

Drilling Begins At Three Sites

Core drilling has begun at three University building sites. The drilling — on the proposed areas for the new home economics, military sciences and meat processing laboratory buildings—is "to determine the nature of the rock strata underlying the sites," according to Walter H. Wiegand, director of the Department of Physical Plant.

Ticket Sale Lags For IFC Ball

Only 11 fraternities have purchased tickets for the IFC-Panhel Ball to be held from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Friday in Recreation Hall, according to Howard F. Thompson, retiring Interfraternity Council vice president.

Sammy Kaye and his orchestra will provide music for the semi-formal dance. Tickets are on sale for $5 at the Hetzel Union desk and will also be available at the door on Friday night.

'Push' Urged

At an IFC meeting Monday night, Thompson urged council members to "push" the sale of the tickets since the advanced ticket sale had been "lagging."

On Monday night, only six fraternities had purchased tickets, but the sale picked up somewhat yesterday.

In other business, Richard Shillinger, chairman of the IFC Board of Control, reminded members of the present requirements for pledging men. Men who will be pledged this semester must have a 2.0 semester All-University average.

New Average Required

Under changes approved a few weeks ago by IFC to its rushing code, freshman men who will be pledged starting next fall will need a 2.2 average their first semester to be pledged.

Upperclassmen will have to obtain a 2.2 semester or 2.0 All-University average to be eligible for pledging.

He said that fraternities who violate this provision will be placed on social probation.

Fraternities that do not return a list of pledges and the $2 rushing fee within two weeks after men are pledged will be fined $35, according to Shillinger.

Applications for the Miss Penn State Coronation must be submitted with pictures by 5 p.m. Monday at the Hetzel Union desk, according to Suzanne Loux, Spring Week Coronation chairman.

Only fifth- or sixth-semester students are eligible. Groups working together in Spring Week will be permitted only one entrant.

The Coronation ceremonies will take place at 8 p.m. April 29 in Recreation Hall. One of the final judges will be Miss Pennsylvania, Lorna Ringler.

Preliminary judging will take place on April 11 in the Presbyterian Church. Five finalists will be chosen on the basis of poise, speech, carriage and attractiveness.

Five-minute interviews will be held with each girl by the preliminary judges, who will be townspeople.

Preceding the coronation, the five finalists and the 10 He-Man finalists will participate in a parade beginning on Shortlidge Rd., proceeding along College Ave. and up Burrows St. The parade will end at Rec Hall.

Commencement Exercises For 2000 Set June 8

President Eric A. Walker will confer degrees on more than 2000 students in the June Commencement exercises planned for 10:30 a.m. June 8 in Beaver Field.

The commencement speaker will be announced later. In case of inclement weather, the ceremonies will be divided into two sections, one at 10:30 a.m. and one at 2 p.m. and will be held in Recreation Hall.

Arrangements are being made for presentation of diplomas individually to each student by the dean of the student's college, according to Wilmer E. Kenworthy, director of student affairs.

Tickets Not Necessary

The graduating students, Kenworthy said, will be allowed an unlimited number of guests, and no tickets will be necessary if the ceremonies are held in Beaver Field. If the ceremonies are held indoors a probable limit of two tickets for each student will be made because of limited seating capacity.

Kenworthy said students would be informed on whether the exercises will be held indoors or outdoors by radio at 8 a.m. Commencement Day.

The division of colleges for the alternate ceremony will be announced later. Students receiving advanced degrees will graduate with the college in which they completed their work, Kenworthy said.

Receive Guest Tickets

Each student will receive the guest tickets when he obtains his cap and gown, except students graduating in uniforms, who will receive tickets through their Reserve Officers' Training Corps unit.

Admission to Rec Hall will be by ticket and only until 10 minutes before the time of the ceremony, when the doors will be opened for about 500 additional guests.

The arrangements planned for individual presentation of diplomas would have the diplomas being distributed following the singing of the Alma Mater at the Beaver Field ceremony.

Detailed instructions about the procession and other procedures will be issued to the students by Dr. David H. McKinley, University marshal, and will be available in the offices of the deans of the colleges three weeks before commencement.

Pollock Council Will Meet

Pollock Council will meet at 6:30 tonight in room 3, Nittany 20.

Prof Publishes Civil War Book

Dr. Warren W. Hassler Jr., instructor in history, is the author of "General George B. McClellan: Shield of the Union," which was published last week by the Louisiana State University Press.

McClellan is one of the most controversial and least understood major figures in the Civil War. The objective study by Dr. Hassler raises the Union army leader to a high position as a general.

Dr. Hassler received his MA degree from the University of Pennsylvania, and his BA and PhD degrees from Johns Hopkins University.

The new military sciences building will be constructed east of the University flower gardens on Three Mile Road.

The building will provide office and classroom facilities for the departments of military science and tactics, naval science and air science, as well as some classroom space that will be used by other departments.

To Begin in 1958

Construction is scheduled to begin on the military sciences building Jan. 1, 1958 and be completed by the fall semester of 1959.

Final plans for the building are to be finished by Aug. 1 and bids are scheduled to receive final approval by Nov. 1.

A one-story laboratory unit attached to the main building by a covered passageway will be used for the housing of special heavy ordnance equipment.

Rifle Range Planned

Also attached to the main building will be a one-floor shooting range. Rifle matches between the University team and rifle teams from other schools will be held at the range.

The new home economics building will be an extension and enlargement of Home Economics South.

It is scheduled for completion in January of 1958.

4 Farm Buildings Planned

The meats processing laboratory will be erected on the University farms as one of four proposed farm buildings. The other three will be a turkey brooder, a turkey breeding house and a swine research building.

All of the core drilling is being done under direction of the General State Authority, the state's borrow-and-build agency.

Twenty Fined Total of $72

A total of $72 in fines were levied against 20 students at a meeting of Traffic Court Monday night.

Forty-nine dollars was collected for traffic violations.

Other fines were $8 for failing to report to Campus Patrol office within the next complete school day and $15 for failure to register a motor vehicle.

Automatic fines totaling $28 were levied on 14 students who failed to appear before the court. Seven violators were dismissed, and fines totaling $62 were suspended unless another violation is incurred.

Two students, after a fourth violation, had their driving privileges on campus suspended for 60 days. Three others were ordered to take their cars home for the remainder of the semester for incurring a fifth violation.
