

Golfers Down Syracuse For Fifth Straight Win

By LES POWELL

Balance proved the difference for Joe Boyle's Lion linksmen in a 5-2 victory over Syracuse at the Tecumseh Golf Club in Syracuse. It was their fifth win of the season without a setback.

Davidson topped the finishers for both clubs with a two under par 70. Rielly was next on the Lion ledger with a 73, while Bronish fired a 74.

For the second straight match, Branish went into extra holes before bowing. This time, Mike Dritz of the Orange emerged the victor after a gruelling 23-hole encounter.

The Syracuse golfer led Branish, 3-up after 11 holes, but the Penn State captain came back strong to even the count on the 18th. Dritz totalled 74 strokes for the regulation distance.

A 10-foot downhill putt dealt the finishing blow to Rielly in the opening match. Syracuse's Warren Simmons, who was tops among the Orange finishers with a 73 round, sank the beauty on the 18th green to gain the decision.

Boyanowski chalked up the Lions' first win of the match, shooting his way to an easy 7 and 6 margin over the Orange's Fred Peck. The Lion linksman was an even par when he retired after 12 holes.

Davidson, a sophomore who has displayed consistently good golf in his initial year of competition, got the Lions even after four matches. He notched a 5 and 4 triumph over the Syracuse club's Mel Schulman.

Bainbridge, after a close front nine, pulled away to beat Stan Oboniewski, 5 and 3. The Lion golfer held a slight one-up advantage at the midway mark. Bainbridge was also even with par when the match concluded after 15 holes.

Felus continued to play sparkling golf for Boyle's boys, defeating the Orange's John Kress, 6 and 5. The little Lion holds his team's lowest round of the season, a 67 against West Point.

Frosh Nine Downs Kiski On 2-Hitter

Behind the two-hit pitching of Bob Arner and Larry Freedman, the Penn State freshman baseball team walked off with a 6-3 victory over Kiski Prep Saturday at Saltsburg.

In leading the squad to victory, the two Penn State hurlers recorded five strike outs each and were hurt only by the nine errors committed by their teammates.

After Tony Taormino led off with a single, Larry Beighey smashed a double to the outfield scoring Taormino with the first run of the game.

Jim Molinari then blooped a single to the outfield, bringing in Beighey. Molinari crossed the plate for the third run of the inning on a three base error by Kiski's first baseman.

After two outs in the eighth inning, the yearlings again produced three runs.

Kiski's Bob Horn hit Molinari with a pitched ball. John Adams drew a walk and both runners advanced a base on Benton's ground out to short. Larry Freedman then walked, filling the bases.

Larry Fegley came through with a clutch-single, scoring Molinari and Adams.

Freedman came across with the sixth run on an error by Kiski's shortstop.

Syracuse's John Bellows, 8 and 7. He got off to a fast start, boasting a one under par total after 11 holes.

Lion Netters Lose to Colgate, 8-1; Score Lone Point in Doubles

Despite Penn State's 8-1 tennis loss to Colgate Saturday afternoon, Raider Coach Perry Rockafellow said after the match, "This is the best tennis played between the two schools in 19 years."

The Lions scored their lone point in the doubles competition when the duo of Charles Bibleheimer and Charles Questa staged an uphill battle to down Ted Kenerson and Bob Ackerman, 1-6, 6-3, 6-4.

Captain Leigh Strassner's brilliant singles play led the Red Raiders to its decisive victory. Coach Rockafellow felt his singles entrants played their best match of the year in leading the Raiders to their fifth win in eight starts.

Coach Sherm Fogg's only comment on the Lions play was, "We played stupid tennis and didn't use our heads." The Lions only extended the visitors to three full sets in but three matches.

Strassner, very fast and agile, completely baffled the Lions' number one man, Fred Trust, and won 6-3, 7-5. Strassner won easily in the first set but Trust gained the advantage in the second set, only to lose after tied 5-5 in individual games.

Colgate's duo of Kennerson and Ackerman scored an easy 6-1 victory in their first set against Bibleheimer and Questa, but the Lion doubles entry battled back to win the final two sets.

Although Bibleheimer took an early lead in both singles sets, he was defeated by Joe Abrahamson, 7-5, 6-4. Abrahamson used a strong forehand and well-placed shots to down the Lion netter.

Junior Dick Jacobs battled the Raiders' Bob Ackerman to three sets in the fifth singles match but lost, 6-4, 3-6, 6-4.

Colgate veteran Ted Kenerson lost the first set, 4-6, to the Lion's Joe Galiardi and then came on strong to score two easy 6-1 victories and win the match point.

In the longest match of the encounter, Russ Brummer posted a 9-7, 6-1 victory over the Lion's Chuck Questa in the fourth singles match.

Final singles action saw Raider Fred Hammer score a 7-5, 6-3 win over Pete DeDad to give the Colgate squad a clean sweep in singles play.

Strassner and Abrahamson teamed together for the first Colgate doubles team and posted a 6-1, 6-2 win over the Lion's Trust and Galiardi.

Sophomore Don Benner teamed with Nittany Captain Joe Eberly for the third doubles duo and lost to Colgate's Barry Pomerantz and Dick Carney, 6-3, 6-3.

In almost all of Tennessee, and in the other areas of the U. S. served by federal government power systems, a strange twist in federal law puts several million families and businesses into a special "privileged class." Your taxes help pay their electric bills!

Here's what happens: Unlike independent electric light and power companies, federal government power systems pay no federal taxes at all and pay little or no state and local taxes. This means that customers of these federal power systems don't pay the taxes on electricity that you pay. As a result, you have to be taxed more to make up the difference—and to build the federal power plants in the first place.

Shouldn't the basic unfairness of this kind of subsidy and tax exemption be given thorough study and discussion? We think so. That's why we bring you this message.
