

Elections Begin Today For 7 Student Councils

By BOB FRANKLIN

Seven of the nine college student councils will fill their sophomore, junior and senior seats at elections today and tomorrow.

Most of the polls will open at 8 a.m. today and will remain open until 5 p.m. They will follow the same schedule tomorrow.

The only councils not holding elections during the next two days are the Agriculture and Physical Education councils.

Russell Beatty, president of the Agriculture Student Council, yesterday said most of his group's members for next year have already been chosen. The council members are named by the various agriculture curricular clubs as their representatives to the council.

Nominations for the Physical Education Student Council will be completed Monday. Nominees are named by an elections committee, but a student may nominate himself or herself through a petition bearing 15 signatures of council members.

One male and one female representative will be elected from each class in the physical education blocks on April 11 and 12.

The other council election arrangements and candidates are:

Business Administration

Chance For Airport Site Increases

Chances for a State College-Bellefonte area airport increased yesterday when the federal government withheld funds from Black Moshannon and DuBois airport projects pending completion of a survey of local sites.

Although the State College Airport Authority has not requested federal aid as yet, they have asked for a survey of the area.

It is hoped that chances for federal aid will be further increased by results of a recent survey conducted by the Authority.

The survey was conducted among eight per cent of all State College households to determine potential airport usage.

Results showed that in the households polled, persons reported having taken 44 non-business air trips. These persons said they would have taken a total of 197 additional non-business trips if an airport had existed within 10 miles.

Of 127 who had not taken air trips, 72 said they would have made a total of 244 trips if an airport had existed within 10 miles.

Sometime before the next meeting, the Authority will meet with a representative of Allegheny Airlines, probably during the week of April 8, to discuss the local problem.

The meeting was suggested in a letter from Leslie O. Barnes of Allegheny Airlines.

Senior Events Discussion Set

A possible combination of Baccalaureate and Senior Class Night will be discussed by the Senior Class Advisory Board at 7:45 tonight in 214 Hetzel Union. All seniors may attend.

Joseph Hartnett, senior class president, said that the most important and appropriate parts of both events may be combined into a senior convocation.

Hartnett said that he would like to find out if seniors and their parents are interested in some type of program Friday night, June 7, the night before commencement.

Class Night has traditionally been scheduled the night before commencement but attendance has been insignificant in relation to the size of the class, he said.

Applications Due For Encampment

Today is the last day that interview applications for Student Encampment may be turned in at the Hetzel Union desk.

The applications, which are available at the desk, must be returned by 5 p.m. today.

About 20 students will be selected to attend Encampment Sept. 4-7 at the Mont Alto Forest School through the interviews.

The interviews will begin April 7 in 218 Hetzel Union and will be conducted by the Cabinet Personnel Interviewing Committee.

AIM Board Will Elect 4 Officers

The Association of Independent Men Board of Governors will hold final nominations and elect four AIM officers at 7 tonight in 203 Hetzel Union.

The offices to be filled are president, vice president, secretary and treasurer.

Lawrence Kowalski, junior in arts and letters from Hazleton, and John Morgan, junior in business administration from Gilberton, were nominated for president at the last meeting.

Other Nominees

John Hess, freshman in electrical engineering from Lehman, and Bruce Pellnitz, junior in education from Nescopeck, were nominated for vice president.

Daniel Thalimer, sophomore in education from Pittsburgh, was nominated for treasurer, but has withdrawn for scholastic reasons.

Further nominations for all offices may be made tonight.

Board May Nominate

Nomination may be made by a member of the board or by a petition signed by 300 independent men.

Three-minute nomination speeches, two-minute seconding speeches and 10-minute acceptance speeches will be given immediately preceding the election.

William Johnson, chairman of the AIM Judicial Board of Review, will swear in the new officers following the elections.

Outbreak of Colds Seen Decreasing

The current epidemic of colds that has been plaguing the campus is apparently on the downgrade, according to Mrs. Carol H. Burt, superintendent of the University Hospital.

The colds, accompanied by a slight fever, sent an average of 40 students a day to the Hospital at the height of the epidemic. The current admission of cold victims is less than 20.

Although common colds have been abundant, Mrs. Burt said the number of more serious chest colds has so far been well below the average for the season.

Dulles Disputes Parts of Biography

WASHINGTON, April 2 (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles today pulled the rug out from under two major assertions in a new book about him.

Dulles told a news conference: 1. His withdrawal last July of a U.S. offer to help Egypt build a billion dollar dam at Aswan on the Nile River was not an attempt to force a Middle East showdown with Russia.

2. The United States has made no flat commitment, secret or otherwise, to help defend the Nationalist Chinese islands of Quemoy and Matsu off the Red-held China mainland.

Dulles spoke out in reply to questions based on a book being published tomorrow. Called "John Foster Dulles: A Biography," it is an extremely friendly account by Time magazine's diplomatic reporter, John Robinson (Jack Beal).

