

Lion Predicts Cool Weather

Today's weather prediction calls for cloudy skies with cool temperatures and a probable high of 70-75 degrees.

The current cool weather seems to have invigorated the Nittany Lion. He was seen this morning rushing wildly down the Mall. Accosted by a Daily Collegian reporter, he admitted that the reason for his hurry involved the unusual weather.

He announced that he was about to undertake a celebration, and was on his way to buy refreshments for all the members of the weather station.

"After all," he stated, "yesterday was the first day of autumn, and it didn't rain all day!"

'Amahl' Singing Tryouts Will Be Held Tonight

Tryouts for singing roles and the chorus in "Amahl and the Night Visitors" will be held today, tomorrow and Thursday in 214 Carnegie.

Hours for the tryouts are 7 to 9 p.m. tonight and 2 to 4 p.m. tomorrow and Thursday.

The opera will be given by Players and the School of the Arts Dec. 5, 6 and 7 in Schwab Auditorium.

Ag Council to Discuss Plans for Howdy Night

Final plans for Howdy Night, the annual "Ag Hill" get-acquainted party, will be discussed at the Agriculture Student Council meeting 7 tonight in 214 Boucke.

Howdy Night will be at 7 p.m. tomorrow in Hort Woods.

The library improvement committee will give a report on last year's findings and on the plans for the coming year.

The council meeting will be open to the public.

human nature

being what it is, we tend to do everything the last minute. SOooo . . . to avoid being deluged on the day before the October 5th deadline, we wish to announce that tomorrow (Wednesday) will be the last day we will do sittings for Homecoming Queen contestants and,

by the bye, there are openings for only two more composites between now and Xmas.
