

Today's Forecast:
Showers and Cooler

The Daily Collegian

FOR A BETTER PENN STATE

Going
'Party-Hopping'?
See Pages 4, 5

VOL. 57, No. 121

STATE COLLEGE, PA., SATURDAY MORNING, APRIL 6, 1957

FIVE CENTS

Barnes to Fill Controller Post

Carl R. Barnes, executive accountant, has been named controller to succeed Dr. Kenneth R. Erfft, who has resigned to become controller and treasurer at Rutgers University.

The appointment became effective April 3 when it was approved by the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees at a special meeting in Pittsburgh.

In this position, Barnes will supervise the activities of the division of accounting and will be in charge of all financial and budgetary matters.

Barnes came to the University in 1938 as an auditor and in 1942

Physicist To Head Navy Lab

Dr. Benjamin L. Snavely, physicist with the U.S. Naval Ordnance Laboratory at Silver Spring, Md., has begun a two-year acting directorship with the University's Naval Ordnance Research Laboratory temporarily vacated by Dr. Gilford G. Quarles.

Dr. Quarles has been granted a two-year leave of absence. He has been serving as scientific and technical adviser to the commanding general of the Army Ballistic Missile Agency at Redstone Arsenal in Huntsville, Ala., since Nov. 1, 1956.

A native of Lancaster, Dr. Snavely received his bachelor of science degree in engineering, mathematics and physics from Lehigh University and his doctor of philosophy degree in physics from Princeton University.

He taught physics at Lehigh University from 1931 until 1941 and since 1941 has been with the Navy's Silver Spring laboratory. He has been engaged in research in underwater acoustics and the development of naval ordnance.

The Ordnance Research Laboratory was established at the University in 1945 as a department of the College of Engineering and Architecture. It has a staff of 300 persons.

It operates under contract with the Bureau of Ordnance of the Navy and is concerned primarily with research and development for torpedoes.

Lion Predicts Rain Today

The Nittany Lion staggered through the rain this morning still clad in his tux and galoshes, and with his cute Lioness import tucked under one arm.

The Lion said that the rain may dampen some students' big weekend but he was sure it wouldn't dilute his "spirits."

The Lion and his date plan to hit fraternity parties tonight.

However, the weatherman had a dimmer view on the situation, predicting rain to continue all day. A slight temperature rise is predicted. Over three inches of precipitation has fallen this week in the form of snow, sleet and rain.

Top Debate Prize Won by Klevans

Edward Klevans, senior in electrical engineering from Roaring Springs, won the men's oratory championship yesterday in the 10th annual tournament of the Debating Association of Pennsylvania Colleges.

Vicki O'Donnell, sophomore in arts and letters from Irwin, tied for second in the women's oratory, according to the Associated Press.

The team champion will be announced today at the end of the tournament.

Carl R. Barnes
New Controller

was named to the position of executive accountant.

From 1929 until 1938, he was a public accountant with Patterson, Teele and Dennis, of New York City. He became a Certified Public Accountant in the state of New York in 1936.

He is a member of the New York State Society of Certified Public Accountants, American Institute of Accountants, Delta Sigma Pi, professional business administration fraternity and of Sigma Phi Epsilon, social fraternity.

Barnes was born in Watertown, N.Y. He studied accounting at Northern New York Business College and later at New York University.

Articles Due for Lantern

All contributions for consideration for the spring issue of the Lantern should be submitted to the Hetzel Union desk by Wednesday.

Justice Unit Confirms Silva's Aid

The Justice Department has confirmed reports that Dr. Ruth C. Silva, associate professor of political science, assisted in the research for the proposed presidential disability amendment, according to Ed Koterba, nationally-syndicated Washington columnist.

The department gave no other information as to what phase Dr. Silva played in writing the amendment or whether other outsiders were called in.

Dr. Silva is recognized as an expert on the matter.

Columnist Contacted

The Daily Collegian asked Koterba to check rumors that Dr. Silva played an important part in writing the proposed Constitutional amendment.

Dr. Silva admitted being in Washington last week but refused to say whether she played a part in preparing the amendment.

Koterba earlier had contacted White House Press Secretary James Hagerty. Hagerty told Koterba that he had no record of any outsiders helping the Justice Department in the matter.

Usually Work Alone

He said it would be unusual if it were true for generally the department officials do all the work in matters such as this.

The proposed amendment says the vice president would merely act as president and would do so only for the duration of the president's disability. The president would decide whether he is disabled.

If the president fails to declare his inability and if the vice president and the majority of the Cabinet feel that the president is disabled, the vice president would then act for the president for the duration of the inability.

Jazz Concert Tickets Will Be Sold at Door

Tickets will be available at the door at 2:30 p.m. tomorrow when the Four Freshmen and Buddy Morrow and his band will perform at Recreation Hall.

