

UBA Sells 7500 Books; 4500 Remain

More than 7500 books moved through the Used Book Agency by 5 p.m. yesterday.

Sales at the Book Exchange are reported ahead of last year. This year the BX has the most complete stock it has ever had.

The UBA received 12,000 books this year. The books will remain on sale until 5 p.m. Saturday. Free book covers are being distributed with each sale.

Students who bought books and found that they did not need them may return them to the UBA 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. today through Friday.

Money Returned

Money and unsold books will be returned from Sept. 30 through Oct. 4 at the same hours.

Beginning in the spring semester, the UBA will enforce the Cabinet-recommended action of deducting no more than 80 per cent of the original cost of the books. In the past students have either charged the same price as a new book or added to the original cost.

Self-Service Adopted

Since last spring the BX has adopted a self-service program. Instead of having the notebooks and supplies behind the counter where someone had to hand them out they are now on open shelves with the prices marked on them.

The only drawback to this program has been that students have been pilfering the stock. Any student caught in the act will be recommended to one of the student judicial courts.

NROTC Ranks First In Training Program

Midshipmen enrolled in the University's Naval ROTC program ranked first in the amphibious phase of the annual training cruise.

Midshipmen from 26 colleges and universities participated in the training program. The amphibious phase was completed at Norfolk, Va.

"WAS THAT AHERTON 7636?" Upperclassmen appear to have given up the little black book in favor of the large loose-leaf type for joint customs yesterday. Joanne Pangonis, freshman in medical technology from Mahanoy City, was asked her telephone number more often than questions concerning the University, she said.

Language Prof Attends Portuguese Conference

Dr. Gerald M. Moser, assistant professor of Romance languages, attended the third International Conference of Portuguese-Brazilian Studies Sept. 9-15 in Lisbon, Portugal.

He compiled a report on the conference proceedings for the American Council of Learned Societies.

The photography staff of The Daily Collegian will meet at 7 tonight in 9 Carnegie.

Persons interested in joining the staff may attend the meeting. They need not be journalism majors or experienced photographers.

Froth to Sell? Who Can Tell?

Beginning at 8 a.m. today and until the last possible penny can be "taken" from the "poor souls" in and around the campus, Froth humor (?) magazine will be "pushed."

Its appearance is expected to equalize the burden of annoyance more equally among the student body. Dink-wearers will witness for the first time—unfortunately not the last, however—upperclassmen being equally put to trial.

The Smileless, as it is known among some students, continues to be huckstered at that same price, despite the past protests of some students of a 25 cent overcharge, and at the same places, the Mall, the Hetzel Union Building, the Corner and Waring Hall.

Chem-Phys Council to Meet

The Chemistry-Physics Student Council will meet at 7 tonight in 302 Whitmore.

Two $250 Grants Offered by Dairy

Two $250 scholarships to aid University graduate or undergraduate students in dairy science have been established by Suncrest Farms of Bethlehem.

Students majoring in either the dairy manufacturing or dairy plant management options of the curriculum will be eligible for the scholarships.

Scholarship, attitude and need of the student will be considered in making the awards and if the student continues to meet requirements, the awards can be renewed for more than one year.
