

Lion Stickmen Lose To Rutgers, 17-9

"This is the year that everybody we meet seems to have their best teams," said lacrosse coach Earnie Baer before leaving on a jaunt to Rutgers and Lehigh. Rutgers proved him right yesterday afternoon as they swarmed over the Lion nets and won, 17-9.

Lion attackman Bill Hess played a magnificent one-man offense as he scored six of the Lion tallies and assisted on a seventh. And all with a cast on his broken right thumb. The All-American candidate raised his season scoring total to 34 and is within 7 of his own Penn State scoring record.

On the defense, little can be said other than that goalie Jim Houck has continued his high saves-per-game average as he stopped 21 of the Scarlet shots. The All-Star nominee now has 209 for the season.

But the game was Rutgers, from beginning to end. The Ivy Leaguers, who have lost only three games by close scores to top teams in the nation, poured it on the defenseless Lions.

They built up a 10-1 lead at halftime as Hess was the only Lion to find the range. He made his first goal of the day at 5:44 of the first period.

Goal number two for the Lions also went to the south-paw attackman at 4:55 of the third period on a pass from creaseman Tom Seeman. A little later, Seeman shoved his own into the nets on a pass from Hess. Then Lou Girard scored number four, without any assistance from Hess.

The score at the end of the third quarter found Rutgers holding an eleven point lead, 15-4.

Reserve attackman Don Snyder was the third and last Lion, other than Hess to score. He made the score 15-5 at 5:25 of the final quarter.

Then Hess wound up his best quarter by hitting for four goals within the space of two-and-a-half minutes. His third goal of the day came at 11:45, his fourth at 12:10, his fifth at 13:24 and his sixth at 14:08.

While the Manhasset marauder was doing the work on the offense, Houck was having a field day with the Rutgers attack. Although stopping 21 goals in the time he played, he also had to contend with 24 other Scarlet shots that went astray.

The Rutgers scoring was evenly divided among seven players. Only one of which had more than two goals. That one was attackman Bill Daut with 4.

Then there's a game with Lehigh this afternoon to complete the trip. There are a few nice comments about the Engineer stickmen, and most of them seem to be concentrated in their early season loss to the same tough Rutgers ten. The score was 13-0.

Ticket Prices Rise For Grid Games

Steadily mounting costs will bring a boost in football ticket prices at the University next fall.

In keeping with a nationwide trend, single game tickets will be priced at $4 each. The former price was $3.50.

Season tickets covering the four home games, which sold last year for $14, will be priced at $15 this year.

The only exception will be faculty and staff season tickets, which will remain at the same price as last year.

Because of the unprecedented demand for tickets to the first home game against Army, the season ticket sale will not be extended beyond the August 1 deadline.

Penn State became a charter member of the United States Intercollegiate Lacrosse Association in 1926.

Linksmen Praised For Tourney Play

Lion golf coach Joe Boyle combined generous praise with disappointment in the aftermath of the 1957 Eastern Tournament, which came to an exciting climax for the Penn State linksmen Monday morning.

The Lion mentor was justly proud—and at the same time a bit let down—with his club's fine second place finish in the Easterns. The "best six-man team" in the tourney failed by an eyelash to capture the championship, team honors going to the host Navy club by a scant five strokes, 608-613. Only the top four scores counted.

"We had an excellent opportunity to win," Boyle said, "but we made some mistakes on the last few holes. It was a real tight golf course, and you can't afford to make mistakes. At the end of 27 holes, it was all our way."

It was a tournament of mild surprises. Defending champion Yale fell to a third place finish, totalling 620 strokes to trail the Lions by seven and Navy by 12. In addition, Bulldog star Pete Nisselson, last year's individual titlist, failed to qualify for the playoff matches. Nisselson suffered a disastrous first round, shooting an 85, and his 71 for the last 18 holes put him two over the 154 qualifying mark.

Dartmouth and Cornell tied for fourth place in the team standings with 626 strokes, and Princeton was sixth with 630.

Bill Davidson was the Lions' low qualifier with a 73-78-151 effort for the 36 holes. The only other Penn State linksmen to qualify was Pat Rielly, who fired a 74-79-153 effort. Bob Bainbridge also met the qualifying line with rounds of 79 and 75, but was defeated in a playoff resulting from a three-way tie.

Johnny Boyanowski and John Felus each shot 155's for the Lions. Boyanowski fired a first-round 78 and finished with a 77, while Felus notched a 79 and 76 for the 36-hole distance.

Penn State captain John Branterish came in with a pair of 78 rounds for a 156 total.

Alpha Chi Rho, Sigma Nu Win Soccer Titles

Sigma Nu and Alpha Chi Rho topped first place in Leagues I and J respectively by turning in victories in intramural soccer Monday night.

Alpha Gamma Rho won the first round of a three-team playoff for the League C title, defeating Sigma Phi Epsilon, 1-0.

Sigma Nu downed Theta Delta Chi, on corner kicks, 7-0.

Alpha Chi Rho shutout Zeta Beta Tau, 2-0. Hugh Cooper and Larry Metzger produced the two AChiRho tallies.

Jim Moore provided the winning goal for Alpha Gamma Rho's 1-0 victory over SPE.

Sigma Chi finished the season with a 1-1 record, defeating Sigma Alpha Mu, 2-0. Tom O'Hara and Bernard Baymiller each scored a goal for Sigma Chi.

In other games Phi Mu Delta turned back Delta Sigma Phi, six corner kicks to one and Alpha Zeta received the nod over Beaver House also on corner kicks, 4-0.

Triangle received a forfeit win over Phi Sigma Kappa.

Lion Tennis Team Hosts Bisons Today

Captain John Pulizzi and Chuck Siede will carry Bucknell University's tennis hopes in the Bison's match with the Nittany Lion netters, slated for 3:30 this afternoon on the Beaver Field courts.

Bucknell Coach Hank Peters has used both boys in the number one position in his first nine matches and each is capable of beating the other, while vying for the leadoff berth.

Siede, a junior, had captured five of eight contests prior to yesterday's match with Lehigh, the same record that Bison Pulizzi, a senior, had compiled. In doubles play Siede's record was 3-3, while Pulizzi had posted a 3-2 log.

A third member of the Bison team, senior Jim Stewart is regarded as a top-flight performer by Peters. In all, Bucknell's boast six lettermen, including John Fincke, Ben Hollander, Bob Poindexter, Siede, Pulizzi and Stewart.

In 1956 the top performers for Bucknell were Hollander and Stewart. Hollander won 11 of 15 singles matches while Stewart, a Bison grid star for three years, copped eight of 11. Two years ago Pulizzi established two Bison net records by capturing 12 matches in a row and 16 of 18 throughout the season.

Coach Peters' pupils have had four winning seasons and one break-even campaign in the last five years. In 1956 the Bisons finished with a 9-9 record and this year are engaged in a 16-game schedule.

Bucknell has only been beaten by Navy and Colgate in eight contests, while the Bisons have downed Dickinson, Albright, Lafayette, Delaware, Lycoming and Juniata. Last weekend the Bisons competed in the Middle Atlantic Conference tennis tournament held at Swarthmore College.

Last year the Nittany Lions downed the Bisons, 5-4, in route to a winning season of seven wins and five losses. This season the Lions sport one victory in seven starts, that win coming at the hands of Syracuse, 7-2, Saturday afternoon.

Prior to that the Lions lost by 8-1 scores to Penn, Colgate, Navy, Maryland, Lehigh while the Georgetown Hoyas downed the Nittany netters, 6-3.