Beal wrote, after personal interviews with Dulles, that Dulles' withdrawal of Aswan Dam aid was "a truly major gambit in the cold war." Beal said it was aimed at exposing "Russia's foreign economic pretensions" and demonstrating to wavering neutrals that even the U.S. tolerance eventually "must give way to firmness."

Beal also said in his book that President Eisenhower sent Nationalist China's President Chiang Kai-shek a secret "personal letter . . . satisfying him that the United States would help defend Quemoy and Matsu."

Dulles said the U.S. policy

Walker Requests Budget Addition

President Eric A. Walker told the state Legislature yesterday that he would "like to settle" for $6 million more in appropriations for the University.

Dr. Walker appeared before a joint Senate-House Appropriations Committee to answer questions on the University's proposed $27.7 million appropriation for the next biennium, beginning in July.

"You're asking for six million but what would you settle for?", asked Sen. George B. Stevenson (R.-Clinton).

'Settle' for 6 Million

"I'd like to settle for six million," Walker answered.

"This amount, I feel, is what we need to meet salary requirements. The request envisions no expansion of services. It is only what we need to keep our programs going as they are now," he said.

Dr. Walker said the University has reached the point where it not only loses faculty members to industry, but to other universities as well.

"Our salaries," he told the assemblymen, "lag behind other universities of our kind by a considerable percentage and behind industry by a much greater margin. We are losing men to industry which in most instances offer 50 per cent salary boosts."

He said that "if we are going to keep faculties equal to other land-grant colleges, and I think we are committed to do that, we've got to do something about salaries."

Dr. Walker said the University's request to Gov. George M. Leader asked for $33.8 million.

Governor's Reason Asked

"What story did the governor's office give you for cutting it back?" asked Rep. Norman Wood (R.-Lancaster), chairman of the House Appropriations Committee.

"They told us the money wasn't available," Dr. Walker replied.

Dr. Walker said the additional money is also needed to permit raising of secretarial and other employees' salaries, most of which he said are below those paid state workers in the same categories.

"We're aiming to meet the wages paid by the other colleges. Of course they aren't going to stand still. But at the present time we're only talking about meeting them," he said.

Also, Dr. Walker said, an additional $1.4 million is needed for supplies and materials and $1.3 million for research programs.

Walker to Discuss Bond At Meeting of Trustees

President Eric A. Walker will attend a special meeting of the Board of Trustees in Pittsburgh today to discuss technical and legal matters related to the bond issue.

Dr. Walker will also attend four Alumni Fund meetings this week in Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Erie and Buffalo.

Dubbs Gets Editorship Of Collegian

Edward Dubbs, junior in journalism from Waynesboro, has been named editor of The Daily Collegian, effective April 29.

Dubbs, now city editor, succeeds Michael Moyle.

This year's senior board has also promoted Judith Harkison, junior in journalism from New Cumberland, to managing editor. She will replace Susan Conklin.

Robert Franklin, sophomore in journalism from Glenside, will succeed Dubbs as city editor, and Vincent Carocci, junior in journalism from Scranton, will move up from assistant sports editor to sports editor. Carocci succeeds Francis Fanucci.

Anne Friedberg, junior in journalism from Taunton, Mass., has been named copy editor, replacing Rebecca Zahn. Marian Beatty, junior in journalism from Towanda, will be the new assistant copy editor, succeeding Evelyn Onsa.

Next year's assistant sports editor is Matthew Podbesek, sophomore in journalism from Wyano, who will replace Carocci. Virginia Philips, junior in journalism from Upper Montclair, N.J., will become make-up editor, taking over some of the duties of this year's feature editor, Patricia Hunter.

George Harrison, junior in journalism from Tarentum, will replace David Bavar as photography editor.

The new senior board will take charge of the paper's operation on April 29.

'Kite Weather' Affects Lion

The Nittany Lion sprang from his den this morning, a smile on his face and a song on his lips, and happily greeted the early April day with a look to the blue sky.

From his hand hung a . . . yes, it was . . . a kite, complete with a tail of brightly colored rags.

Down the road he went with his kite, and onto the golf course.

As he sped along the fairway, he kite soaring into the air, one could not help wondering if the Lion had finally cracked up or if the predicted cool, breezy, sunny day was just having its effect on him, along with a mild 40-45 degree temperature.

Student Charged With Misconduct

A student was charged with prowling and found guilty of disorderly conduct at a hearing before Justice of the Peace Guy G. Mills Monday.

William Rutt Jr., freshman in business administration from Harrisburg, was charged with "prowler activities" in the 100 block of S. Atherton St.

He was ordered by Mills to pay a $10 fine and $11.50 in costs.

Ag Cap, Gown Orders

Today is the last day that seniors enrolled in the College of Agriculture may order caps and gowns. Orders are being taken at the Athletic Store.
