

Boyle Picks Golf Lineup For Triangular Opener; Netters Open With Penn

Golf coach Joe Boyle has received sufficient respite during the week from the persistent "Penn State" weather to pick his starting seven for Saturday's triangular match with Penn and Villanova.

Boyle, in his first season as head mentor, completed the first team selections Wednesday, naming sophomores Bob Bainbridge and Bill Davidson to the two undecided posts.

Seniors John Branish, captain, Johnny Boyanowski and Leo Kukkola and juniors John Felus and Pat Rielly are the Lions' "big five."

Nick Molloy, a reserve golfer, got an opportunity to break into the lineup in a challenge match, but bowed to Felus Wednesday.

Branish, in two seasons of varsity competition, has lost but two matches. He dropped his first collegiate decision against Cornell, then reeled off eleven straight victories before losing against Pitt in last year's final encounter.

He fired the best Lion round of the year, a 66, in last season's Bucknell contest, which the Lions won, 8-1. Branish copped a 2 and 1 triumph in his match.

Boyanowski holds a string of high school and caddy tournament championships for Harrisburg area competition. The former Lower Paxton star began his career as a caddy on the Colonial Country Club links in 1947.

He began his collection of tourney titles by copping the Central Penn Caddy and Harrisburg Junior crowns in 1950. In 1953 he won the District 3 championship, packed away the Harrisburg District 4-Ball crown in '54, and a year later added a win in the Central Penn 4-Ball tournament.

A three year veteran of varsity play, Boyanowski won the intramural title as a freshman. He holds a 12-2 mark in dual match play.

Felus, the All-University golf champ, competed in three matches last year, winning two of them.

Like Boyanowski, he started as a caddy at the Crescen Country Club. He played on the Gallitzin High team as a senior, firing a 71 to win the District 6 championship the same year. A second-year man on the Lion varsity, his best collegiate score is a 68.

IM Keglers Compete Nationally

The cream of Penn State's bowling crop will be on display in a special intercollegiate bowling match at 6:30 tonight on the Recreation Hall lanes.

This year marks the second time that Penn State has entered the competition, which is run by the Association of College Student Unions. The competition is limited to a single four-game match with over sixty college teams competing by proxy.

A quintet of intramural and Classic League keglers survived a gruelling 24-game practice schedule to earn berths on the Lion "dream team." Independents Bob Nelson, Len Brenner, Don Costanzo, Lou Klukosky and Beta Theta Pi's Ted Lyon comprise the group.

Opposing them will be a "pacing" team, composed of Dean Frank, Pete Hatton, John Carpenter, Joe Garger and Pete Erickson. These ten bowlers were picked on the basis of experience and their averages in the practice competition.

Nelson was the hottest kegler during the 24-game tune-up, literally burning up the alleys with a 194 average. A member of the independent Dark Horses and the Alley Cats of the Classic League, he boasts a 226 game and a 608 series.

Brenner, who does his kegling for the Classic League 8-Balls, rolled up a 189 per-game mark to finish behind Nelson for the 24 tilts. His top single and three-game efforts during that span were 234 and 635.

Costanzo racked up a 242 game and 666 series, both high marks for the practice sessions.

IM BOWLING
Joe Meredith led Delta Chi to a 4-0 win over Theta Chi with a 204 single game and 505 three-game series score in a fraternity bowling league match.

In other games Phi Epsilon Pi, sparked by Olderman's 448 series, defeated Phi Mu Delta, 4-0. Alpha Sigma Phi tripped Phi Kappa, 3-1, although Phi Kappa's Bill Mello rolled 182 single game.

Fred Schuetz bowled the evenings highest three-game series, 510, but Delta Theta Sigma was defeated by Triangle, 4-0.

Posting a 3-1 victory was Sigma Chi over Kappa Sigma. Alpha Chi Sigma shutout Alpha Epsilon Pi, 4-0, behind Ken Christiansen's 464 total.

In the fraternity league A play Tuesday night Theta Delta Chi downed Sigma Alpha Mu, 3-1. Bob Noah led Delta Upsilon to a 3-1 victory over Tau Kappa Epsilon and Kappa Delta Rho tripped Tau Phi Delta, 3-1, behind Blaine Barron's 209-558 series.

Theta Chi posted a 4-0 win over Phi Sigma Delta as the winner's Bob Kohler was high with a 207-583 score. Alpha Tau Omega defeated Alpha Zeta, 3-1.
