Sr. Night Combined With Baccalaureate

The Senior Class Advisory Board Wednesday night decided unanimously to combine the Baccalaureate service and Class Night into one program on June 7.

An informal survey taken this week by advisory board members revealed that most seniors interviewed would prefer the combined program.

Committee Sets Plan to Restrict Charity Drives

A basic policy statement which would restrict solicitations for fund-raising drives has been drawn up by the Senate Committee on Student Affairs.

The rule states: "Solicitations or any fund raising endeavor for charitable purposes among students, by students or student organizations, shall be limited to causes affecting the welfare of students at the University or the welfare of students at other institutions of higher learning."

Campaigns Have Grown
The rule was written because the number of fund raising campaigns this year has grown and become a problem, Wilmer E. Kenworthy, director of student affairs, said.

"From time to time it will probably require interpretation on specific requests," he said, such as a request from the cancer or heart association — something which would indirectly affect students. "I don't think it would rule out any groups participating in Campus Chest, but would strengthen the Chest drive," he continued.

To Serve as Yardstick
Kenworthy said the new rule will serve as a yardstick to measure the cause of a fund drive and its relationship to students and the University.

A general University rule, originated by the former Council of

Under the plan the program would retain most of the Baccalaureate service and would include the valedictorial and salutational addresses, the presentation of the class gift and senior honors.

Joseph Hartnett, Senior class president, said the reasons for combining the programs are that in the past there has been poor attendance at both events and neither program has been as good as it could be.

Parents Would Attend
Under the plan, Hartnett said, parents on campus for graduation exercises the following day would probably attend the Baccalaureate-Class Night Service.

Hartnett appointed Patricia Lumbar, senior in education from Erie, Joanne Seaman, senior in education from Ebensburg, and Rebecca Zahm, senior in journalism from Johnstown to a committee to plan the program.

In other business Hartnett announced that a Dean's reception planned for seniors and their guests and to honor all academic and administrative deans will be held May 19 in the HUB ballroom.

Senior Ball Band
The board voted to hire the Lord Berges calypso band for intermission at the Senior Ball May 3 in Recreation Hall.

In order that senior who attend the ball on a split ticket will be able to hear Lord Berges, there will be two intermissions from 10:30 p.m. to 11 p.m. and from 11:45 p.m. to 12:45 p.m.

The ball will be held from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. with the music of the Tommy Tucker orchestra. Tickets are available at the HUB desk for $5.

Murray to Emcee Revue

Jan Murray, nationally-known entertainer, will emcee an All-Service Revue to be given by the Naval Pensacola Glee Club and the Second Army Division from Ft. Meade, Md., on May 2 in Recreation Hall.

The revue will replace the originally planned Spring Week outdoor music festival which was to feature star stage personalities but was blocked in February by the Senate Committee on Student Affairs.

The committee felt that having an outdoor festival would be too great a risk and too much of an extravaganza.

Murray is best known for his weekly television show, "Dollar a Second," and the Pensacola Glee Club from Pensacola, Fla., has appeared several times on the Ed Sullivan Show.

The Army Division will put on the "Showboat Jamboree," which is a rock and roll calypso variety show.

Tickets for the show will go on sale April 24 for $1. Although the tickets will be sold on an individual basis, sections will be roped off in Rec Hall so that fraternities and sororities may sit in blocks.

Proceeds from the event will go to the Penn State Scholarship Fund—which is primarily supported by Spring Week funds—and three national charities, The Red Cross, Easter Seal and March of Dimes.

Murray will spend the last third of the program presenting 27 trophies to the Spring Week contest winners.

One trophy will be awarded to the all-over winner of Spring Week, nine to the winners of Carnival and nine to the winners of the Mad Hatters Contest—three for the first place winners in each category in each event.

Two trophies will be presented to the first and second place winners of the He-Man Contest, one for the winner of the Queen-of-Hearts Tournament, one for the winner of Coronation and four for the Coronation finalists.

The 61 men in the glee club and the 17 men in the "Showboat Jamboree" will be housed in fraternities and the four army WACS will be housed in dormitories.

MacKenzie Named New Vice President

Ossian R. MacKenzie, dean of the College of Business Administration, has been named Vice President for Business Administration.

The appointment was approved at a special meeting of the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees in Pittsburgh and became effective upon approval.

Dean MacKenzie, who has been serving since last September as Special Assistant to the President for Business Affairs, fills a new position created by the Board of Trustees in January. He will also continue as dean.

MacKenzie was named to the University faculty in 1953 as the first dean of the College of Business Administration.

Born in Hampden, Maine, Dean MacKenzie attended high school in Missoula, Mont., and graduated from the University of Montana in 1928 with a B.A. degree in journalism.

Following three years of study in economics at Harvard University, Dean MacKenzie in 1931 joined the trust department of the Guaranty Trust Co., of New York.

During four of his eight years in this position, he attended

Fordham University Law School at night and in 1938 qualified for a bachelor of laws degree. He was admitted to practice before the New York State Bar the same year.

From 1939 to 1943, when Dean MacKenzie entered the Marine Corps, he was head of the state and local tax department of Allied Chemical and Dye Corporation.

In the Marine Corps, he served as adjutant of an air fighter squadron. He continues to be active as a major in the Marine Corps Reserve.

Early in 1946, Dean MacKenzie joined the tax department of West Penn Electric Co., and he was head of this department in 1947 when he resigned to join the administrative staff of Columbia University.

7 Finalists Will Vie For Ugly Man Title

By MARIAN BEATTY

Seven of the ugliest men on campus will try to outdo each other in horror-filled presentations of macabre themes in the Ugly Man contest finals tonight.

The fraternities selected by penny voting to compete are Alpha Gamma Rho, Alpha Chi Rho, Beta Sigma Rho, Zeta Beta Tau, Lambda Chi Alpha, Phi Kappa Sigma, and Phi Sigma Delta.

The skits will begin at 6 tonight in the Hetzel Union ballroom. Each one must last no more than six minutes and may include any number of fraternity men and coeds. The groups will appear in alphabetical order.

The contestants run the gamut from fairy tale characters to deformed and hanging men.

Alpha Gamma Rho's huge, white-shrouded mummy, Iknaton, will be carried in state by his fraternity brothers and members of Trion colony chanting "Iknaton for ugly man, for Iknaton is dead." The brother in mummy's clothing is Glen Elder.

Captain Hook, complete with jagged scar and black eye patch will swagger into the HUB for Alpha Chi Rho. He and his pirate crew will be chasing green-clad Peter Pans and Wendys, members of Beta Sigma Omicron sorority.

The man behind the hook is Norman Smith.

A burlap-draped hunchback of Old Main will be entered by Beta Sigma Rho and Alpha Epsilon Phi. The hunchback, who is Robert Krakoff, will be flanked by purple-smeared mad women.

Zeta Beta Tau and Phi Sigma Sigma will contrast beauty and the beast. The beast is Stanley Selbst.

Last year's winner, Lambda Chi Alpha, has borrowed from the fairy books to present Captain Pinocchio. Jack Calderone will be the long-nosed scamp from storyland, supported by Alpha Xi Delta.

Gene Foster, Phi Kappa Sigma's ugly man, will be hanged in the HUB. The fraternity and members of Chi Omega sorority will be on hand to sing dirges as "Festered Foster" is led to the gallows.

The finals will be ended by Phi Sigma Delta's mammoth black spider, Israel Schwab.
