

'Ugly Man' Rule Bars Floats Drawn by Hand

Hand-drawn floats will be barred from next year's Ugly Man parade but motor vehicles will be permitted under a Senate Subcommittee on Student Affairs ruling made yesterday.

However, the rule provides that floats may be pulled by motor vehicles.

Each marching unit will be permitted one motor vehicle, and the vehicle must be decorated, the rule states.

The rule does not eliminate hand-carried displays.

The subcommittee felt that the hand-drawn floats are too dangerous, especially since they must be taken down Shortlidge Rd. and up Burrowes Rd., two fairly steep grades.

Wayne Lippman, the chairman of Alpha Phi Omega's Ugly Man committee requested that the Senate group approve the use of two motor vehicles for each marching unit.

Objection Raised

But the members of the subcommittee felt the parade would be too long, especially since it goes through town.

The dates for the Ugly Man events have also been changed.

The parade will be held October 22, skits will be presented October 25 and campaigning will take place October 23 and 24.

Lippman said he tried to get approval from the subcommittee on moving the Ugly Man penny voting booth from this year's location in front of the Armory to the Mall next year.

Location Change Cited

Lippman said he would like to place the Ugly Man booth where the Alpha Phi Omega information booth is usually placed during Orientation Week.

He said this year's Ugly Man booth was not in a busy enough spot and consequently the campaign "lost money."

The subcommittee, however, made no decision on this request, and Lippman feels it may be difficult to gain approval.

Science Center To Meet Today

The annual spring meeting of the Social Science Research Center will be held at 3:10 p.m. today in the Mineral Industries Auditorium.

Dr. John H. Ferguson, secretary of administration of the Commonwealth and member of Gov. George M. Leader's cabinet, will address the conference at 4:10 p.m. on "The Contributions of Social Science Research to Government."

The meeting is open to the public.

Reports will be given on research projects, spring methods seminars, the social science courses in general education and the research needs survey being conducted among the social science disciplines on campus.

Dr. Ferguson, professor of political science, is a former administrative director of the center and has been on leave from the University for two years.

Students Petition Ike On Integration Stand

Copies of a petition asking President Dwight D. Eisenhower to take a public stand favoring integration in the South are being circulated on campus and in the borough by students and religious leaders.

A committee called the "Abernathy Aftermath" is the force behind the petition. This committee was formed after the Rev. Ralph Abernathy of Montgomery, Ala. spoke in State College on the integration problem in Montgomery and the South in general.

The petition asks the President, as a professing Christian leader, to make a public statement, "to add your voice and the enormous potential for good that it carries to the cause of justice and brotherhood in our Southland."

Requests Rights Program

The paper further requests that Mr. Eisenhower "press vigorously for your civil rights program before Congress."

The Rev. Mr. Abernathy was one of the leaders in the fight for integration in Montgomery. He was a member of the committee of Negro churchmen who instituted the boycott of segregated city buses, an act supported by the Supreme Court's decision declaring the segregated buses unconstitutional.

Many Petitions Asked

According to Matthew Robinson, a member of the committee, this petition is one of many that the Rev. Mr. Abernathy has asked to have forwarded to Washington.

Petitions may be obtained at the churches in the borough and at the Helen Eakin Eisenhower Chapel. The committee has also asked for personal letters and telegrams.

Pollock Council Elects Keeler Social Chairman

Bruce Keeler, junior in the division of intermediate registration from Bethlehem, has been elected social chairman of the Pollock area by Pollock Council. The council has also selected Arthur Thompson, sophomore in physics from Collegeville, to be temporary representative-at-large to the Association of Independent Men Board of Governors.

Grad Receives Honor

Dr. Paul M. Doty, who was graduated from the University in 1941, and who is professor of chemistry at Harvard University, was among 30 new members elected to the National Academy of Sciences.

Three Assistant Deans Promoted to Associates

Three assistant deans at the University—David H. McKinley of the College of Business Administration, Dr. Clarence I. Noll of the College of Chemistry and Physics, and Richard C. Maloney of the College of the Liberal Arts—have been promoted to the rank of associate dean.

The promotions, approved by the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees, will become effective July 1.

McKinley, also a professor of finance, is a graduate of the University, where he received his master of arts degree with a major in economics. He received his bachelor of laws degree and completed work toward his doctorate at Western Reserve University.

Served in Air Force

McKinley was named assistant professor of economics at the University in 1946 after being relieved from active duty as a lieutenant colonel after four years in the Air Force. He was named assistant dean in 1953 when the College of Business Administration was organized.

Dr. Noll, a professor of chemistry, is a graduate of Lebanon Valley College with a master of science degree from Trinity College and a doctorate from the University. After serving as an undergraduate assistant in chemistry at Lebanon Valley and as a graduate assistant in chemistry at Trinity, he was named research assistant and graduate assistant at the University in 1934.

Dr. Noll became an instructor in organic research at the University. He has been assistant dean of the College of Chemistry and Physics since 1950, doing research primarily with milk by-products, military high explosives, penicillin and organic nitrogen compounds.

Graduated from Dartmouth

Maloney, who is director of international student affairs, is a graduate of Dartmouth College and received his master of science degree from Kansas State College of Agriculture and Applied Science.

He served in the U.S. Navy from 1942 to 1946, when he was named instructor in English at Kansas State. He served there as assistant dean of the School of Arts and Sciences and as registrar and assignment officer.

He came to the University in 1950 as administrative assistant in the Office of the President and has been assistant dean of the College of the Liberal Arts since 1953.

Senate Defeats--

the composition of the powerful body more representative of the total University faculty, it said.

Several members said equitable representation is not necessarily gained by elective processes in such an organization, since, they said, "democracy" needs to be re-defined to apply it to a University policy-making body.

Areas of concern of the Senate include: Academic standards, admissions, athletics, calendar, courses, research policy, military training, scholarships and student affairs.
