is scheduled to be held April 26 to 28 on campus. Lawrence McCabe, coordinator, said the University probably will be represented at the conclave.

Membership to Expire
Technically, the University will remain on NSA's membership list until next October, when dues for the next year are payable. However, McCabe said the campus group at present has no funds to work with.

If Bahrenburg had not vetoed membership in NSA, Cabinet would probably have included an appropriation for the group in the budget for next year, to be discussed at tonight's meeting.

Need Funds
If funds were appropriated, the University could send delegates to the NSA Congress this summer.

The final outcome of NSA will depend on the new Cabinet which will be installed March 28, according to McCabe.

Robert Bahrenburg, All-University president, said NSA is "through" unless Cabinet gives the necessary two-thirds vote to override his veto.

Anthropology Professor Will Address Ag Group

Maurice A. Mook, professor of anthropology, will address the Agricultural Education Club at 7:30 tonight at Alpha Zeta fraternity.

"Faith and Farming Among Pennsylvania's Plain People" will be the subject of his speech.
