

Today's Forecast:
Partly Cloudy,
High 70-75

The Daily Collegian

FOR A BETTER PENN STATE

Collegian
Policy
See Page 4

VOL. 57, No. 131

STATE COLLEGE, PA., TUESDAY MORNING, APRIL 30, 1957

FIVE CENTS

Tressler Asks IFC To Abolish Award For Top Fraternity

David Tressler, chairman of the Interfraternity Council's Outstanding Fraternity Award committee, last night recommended the Outstanding Fraternity Award be abolished.

His reasons for this were that "there is no concrete way to judge an outstanding fraternity," and there are already specific awards in areas such as scholarship and intramurals.

10 Will Vie For He-Man Contest Title

Ten men will compete in the He-Man finals at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow on Beaver Field immediately following the Mad-Hatters Contest.

They are Benjamin Amato, sponsored by Alpha Phi Delta; Jack Calderone, Lambda Chi Alpha and Alpha Xi Delta; Stanley Hopkins, Pi Kappa Alpha; Robert Kunda, Phi Kappa and Triangle; Francis Paolone, Theta Chi and Sigma Delta Tau.

Finalists Listed

Raymond Pottios, Theta Delta Chi and Woman's Building; Theodore Steinman, Zeta Beta Tau and independent women; Charles Rine, Alpha Gamma Rho and Trion; Guy Tirabassi, Phi Kappa Sigma and Chi Omega; and Lester Walters, Delta Upsilon and MacAllister Hall.

The men will compete in four events: the 100-yard dash, shot put, steeple chase and the bench press, a weight lifting contest.

Rain Date Set

In the event of rain tonight, the He-Man contest will be held in Recreation Hall and the carnival postponed until tomorrow night.

Trophies and Spring Week points will be awarded to the winners of the contest at the All-Service Revue Thursday night. First place winner will receive 10 points; second place, five points; third place three points; and fourth place, two points. The six remaining finalists will receive medals.

Each Spring Week group will receive one point for placing an entry in the contest.

Dairy Finalists To Be Chosen

Voting for five finalists for the title of Dairy Queen will begin today in 109 Dairy.

Pictures of the entrants are on display in the lobby of the Dairy Building. Anyone in the department may vote for the finalists either today or tomorrow.

The five finalists will attend the meeting of the Dairy Science Club at 7 p.m. tomorrow where they will be interviewed by the members. The queen will be chosen that night.

She will be crowned with a headpiece of flowers at 1:45 p.m. Saturday to open the afternoon events of the 32nd annual Dairy Exposition which will be held in the Livestock Pavilion. She will attend the dairy banquet at 6 p.m. Saturday where she will receive an engraved trophy.

11 O'Clock Permissions Granted for Carnival

Women students will receive special 11 o'clock permissions for Spring Week carnival tonight, according to the dean of women.

Upperclasswomen are not required to sign out, but freshmen will sign out for their permissions.

Tressler said that only 35 houses competed for the award this year and he and his committee were besieged with complaints. He recommended that there be "no more Outstanding Fraternity Awards—as such."

IFC Ball Problems

Due to the financial loss reported on this year's IFC Ball, President James Hart announced that the Council will present a recommendation to the Senate Sub-Committee on Social Affairs in an attempt to restrict some of the other activities at the University during that weekend.

It was brought out that the Council cannot run the dance and assume the financial loss it incurred this year, and that if there is no dance the weekend will be removed from the calendar.

Hart said he will make an announcement concerning progress on this at the next meeting.

Proposed Amendment

Ronald Ross, IFC Parliamentarian, read the proposed Constitutional amendment now before the Council which will require nominations for IFC offices to be opened three weeks prior to elections and to be closed one week before, with the president informing fraternities two weeks before elections of the names of candidates nominated by that date.

The amendment also requires the IFC President to have a 2.4 All-University average, because of the recent All-University Cabinet amendment which automatically requires the president to have a 2.4 average to sit on Cabinet.

In addition, the IFC amendment provides that both the IFC vice president and secretary-treasurer have at least a 2.2 All-University average.

This amendment will be voted upon at the next meeting and, if approved, will go into effect in the fall.

Rolston Crowned Miss Penn State

Sally Lou Rolston was crowned Miss Penn State last night by Lorna Ringler, Miss Pennsylvania, before approximately 2000 people in Recreation Hall.

Miss Rolston, a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma, was sponsored by Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

The four other finalists in the Miss Penn State contest were Joan Kassing, junior in arts and letters from Bridgeville sponsored by Alpha Xi Delta and Lambda Chi Alpha;

—Photo by Price

TWO QUEENS, Lorna Ringler, Miss Pennsylvania and the newly crowned Sally Lou Rolston, Miss Penn State. The queen crowning was the first event of Spring Week.

Lynn Kinnier, junior in education from Danboro sponsored by Beta Sigma Rho and Alpha Epsilon Phi; Anne Nitrauer, junior in education from Stroudsburg sponsored by Sigma Alpha Mu and Upper Class Independent Women; and Ann McKnight, junior in education from Pittsburgh, Phi Kappa Sigma and Chi Omega.

