

Lions Stage Rally To Beat Scarlet

By VINCE CAROCCI, Sports Editor

Rallying for three runs in the fifth inning, the Penn State baseball team went on to defeat a determined Rutgers club, 9-7, yesterday at New Brunswick, N.J.

The Lions go after win number 10 this afternoon at West Point, N.Y. They are unbeaten thus far.

Down, 6-4 at the end of four complete innings, the Lions scored three times in the fifth to grab the lead and hold on unceasingly the rest of the way.

Don Stickler opened the Lion fifth with a single and Wayne Breisch, pinch hitting for Jack McMullen, walked. After Guy Tirabassi's sacrifice advanced both baserunners, Dave Watkins walloped a two-run double to tie the score.

Gary Miller, who seems to make a habit of hitting in the clutch, followed with a single to left to score Watkins. Rutgers' southpaw Tom Basarab then settled down to retire the Lions without any further damage.

The Lions added single tallies in both the sixth and seventh innings to offset a Rutgers score in the sixth.

Southpaw Cal Emery was the winner—it was his fifth win of the season. Emery, although allowing seven runs, struck out 11, walked only two and gave up only seven hits.

Penn State opened the game as if it were off to another romp, scoring three times after the first two men went out.

Captain Jim Lockerman started the scoring parade with a walk. Stickler followed with a single and McMullen and Tirabassi walked to force in one run.

Watkins, who is the hottest Lion hitter of late, followed with a single to left to score Stickler and McMullen. Miller grounded out to end the inning.

Rutgers came bouncing back with three tallies, thanks to the aid of a blinding sun, to tie the score, 3-3. With Jerry Nicholas on first and two down, Lockerman lost Jack Lake's fly ball in the sun, allowing Nicholas to score with Lake going to second.

Emery hit Basarab with a pitch and Doug Roberts followed with a pop up which Hoover lost in the sun, Lake scoring on the play and Basarab stopping at second.

Jim Goin hit a clean shot to center at score Basarab with the tying run.

The upset-minded Scarlet grabbed the lead with two tallies in the third—the sun again making itself damaging to the Penn State cause.

Jimmy Hoffer reached second base when Lockerman again lost a fly in the sun and scored on Jack Whitacre's single to center. After stealing second, Whitacre scored on Nicholas' hit to left.

Both teams matched single tallies in the fourth before the Lions exploded for the tide-turning markers in the fifth.

Defensively, the Lions played what was probably their worst game of the year—they committed six errors, Bob Hoover leading the way with two. Lockerman, Stickler, Tirabassi and Emery each had one.

Offensively, it was Stickler with three hits and Watkins and Baidy with two each wielding the big bats for Coach Joe Bedenk's squad. Watkins had four RBIs.

Lions Face Cornell In Golf Test Today

Joe Boyle's Lion golfers attempt to rebound from their first defeat of the season when they face the Cornell linksmen today on the University course.

The Penn State mentor has made one change in his lineup, moving Bill Davidson to the third spot and dropping captain John Branish to fourth. Pat Rielly, Johnny Boyanowski, Bob Bainbridge, John Felus and Leo Kukkola, in that order, are the other Lion starters.

On the basis of comparison, the Penn State golfers should recover their winning touch against the Cornell club. The Big Red was toppled decisively by Maryland, whom the Lions defeated, 19-11, in a pre-Easter match play and best-ball meeting.

Commenting on his team's defeat by Navy, Boyle agreed with Middie mentor Bob Williams on the part played by putting in the outcome. "They putted us off the course on the back nine," Boyle said.

Davidson was match medalist and the lone Lion to emerge victorious in the Lion's 6-1 loss to Navy Wednesday at Annapolis, Md. It was erroneously reported in The Daily Collegian that teammate Bob Bainbridge was the winner.

Davidson, the only sophomore starter in the Lion lineup, shot a 68 to edge Middie grid captain Earle Smith, 2 and 1, and cop individual laurels for both clubs. Smith, a first-year competitor, finished with a 71.

Boyle cited Rielly and Boyanowski as prime examples of this. Both golfers dropped 1-up decisions on the 18th green.

Rielly, who has yet to win in match play away from home, suffered his third setback of the year, although he two-putted the last green to finish with 73 strokes. Navy's John Davis sank his first putt to grab the triumph.

Boyanowski, after evening his match with Middie Bill Hodge by paring the 17th hole, narrowly missed a 25-foot putt on the following green. Hodge,

Lion Stickmen Host Talent-laden Orange

Beaver Field will be laden with candidates for the 1957 Lacrosse All-American team this afternoon as the Lions host the undefeated Syracuse Orange at 3:30 p.m.

Led by Jimmy Brown, a lacrosse second team All-American last year, and goalie Oren Lyons and attackman Paul O'Donahue, both of whom received honorable mention, the Orangemen are considered one of the strongest teams in the East.

Two weeks ago the high-scoring visitors were held to their lowest offensive effort in two years in a 10-6 victory over a perennial Eastern lacrosse power, Yale. And 26-year coach Roy Simmons boasts, "I've been coaching lacrosse at Syracuse for a quarter-century, and this looks like one of my best teams. In center Jim Brown and goalie Oren Lyons, I know I have two of the best in the country."

The Lions' first-year coach, Earnie Baer, has honorable mention attackman in junior Bill Hess and goalie Jim Houck to counter the press clippings of Brown and Lyons.

Hess, who played both lacrosse and football with Brown at Long Island's Manhasset High School, outscored Brown last year as he set a Penn State scoring mark of 41 goals. After a late season start, Brown scored 30 goals for the Orange and had six of them in the 18-13 win over the 1956 Blue and White.

Maybe that's why Simmons claims his 220-pound star is "even more outstanding at lacrosse than he was at football."

If this is true and the versatile athlete makes the first-team lacrosse All-American, he will be the second athlete to be first team All-American in both lacrosse and football in as many years. Navy's great football end and lacrosse attackman Ron Beagle performed the feat in '56.

Lyons took top honors among the nation's goalies last year with 274 saves. The full-blooded Indian is rated by his coach as, "The best goalie I have ever coached."

Protecting the Penn State nets will be three-year veteran Jimmy Houck. Houck has had plenty of experience against fast-shooting, high-scoring teams like Syracuse this year and has a 40-save mark against Navy this year to prove it. That may be the top single game record across the nation this year.

His seven-game total is 151 and with six games remaining rates a good chance to surpass Lyons' 274 save record.

Baer plans on using his standard lineup of attackmen Hess, Captain Lou Girard, and Tom Seeman; interchangeable midfielders John Behne, Mike Beattie, Glen Fiscus, Fred Donahoe, Jeff Bostock, "Horse" Chestnut, and John Steinmuller; defensemen Ray Tuleya, Harry Brown and Don Sanders and goalie Houck.
