

Perry-Davis Clash to Feature Home Track Opener Tomorrow

Lion track Captain Rod Perry gets his chance to prove he is of Olympic calibre tomorrow afternoon at Beaver Field when he matches his 120-yard hurdle skill against Ohio State's Olympic ace, Glenn Davis, in the feature event of a Penn State-Ohio State dual meet.

Perry, who set a school record of :14 in running the high hurdles against Quantico in his last outing, missed the 1956 Melbourne extravaganza because of an injury in the IC-4A finals last season which kept him out of the Olympic trials.

Track observers felt that Perry would have been on the team if the accident had not occurred.

But Davis made the jaunt across the Pacific and posted a new world record in the 400-meter hurdles with a :49.5 time. He was second in the high hurdles, losing by a whisker to Winston-Salem's Lee Calhoun. Calhoun's winning time was :13.5.

Penn State's Dick Winston and OSU's Roger Houck cannot be counted out of the running Saturday just because Perry and Davis are the big names.

Houck has been right behind Davis in most of the Buckeye meets this year.

The four competitors will also tangle in the 220-yard low hurdles where Houck is considered more of a threat.

Perry will also be in the high jump and shotput events while his Ohio State counterpart will also probably enter the broad jump and mile relay. Davis could also be a quarter-mile entrant.

In a dual meet against Illinois in the indoor season this year, Davis was the winner in six events that he entered—a feat which rivals that of a no-hit baseball game.

He won the high jump, broad jump, 100-yard dash, both hurdle runs, and was a member of the winning mile relay team.

Davis has leaped 23 feet in the broad jump and will match his skill against Winston, who won the event in both the Quantico and triangular meets.

Lion coach Chick Werner expects the hurdles to be among the meet-deciding events, but he also includes the half-mile and the quarter-mile to be in this category.

Ed Moran runs the half mile for the Lions and Jack McClain is the Buckeye entrant. Both can do 1:55 and Werner thinks they can chop a couple seconds off this tomorrow.

Jim Norton of Penn State and Ted Storer of OSU can both run the 440 in :48.8 and the Nittany mentor expects a "dogfight" to ensue for first place.

The mile run, high jump, pole vault, discus, and broad jump could also be turning points, according to Werner.

Moran runs the mile around the 4:20 mark and will get stiff competition from Buckeye captain Bob Wheadick, who has also been clocked at 4:20.

Ohio State's Dick Furry and Wayne Milestone and Penn State's Bob Parker are the top high jumpers. Stan Lyons and Jim Weaver give Ohio State a good one-two pole vault entry. Penn State countering with Ogier Norris.

John Tullar, Penn State, and OSU's Gene Cotterman are the top discus men. Tullar recorded a 156' 11" throw in the triangular test while Cotterman has thrown over 150 feet.

Fred Kerr, Penn State's sophomore two-miler, is a former Pennsylvania schoolboy champion.

Lion Courtmen to Host Strong Red Raider Team

Penn State's tennis team will play one of the top net squads in the East when the Red Raiders of Colgate arrive here Saturday afternoon to battle the Lions.

Colgate annually has a better than average team and, under Coach Perry Rockafellow, have posted a record of 240 wins in 305 starts in the last 21 years.

Last year the Red Raiders won eleven and lost but one match to Kalamazoo, the national champs.

Colgate has played eight matches prior to the Nittany encounter, while the Lions will be searching for its first win of the season after losing to Penn, 8-1, in its opener.

Colgate's record stood at three wins and three losses prior to this week's activities which sent the
