Better Local Chivalry Is Dead! Air Service Requested

The State College Airport Authority last night moved to file a request with the Pennsylvania Aeronautics Commission for better airline service to the area.

The request will go through the commission to the Civil Aeronautics Board.

M. K. Gingrich, vice chairman of the authority, said the group would ask that more airline flights be scheduled in the State College vicinity.

The authority is investigating the prospect of an airport to serve State College. The area is currently served by Black Moshannon Airport, 28 miles from State College.

An increase in local airline service would have to be handled by the Black Moshannon Airport. However, if a proposed airport closer to State College were built, it could probably take much of the airline traffic from the other airport.

The authority also decided to publish the results of a survey taken among the University administration and among townspeople concerning travel by air.

The survey investigated the amount of air travel by members of the University administration from September through December of last year, State College businessmen and townspeople were questioned concerning the amount of travel by air they did during the whole of last year.

The survey also questioned these three sources concerning anticipated yearly air travel if there were an airport located within 10 miles of State College.

Beatty to Name Ag Committees

A library improvement committee and a driveway improvement committee will be appointed by Russell Beatty, president of the Agriculture Student Council, at the council meeting at 7 to-night in 212-213 Hetzel Union.

The library improvement committee will work with Dr. David R. McClay, acting associate dean and acting director of resident instruction, on the improvement of conditions in the agriculture library.

The driveway committee will study the possibility of paving the driveway behind Armsby and Weaver.

At the last council meeting Jean Poole, secretary, suggested that a separate committee be appointed to work on each physical improvement project. She said that she believed there was too much work for one standing physical improvement committee.

AIM May Switch Indie Week to Fall

A move to change Indie Week, formerly National Independent Students Association Week, from the latter days of the spring semester to Homecoming Week-end in the fall semester, will be discussed at tonight's meeting of the Association of Independent Men Board of Governors.

The board will meet at 7 to-night in 203 Hetzel Union.

A committee headed by Lawrence Kowalski, junior in arts and letters from Hazleton, will present its report on the Indie Week change. The week is currently held late in the spring semester.

Pollock Meeting Postponed

The Pollock Council meeting scheduled for 6:30 tonight has been postponed until 6:30 next Wednesday.

HE RIDES, SHE WALKS. Spring does strange things, but does not affect Jay English enough to induce him to give up his transportation. Kathy Bell walks beside her boy friend on their way home from school. Both are ninth graders at State College Junior High School.

1956 Seating Plan To Be Used Again

The Beaver Field seating plan for the fall football season will remain essentially the same as the 1956 plan, Edward M. Czekaj, Athletic Association assistant business manager, said yesterday.

Students will be allowed to sit in any seat in any section reserved for their class and the seats will be filled on a first-come, first-serve basis.

The combination matriculation-athletic event card will be used as a ticket, with a number designated for each of the four home contests. If the card is lost, the student will have to secure another one costing $10 if he wishes to have the athletic book privileges.

27,820 Seats Available

The University body takes up approximately 13,744 of the total 27,820 permanent seats. Only one ticket will be available per student, except married students. They will be able to buy one extra ticket to entitle them a seat in the same section.

Seniors and full-time graduate students will sit in sections EK, EJ, EH and EG, which extends from the 50-yard line to the goal line in the east stands. Juniors will sit in sections NK, NL and NM, which are situated in the end zone in the east stands; sophomores will sit in sections NB, NC, ND and NE, the end zone seats in the east and west stands; and freshmen will sit in sections NF, NG, NH and NJ, centered behind the goal posts.

Blanks to Be Sent

Czekaj also announced that 60,000 application blanks for season tickets will be mailed June 1 to alumni, season ticket holders and the general public. Application blanks have already been mailed to the faculty members and university employees.

Labor Committee Investigates Corruption in Baker's Union

WASHINGTON (AP) — Organized labor's own clean-up squad today sifted corruption charges against officials of the Bakery Workers Union.

This is a matter due to get attention soon at hearings before Senate rackets investigators.

The closed session by the AFL-CIO's five-man ethical practices committee, which recessed its bakers' probe until May 25, was outwardly uneventful except for a verbal tiff later between rival attorneys.

Meantime Sen. John L. McClellan (D.-Ark.), chairman of the Senate committee investigating improper labor-management activities, announced postponement of scheduled New York City area hearings from mid-May until at least mid-June.

