STATE COLLEGE, PA., SATURDAY MORNING SEPTEMBER 21, 1957

FIVE CENTS

Ike, Walker Will Open Conference

President Dwight D. Eisenhower and Eric A. Walker, president of the University, will open the President's Conference on Technical and Distribution Research for the Benefit of Small Business at noon Monday in Washington, D.C.

Walker, general chairman of the conference, also serves on an action committee with Ossian R. MacKenzie, dean of the College of Business Administration and Robert H. Ramsey, professor of engineering research.

The committee has been appointed to launch an "action program" after the Washington conference.

To Assess Aids

The conference, growing out of a recommendation by a Cabinet Committee on Small Business appointed last year by Eisenhower, will take up the task of assessing research and development aids available to small businesses through government departments state and private universities and other private agencies.

Another task will be to recommend measures for extending such aid to small firms over the whole range of management.

The action committee has recommended the conference formulate a program under which small firms can avail themselves of the latest technological and managerial knowledge in this area of rapid scientific progress.

To Introduce Goodwin

The conference will end Wednesday, with Walker giving a summary of the findings.

Walker on Saturday will introduce H. Eugene Goodwin, new director of the School of Journalism, to the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers Association at the association's annual convention Saturday at Harrisburg.

500 Army Tickets On Sale Monday

About 500 tickets for the Army football game will go on sale at 8 a.m. Monday at $4 each, with a limit of two per person.

The tickets, primarily intended for students' families are for locations in the east stands between the goal line and the 10-yard line. They will be sold on a first-come, first-serve basis.

The Recreation Hall ticket office is open from 8 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 8 a.m. to noon Saturdays.

Choice tickets are still on sale for the University of Pennsylvania game next Saturday at Philadelphia.

Party Planned For Candidates

The Daily Collegian will hold a Coke Party this afternoon for students interested in becoming editorial staff candidates.

The party will be held from 2 to 4 p.m. in the Collegian city room, 8 Carnegie.

Students need not be journalism majors nor must they have had previous newspaper experience to become candidates. Senior Board members will conduct classes in newspaper reporting and editing.

The party will offer students an opportunity to talk with staffers and to ask questions about writing for Collegian. Dress will be "casual."

The first candidate meeting will be held sometime next week. The date will be announced later.

RAINCOATS, and even boots, were the order of the day yesterday, even if the third coed smugly is not wearing her regulation-off-white-alligator-raincoat.

BusAd Career Day Changed to March

The Business Administration's annual Career Day has been postponed from November until March, because of difficulty in obtaining a major speaker.

A committee from the council will meet soon with Ossian R. MacKenzie, dean of the College of Business Administration, to work out plans for contacting possible speakers.

Coeds to Hear Antes Discuss Informal Rush

"Be natural and enjoy yourself while meeting different coeds," Grace Antes, president of Panhellenic Council, will tell women interested in rushing at 8 p.m. Monday in 121 Sparks.

Informal sorority rushing will begin before the meeting with open houses from 6:30 to 8 p.m. Monday.

Others who will speak at the mass meeting for coeds interested in sororities are Barbara Rilling, Panhel rush chairman; Pearl O. Weston, dean of women, and R. Mae Shultz, assistant dean of women.

A second round of open houses will be held from 6:30 to 8 p.m. Tuesday. Dress will be informal.

The postponement was voted Wednesday by the council. It was reported that speakers usually require about two months' advance notice.

Possible speakers mentioned are Gen. Matthew B. Ridgeway; Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Texas); George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO; Robert Kennedy, a U.S. Senate committee counsel; Sen. Margaret Chase Smith (R-Maine); Claire Booth Luce, retired ambassador to Italy; Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., chief U.S. delegate to the UN; and Charles E. Wilson, retired secretary of defense.

The purpose of "Career Day," sponsored by the council and student organizations in the College of Business Administration, is to explore the opportunities for service in the major fields of commerce, industry, labor, trade and government and to learn from leaders of industry who have achieved high levels of responsibility the qualities of character

Encampment Recommendations

Campus Chest Goes Out of Existence

By PAT EVANS
(Fifth of a series)

Campus Chest, created to save students from the unending procession of solicitors for charity, is no longer in existence.

Student Encampment approved a recommendation to allow the annual drive "to die a natural death." Here is the recommendation passed by the Student Enterprise workshop:

"Drop Campus Chest for the year and have All-University Cabinet reconsider it at the end of the year. The respective organizations shall be notified of the discontinuance of Campus Chest."

Robert Steele, All-University president, at Encampment said he had not appointed a chairman for what would have been this year's drive.

