

IFC Purchasing Board Elects Phillabaum Head

Leslie Phillabaum of Acacia was elected president of the Interfraternity Council Purchasing Association Board of Directors Thursday night.

James J. Burns, Theta Xi, was named vice president, and Mrs. Ada F. Konhauser, home economist, secretary-treasurer. The election was held at the first official meeting of the board since its members were chosen by IFC April 1.

Fraternities Will Divide FMA Funds

Fraternities which have maintained active membership in the Fraternity Marketing Association will receive the corporation's unspent funds for this year, probably amounting to about $400.

FMA will cease operation April 30, and the corporation will be dissolved. The function of buying at wholesale prices for fraternities will be assumed by the Interfraternity Council Purchasing Association, which last week was granted a charter by the Senate Committee on Student Affairs.

The service charges remaining at the time of dissolution will be divided among the fraternities on the basis of the business done with them during the year, it was decided Monday night at a meeting of the FMA Board of Trustees.

Fraternity members will be asked to sign release forms consenting to and agreeing with the final settlement and dissolution of FMA. A statement of procedure will accompany the final billing May 4. All bills must be paid by May 15.

A final audit of FMA's accounts has been planned.

The total business done by the association so far this year amounts to $119,429 compared to $114,000 done in the same period last year.

Lion Predicts Possible Snow

The Lion's campaign to take control of the University seems finally to have begun.

Various members of the University's higher echelon today reported that they had received phone calls, from unidentified persons, saying they had better join the Lion band wagon or prepare to become "rapidly unemployed."

There has still been no massing of troops, however, and University officials expressed hope that they might be able to ward off the attack.

All faculty members are asked to report to Rec Hall this morning to begin physical education sessions.

Today's forecast calls for cold and possible snow flurries. High should be in the 30's.

Alumnus Will Give Speech on Russia

William Harkins, alumnus of the University and assistant professor of Slavic languages at Columbia University, will speak on "Russia and Prague, 1956" at 7:30 p.m. Monday in 203 Willard.

He will illustrate his lecture with color slides. Harkins was graduated from the University in 1942 and has taught here during the summers. He is the son of the Rev. and Mrs. John Harkins of State College.

His talk is being sponsored by the Russian Area Study Program Committee and the Slavic Club.

WRA 'Swim' Sold Out

All tickets were sold for the final performance of the Women's Recreation Association Swimming Club's presentation of "Wide World" at 8 tonight in the White Hall pool.

Want a Crock, Tub? Try Surplus Auction

Want to buy a slightly used soda fountain? A 20-gallon crock? Or maybe you would be content with a large supply of feather pillows.

These items, along with three bathtubs, two army cots, 12 typewriters, two adding machines and eight divans, will go on the block beginning at 10 a.m. April 20 at the semi-annual public auction of University used equipment.

The auction will be held at the Salvage Warehouse next to the National Guard Armory, northeast of the main campus.

Farmers, junkmen and even a handful of students regularly show up at the auctions to pick up the assorted "bargain" items which have outlived their usefulness to the University.

Items will be sold on cash terms. Lunch will be sold at the auction.

The items going to the block include furniture, office furniture and machines, home appliances and housewares and general and farm equipment.

Other items listed include beds, chairs, mirrors, tables, bookcases, filing cabinets, toasters, mixers and coffee makers will go under the hammer wielded by Auctioneer Harold E. Leightley.

Electric bottle sterilizers, steel barrels, a 7 1/2-gallon ice cream cabinet, blackout screens and a wall washing machine will also be sold to the highest bidder.

Half of the two warehouse roomful of items will be moved outside and sold during the morning and early afternoon hours. These items will include most of the farm and general equipment, especially the larger items.

The auction will move inside and dispose of such items as furniture, office equipment and many of the smaller items during the afternoon.

Anyone in the market for a six-door, 60-cubic-foot refrigerator, a dish cart, a double potwash sink or a two-bottom, 14-inch plow?

Weston, Shultz Attend Conference of Deans

Pearl O. Weston, dean of women, and Mrs. Mae Shultz, assistant dean of women, are attending the Western Pennsylvania Dean of Women's Convention today at Grove City College.

Discussion groups, speakers and a luncheon meeting will be held at the one-day convention.

There are 2,150,000 members of the 4-H Clubs in the United States.

HomeEc Coeds to Hold Fashion Show

Students in the College of Home Economics take an active part in the skits, panels and demonstrations on the Home Economics Spring Weekend program.

At 3 p.m. today a fashion show will be held in Schwab Auditorium. Students will model clothing made in classes and children from the Home Economics Nursery School will model children's garments made by the home economics students.

Dr. June Collins, associate professor of clothing and textiles will illustrate her talk on "Dress for Dining—Past and Present" with models dressed in costumes from different periods. The students assisting her will wear styles from the time of the Romans down to the present time.

Other students will participate in demonstrations, panels and skits on "A Guide to Eating Out," "When Teenagers Entertain" and "What Happens at Your Dinner Table."

The staff of "News and Views," College of Home Economics publication, has set up an exhibit on "Early Pennsylvania Culture."

Miss Arnold to Speak
Mildred M. Arnold, regional representative of the American Institute of Baking, will speak at 10 this morning in 14 Home Economics Building. In her talk "Work Smarter, Not Harder,"

Miss Arnold will demonstrate the preparation of attractive and nutritious food by using thought and imagination instead of physical effort. The public may attend.

Another speaker will be Leland H. Bull, State Deputy Secretary of Agriculture, talking in "Pennsylvania Food Laws Protect You." He will discuss both those laws now in effect and those which will be needed in the future.

High School Students Attend
High school students from Centre, Potter and Susquehanna Counties are attending the weekend. They will give three demonstrations—"Your Food Shelf in Time of Disaster," "Don't Miss the Breakfast Train" and "Folk Favor Fancy Foods." They are part of hundreds of homemakers, home economists and alumni who are attending the Home Economics Weekend.

Four women, experienced in the various phases of school lunch, will discuss "School Lunch—Up to Date? Up to You!" They will cover the promotion of better eating habits and the better use of the foods available in each community. The object of the discussion is to point out the community responsibility involved.

Panel of Foreign Students
A panel of five foreign students will talk about "Eating, How and What in My Country." The countries covered will be Formosa, India, Sweden, Africa and Greece. An exhibit of nutrition education materials from 22 countries has been set up in the game room of the Hetzel Union Building.

The theme around which the weekend has been built is "Food—a Common Denominator of All People." Complete programs are available at the registration desk in the lobby of the Home Economics Building.

WSGA to Install Senate Officers Monday In HUB

The Women's Student Government Association will hold a convocation and an installation of the members of the WSGA Senate at 7 p.m. Monday in the Hetzel Union auditorium.

Dr. Clara Cockerille, assistant superintendent of schools of Armstrong County, will speak following the installation ceremonies. The topic of her speech will be "You Should Know Better—You've Been To College."

Jo Fulton, past judicial chairman, will install the Senate in the absence of Anne Friedberg, newly-appointed judicial chairman.

Before the installation the members of Senate will hold a dinner in honor of Dr. Cockerille in McAllister Hall.

Following Dr. Cockerille's talk WSGA will hold a reception at 8 p.m. in the main lounge of the Hetzel Union Building. Refreshments will be served.

Natural gas was first used in the United States near Fredonia, N.Y., and was then moved through hollowed-out logs instead of pipes.