McClellan ordered the delay after consulting with the Justice Department. He said it was felt improper to probe the New York area situation during the trial, due to start within a few days, of Johnny Dio Dioguardi, New York racketeer.

Dio is under indictment in connection with the acid blinding a year ago of labor columnist Victor Riesel.

To Begin June 15

McClellan said he expects the New York hearings to start around June 15, with Dio due to be "an important witness."

Other sources reported that the Senate committee probably will hold open hearings on Bakery Workers Union rackets charges in the interval before the New York hearings get under way.

The Senate committee is due to question Teamster Union President Dave Beck again tomorrow on his handling of that union's funds.

Frosh Suspended For Hitting Prof

A freshman in the College of Engineering and Architecture has been suspended from the University for striking an instructor after being accused of cheating in a bluebook.

The suspension, which has been approved by the Senate subcommittee on disciplinary action, is effective at the end of the semester. The student may apply for readmittance for the spring semester next year.

The student has also been dropped from the course and will receive a failing grade. This action was taken by Norman R. Sparks, head of the Department of Mechanical Engineering.

Perkins Describes Incident
The incident, according to Harold W. Perkins, assistant dean of men, happened like this:

The student was taking a bluebook in a class taught by E. William Beans, instructor in mechanical engineering.

The students were permitted to use a chart in the back of the book during the test. The chart could be removed from the book.

The student, sitting in the first row, had an open book on the seat beside him. Beans noticed this and presumed the student was cheating.

Beans then accused the student of cheating and lifted his bluebook. The student protested that he was not cheating and used "abusive language."

Tears Bluebook

Then Beans tore up the bluebook and the student struck him.

Perkins said the subcommittee decided the case mainly on the student's action after being accused of cheating. In the majority of cheating cases, the subcommittee spends much of its time hearing evidence as to whether the student was cheating.

This case, which involved the striking of the instructor, was a little different, Perkins said.

Regular cheating cases are divided into three classifications—presumably unpremeditated, premeditated, and cooperative premeditated cheating involving collusion. The severeness of the penalty depends upon the classification.

Schoonmaker Will Head National Angel Flight

Patricia Schoonmaker, junior in arts and letters from Tyrone, has been elected first national commander of Angel Flight, which has recently become a national organization.

The University was selected to become the first national headquarters of the group.

Miss Schoonmaker is also commander of the University's Angel Flight.

Court Fines Total $5473 This Year

Students dropped a total of $5473 into the till in fines levied by Traffic Court since September, $1723 more than the $3750 the court collected last year.

The total does not include an additional $106 in fines levied Monday against 24 persons.

The money collected from fines goes to the All-University Cabinet Scholarship Fund.

Fines Breakdown

The fines levied Monday included $74 for traffic violations; $7 for failure to report to the Campus Patrol within one school day after the violation; and $25 for failure to register a vehicle or display a registration sticker.

Nine of the violators were given suspended fines totalling $44.

The court dismissed 11 cases. Ten persons failed to appear before the court and thus received automatic fines totalling $49. They will not have a right to appeal.

Cars Suspended

One student was ordered to send his automobile home for the remainder of the semester, and three others must keep their cars off campus.

Traffic Court will meet two more times this semester, on May 13 and 20, when both new and old members will sit. Owen Procter, junior in business administration from Irwin, has been named next year's chairman.

Warm Weather Scorches Lion

The Nittany Lion has gone into seclusion in his cave today after reluctantly withdrawing from the "World's Most Perfect Lion" contest.

The Lion declares the reason for his retreat from the competition was that he strained his good paw while lifting 500 lb. weights.

However woodland sources say yesterday's fair weather tempted the Lion to "test-drive" his new French sportscar to Whipple's Dam where the bright sun gave the Lion a bad case of sunburn and freckles.

It is reported that the Lion is "resting comfortably" surrounded by electric fans blowing over large buckets of ice.

Thaden Receives Fulbright Award

Dr. Edward C. Thaden, assistant professor of history, has been awarded a Fulbright grant for the 1957-58 academic year to do research in Russian cultural history at the University of Helsinki, Helsinki, Finland.

Dr. Thaden, a specialist in 19th century Russian history, hopes to visit the Soviet Union during his year abroad. He plans to leave for Finland in September, accompanied by his wife.

Dr. Thaden spent six weeks in the Soviet Union last summer.