Steele said it had been the opinion of Robert Gellmar, last year's campaign chairman, that Campus Chest should be dropped, at least for the present.

Another result of the Student Enterprise Workshop sessions was the following recommendation:

"In view of the fact that this committee feels that Penn State needs a University Book Store, we recommend that Cabinet investigate this problem and go on record one way or another to the Board of Trustees of the University."

Several recommendations were made to further the Central Promotion Agency in the eyes of the student body:

• There be regularly scheduled office hours so that contacts with CPA can be made more easily for advertising.

• The people to contact can be listed on the CPA bulletin board

Meeting to Open Fall 'Politicking'

Campaign waves are beginning to form on the ocean of University politics, and students have been urged by clique chairmen of both parties to jump in for a swim.

Campus Lion parties will hold their first clique meetings of the year at 7 p.m. tomorrow. Campus will meet in 10 Sparks and Lion in 121 Sparks. Both meetings will be open to the public.

Herbert Levin, Campus party clique chairman, said the clique gathering will be for organizational purposes and for the registration of party members.

Applications for committee memberships and chairmanships will be distributed at the meeting. The forms also may be filled out at the Hetzel Union desk. The co-chairmen of the party committees will comprise the steering committee, usually about 20 members.

Elections Scheduled

Levin said students must be present at this or the next meeting—to be held Oct. 6—in order to vote for freshman and sophomore clique officers at party elections Oct. 13.

Five clique officers for each class and an All-University clique corresponding secretary will be elected at the Oct. 13 meeting.

States Views

In urging students to attend the clique meeting, Levin said:

"Student politics is probably the best way to get a start in student government at our University. It provides an opportunity for freshmen to make friends and move ahead in the realm of student government."

Here's what William O'Neill, Lion Party clique chairman, had to say:

"Many students go through school ignorant of the fact that they can play a major part in student government. I urge all students to accept a role in student government and fulfill their obligation to better the University."

Registration of party members also will be held at the Lion clique meeting. The agenda will include appointments to the steering committee and other party committees.

Frosh Advisory Board

The Freshman Class Advisory Board will not meet until new freshman officers are elected, according to George Smith, freshman class president.

Smith said no board actually exists since members are now sophomores. The class officers will choose a new board after the officer elections.

150 Tickets For Concert Still Remain

Approximately 150 tickets for the Eleanor Steber concert tomorrow night in Schwab Auditorium are available to students today from 9 a.m. to 4:45 p.m. at the Hetzel Union desk.

Dr. Albert Christ-Janer, chairman of the Artists Series committee, requests students who have tickets and cannot attend to give their tickets to students who do not have them.

To Sing Bach

For the first part of the program Miss Steber will sing "My Heart Ever Faithful," from Cantata No. 68 and "Bist Du bei Mir," by Bach, and "Hear Ye Israel," from "Elijah," by Mendelssohn.

Five songs by Schubert will comprise the second part: "An die Musik," "Morgenlied," "Im Abendroth," "Die Forelle" and "Delphine." For the third part, Miss Steber will sing Aria of Donna Anna, "Non mir dir," from "Don Giovanni," Act II by Mozart.

11 Follow Intermission

Following intermission she will sing "Villanelle" and "Le Spectre de la Rose" from "Nuits d'ete" by Berlioz, "Sing not O fair Circassian Maid" by Rachmaninoff, "L'Ombra" (The Shadow) and "Dame la Mano" by Renato Bellini.

For her last selections, Miss Steber will sing "Hello, Hello" (from "The Telephone") by Gian-Carlo Menotti, "The Bird" by John Duke, "Nancy Hanks" by Katherine K. Davis, "Careless Love" (American folk song) arranged by J. J. Niles, "When I Am Dead" by Edwin Biltcliffe and "Serenade" by Alden Carpenter.

Rain Will End By Afternoon

For a change, it isn't the weather that's spoiling the Nittany Lion's plans. This time it's a party affair.

That is, he was invited to two bang-up parties at the same time, which, indeed, is bad enough. To be at both would be very hard, since one is to be right in the middle of campus and the other way up by the Lion shrine.

To make the situation worse, he then received an invitation to a third party. He has not yet found out where it will be.

"Well," he said, "guess I'll go to the one that serves the best refreshments."

Perhaps the predicted end to the rain this afternoon and temperatures in the low 60's will help to cool the Lion's disposition. Tonight it will be still cooler, 45 to 50 degrees.

'Welcome' Winners

Winners of downtown merchants' "Welcome Days" sponsored by the State College Chamber of Commerce will be published in Tuesday's issue of The Daily Collegian.
