

Government Intervenes In British Dock Strike

LONDON, March 25 (AP)—Attempts to settle Britain's nationwide shipyard strike broke down tonight and the government stepped in.

It set up a court of inquiry to deal with the unions and their employers.

Iain Macleod, minister of labor, appealed to the unions to call off their 10-day old strike while the inquiry goes on.

Canadians Get Review Of Ike Talks

TUCKER'S TOWN, Bermuda, March 25 (AP)—Canada's top officials got a review today of secret agreements reached in the conference between President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent of Canada, Foreign Secretary Lester B. Pearson and Trade Minister C. D. Howe flew here for the two-day meeting with Macmillan and his chief aides. Eisenhower flew back to Washington Sunday.

British-Canadian trade problems were high on the new program of talks. Within a few hours after arrival, Macmillan had filled in St. Laurent and his aides on the secrets of the four-day British-American conference that wound up Sunday morning.

A British attitude of caution on the results of that conference was apparent, however. In the view of one inside source the British want to wait and see whether U.S. promises of cooperation are matched by performances.

Eisenhower and Macmillan announced an 11-point agreement including promises of U.S. guided missile supplies for Britain and U.S. cooperation with the military committee of the British-allied Baghdad Pact.

Informants said that behind the generalities of the statement about strengthened British-American relations were secret policy directives on key world issues in Europe, the Middle East and Asia.

6 European Nations Join Economy Path

ROME, March 25 (AP)—Six nations of tired old Europe linked themselves tonight in a giant economic union which could be the first step towards a United States of Europe.

Under the blazing arc lights of television cameras and in a fog of swirling cigarette smoke, statesmen of the six nations signed their names on the treaties for a European common market and the Euratom atomic energy pool.

The governments of Italy, France, Western Germany, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg pledged themselves to build a common trade area of 160 million consumers. The treaties so far are only a pledge.

France May Get Missiles

WASHINGTON, March 25 (AP)—President Dwight D. Eisenhower was reported to have discussed with Democratic and Republican congressional leaders today the possible assignment of U.S. guided missiles to France.

Bomb Threat Starts Search In Harrisburg

HARRISBURG, March 25 (AP)—An anonymous telephone call today touched off an intensive bomb hunt in the State Capitol by more than 100 police.

They didn't find anything but provided some excitement and possibly some uneasy moments for thousands of officials and state workers.

The tip came to the Harrisburg City Hall switchboard in a man's voice saying "There won't be any more taxes now," and adding that a bomb had been placed in the Capitol.

Within minutes 75 state police and 40 Capitol police spread out through the sprawling 450-room Capitol Building. Workers and lawmakers in committee meetings quickly stepped out to places of safety, many of them carrying an arm load of records.

There was no panic and most officials and workers were inclined to treat the call as a hoax.

Last Big Plug Removed From Suez Canal Area

CAIRO, March 25 (AP)—The last big plug was lifted from the Suez Canal today.

UN Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold watched the operation and sped up plans intended to bring big power users into accord with Egypt for the grand reopening soon.

Medium size ships can pass through the canal now. But Israel apparently will still be barred.

Dag to Leave Wednesday Hammarskjold was reported planning to leave Cairo Wednesday for New York without visiting Israel this trip.

He flew to the canal to see UN salvage crews lift the sunken tug, Edgar Bonnet. This cleared the way for ships up to 20,000 tons.

Final Conference Held Then Hammarskjold returned to Cairo and held what was probably his final conference with President Nasser in the current series.

Nasser has spelled out his conditions for future operations in talks with Hammarskjold the past week. Nasser is scheduled to make them public in a memorandum next week.

Conditions Unsatisfactory The conditions are expected to be unsatisfactory for Western maritime nations demanding some form of international control of the canal.

Egyptian informants said, however, the memorandum may contain some slight concessions to big

Western canal users. Nasser and Hammarskjold met in the president's home in a Cairo suburb as the Egyptian press and officials sought to spread the impression a general canal agreement was imminent.

UN source emphasized, however, that Hammarskjold is here only as a mediator and has no power to agree to anything.

The Middle East News Agency had announced Sunday a "reconciliation of viewpoints" between Hammarskjold and Nasser.

The deadlock between the bosses and unions shattered hopes for speedy end to the spreading industrial upheaval undermining Britain's economy.

The unions rejected a 5 per cent wage increase offered by employers in day-long talks. Union officials said the strike of 200,000 workers continued. The union had asked for a 10 per cent hike.

Leaders Have Talks After the breakup of the negotiations, union leaders and employers went to the Ministry of Labor for separate talks with Sir Wilfred Neden, chief industrial commissioner.

A ministry announcement said "no progress was found possible."

The ministry statement said the unions had agreed to report Macleod's request for a halt to the strike to their executive committee.

Delay Will Be Small Macleod said the independent court of inquiry will go to work "with a minimum of delay."

It can make recommendations for settling the dispute but its verdict is not binding.

Failure of the talks also ruled out a quick end to a new walkout by a million engineering workers in key factories producing planes, automobiles, electrical equipment and machine tools.

This stoppage began Saturday and hit Britain with full force for the first time today.

Shipbuilding Union Both strikes are masterminded by the Confederation of Shipbuilding and Engineering Unions.

Hope had been expressed that if peace was restored to the shipyards a settlement of the engineers' dispute would follow quickly.