The sale of tickets has been termed "good," but many remain to be sold at the door. The price is $1.50. The Jazz Club is sponsoring the concert and members of the club may purchase tickets for $1.

Mail Service Cuts Put Off for Week

WASHINGTON, April 5 (AP)—Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield today postponed drastic mail service cuts one week, but said they would start going into effect April 13 unless he gets more money.

He contends his department needs 47 million dollars to maintain full postal services through June 30.

"I am moving as though Congress is not going to act on our appropriation request," the postmaster general said. He told the newsmen he had issued instructions to have his curtailment orders sent out to the 37,000 U.S. post offices.

Summerfield's orders embraced these cutbacks:

- Effective April 13, all post offices to be closed to the public on Saturdays and Sundays—many metropolitan areas now have some Sunday window service.

- Effective April 13, all city, village and rural delivery service to be discontinued on Saturdays excepting for special delivery items. Summerfield said mail trucks will continue to pick up mail from street boxes on Saturday and Sundays but that Sunday pickup schedules will apply on both days.

- A halt to most third class mail service on April 29.

- Curtailement of most window service to a maximum of 8½ hours a day beginning April 15. Many larger post offices now have 11-hour service, and night service is available in Washington, New York and Chicago.

- Effective April 15, deliveries to business districts to be restricted to a maximum of two a day. It is now three or four times daily in some large cities.

- A halt to money order service in all but third and fourth class postoffices. It was explained these are in the smaller communities where banking service is not always available.

Philosophy Prof to Give Last 'Freedom' Speech

Aaron Druckman, associate professor of philosophy, will deliver the final lecture in the Hillel series, "The Structure of Freedom," at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Hillel auditorium.

He will speak on "Freedom Through Law," basing his lecture on Supreme Court decisions on integration in the public schools.

'Ugly Men' Plan Skits For Contest

Thirty-seven fraternities and their Ugly Men entries have begun decorating floats and planning skits for next week's four-day Ugly Man contest.

The contest will start Tuesday night with a parade extolling the ugliness of the candidates. Both coeds and fraternity men in costume will participate in the parade.

Expenses Limited to $20

The committee has ruled that expenses must be limited to $20 this year. Formerly, no such restriction was imposed.

Voting by penny vote will begin Wednesday and continue until 5:30 p.m. April 11. Students may vote for their choice by dropping pennies in milk bottles labeled with pictures of the ugly men. The voting stand this year has been moved from the Mall to the sidewalk by the Armory.

Alpha Phi Omega Allocates Funds

Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity and sponsor of the contest, has decided to allocate the proceeds to two funds. One portion will be given to the All-University Scholarship which is awarded annually to a needy student who has been a Cub or Boy Scout.

The remainder will go to the fraternities' service projects. These include the bloodmobile, scouting movement and "keep-off-the-grass" campaign.

Last year's proceeds were divided among the Beaver Dam Recreation Area, Campus Chest and the December drive for Hungarian refugees.

Political Parties To Reorganize

Both campus political parties will meet at 7 p.m. tomorrow to take steps toward reorganization after the spring elections.

Campus Party will meet in 10 Sparks to elect clique officers. The posts to be filled are party clique chairman, vice chairman, executive secretary, recording secretary and treasurer. Party membership cards must be presented for admittance to the meeting.

John Bott, incumbent clique chairman, yesterday said he did not plan to seek reelection.

The Lion Party Steering Committee will hold an open meeting in 121 Sparks to discuss the future plans and policies of the party.

Clique Chairman John Godayte said the meeting will be conducted on an informal basis similar to a meeting of the steering committee meeting held last Sunday.

Senior Unhurt in Crash

Alan Grossman, senior in arts and letters from Philadelphia, was uninjured but his car was damaged to the extent of $250 when he was sideswiped Thursday on Rt. 322 near Tussey Sink.

The other car was traveling in the opposite direction.

1500 Hear Kaye at IFC-Panhel Ball

Approximately 1500 persons danced to the music of Sammy Kaye and his orchestra last night at the IFC-Panhel Ball in Recreation Hall despite the slush, sleet and snow outside.

"The King of Swing and Sway" and his orchestra were on hand from 9 to 1 a.m. to provide music for dancing.

The traditional big weekend snows at the University paid no attention to the calendar as the skies broke loose late Wednesday afternoon.

Slush and rain yesterday afternoon promised to add to the festivities this weekend.

Last night's dance followed by houseparties in fraternities tonight bring the 1957 Greek Week to a close.

The sale of tickets for the dance lagged all week, but picked up considerably with sales at the door last night, according to a door attendant.

Although IFC voted several weeks ago to omit flowers and corsages from the dance, many floral decorations were worn by coeds who were dressed in formal or semi-formal attire.

MODERN Sir Walter Raleigh assists his date on the way to the IFC Ball.