Doyle Presents Trophy

Richard Doyle, master of ceremonies, presented the Miss Penn State trophy to Miss Rolston as she was seated on the throne in the traditional blue velvet coronation robe trimmed in white fur.

Judging the finalists, besides Miss Pennsylvania, were Dr. Lyman E. Jackson, dean of the College of Agriculture; Dr. Ossian R. MacKenzie, dean of the College of Business Administration; and Dr. J. R. Rackley, dean of the College of Education.

Gifts from local merchants and national manufacturers will be presented to the 1956 Miss Penn State. These include shoes from Mademoiselle, an evening bag from the Charles Shop, cologne from Rea and Derrick, a bill fold from Penn-Whelan, a rhinestone bracelet from Ethel Meserve, a gold picture frame from the Blair Shop, a photo pak from Murs Jewelry, a Penn State bracelet from Balfour's college jewelry, a record album from the Harmony Shop.

Gifts Listed

A powder set from Griggs Pharmacy, a wallet from Princess Gardiner, a travel cosmetic kit from McLanahan's, pearls from Shomberg Jewelry, a wool sweater from the Smart Shop, a make-up kit from Max Factor, pajamas from the Smart Shop and Kalins Women's Store.

A dress from Junior Accent, a cashmere sweater from Dalton, a dress from Junior Sophisticates, and a cashmere sweater from Garland. The queen's bouquet was from Bill McMullen's and other flowers were from Woodrings.

Selective Service Deadline Named

Monday has been set as the deadline for applications for a special Selective Service College Qualification test to be held on Thursday, May 16.

This test is being held for students who were unable to take the regularly scheduled tests in November or April.

Applications are now available at the dean of men's office.

Final Examination Conflicts

Students may file final examination conflicts in the scheduling office, basement of Willard, until noon Saturday.

Disneyland to Invade Golf Course

Disneyland, portrayed in Frontierland, Fantasyland and Tomorrowland, will invade the south-east corner of the golf course at 6:30 tonight for the ninth annual version of Spring Week carnival.

Thirty-nine show booths, ticket booths and food concessions will form an open square facing North Atherton St. The main ticket booth and rides will be located at the entrance to the carnival grounds.

Tickets for all shows, concessions and rides will be sold for 10 cents apiece from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. today in the lobby of the Hetzel Union Building and at the carnival tonight.

Tickets in HUB

Tickets will be sold in the HUB for the first time this year to eliminate the long lines at the carnival ticket booths. Members of the new All-University Cabinet will be in charge of ticket sales.

Booths will be subject at all times to the approval of the Spring Week committee and the new Cabinet members. The booth at the center back of the carnival

(Continued on page eleven)

IT'S CARNIVAL TIME and Edwin McLaughlin, senior in civil engineering from Cold Spring Harbor, N.Y., and Elizabeth Floegel, freshman in arts and letters from Silver Spring, Md., work on the Sigma Chi-Alfa Omicron Pi booth at the golf course.

High Court Bans Girard Segregation

WASHINGTON, April 29 (AP)—

The Supreme Court today ruled out racial segregation in Philadelphia's Girard College, which for 109 years has admitted only "poor white male orphans" as specified in the will of its founder.

In a unanimous, unsigned decision, the court held that the board of directors of City Trust of Philadelphia, which administers the school, is an agency of the State of Pennsylvania.

Therefore, even though the board was acting as a trustee, the court said its refusal to admit two boys to the school "because they were Negroes was discrimination by the state." "Such discrimination is forbidden by the 14th Amendment," it added.

The court cited its 1954 decision holding racial segregation in public schools to be unconstitutional.

The case in which the court acted today began in February 1954, when William Ash Foust and Robert Felder applied for admission to the school. The board of directors at City Trust adopted a resolution rejecting their applications as contrary to Girard's will.

The board and all other parties involved in the litigation conceded the two boys had all qualifications for admission, save race.

The boys petitioned Orphans' Court in Philadelphia to order the board to admit them. They alleged the board's action violated the 14th Amendment, which guarantees all citizens equal protection of the law.

Orphans' Court ruled the city could exclude Negroes without violating the 14th Amendment. The Pennsylvania Supreme Court, in November, 1956, with one judge dissenting, affirmed the ruling of the Orphans' Court.

Lion Forecasts Cooler Weather

After his strange disappearance of two days, the Lion stepped forth from his den wearing, of all things, a Mickey Mouse costume. He informed amazed bystanders that he has been working night and day on his costume for Spring Week.

He got behind in production because of a slight illness resulting from the unusual weather. Being used to weather of the "Penn State" variety, he was taken aback by last week's summer-like climate.

When asked about his choice of costume, he responded, "After all, a self-respecting lion has got to be careful whom he impersonates."

Today's weather will be a bit cooler with cloudiness and an expected high of 70-75.

